FOOTBALL GUIDE

FROM COACH STOOPS

Several times I have been asked what I like most about being the head football coach at Oklahoma. Obviously it's impossible to settle on just one thing, but I can tell you something that always comes quickly to mind ... the hunger this place has for championships.

Looking back over OU's history, you can see where some might be tempted to sit back and be satisfied. There have been seven national championships, 38 conference titles, 23 bowl victories and 138 All-Americans.

Despite that, never is a game or honor won here when the next thought, for our team and the fans alike, doesn't turn to winning the next one. I really like that about Oklahoma ... there is always something else out there for us to attain.

That attitude is reflected in what has happened here over the last four years. During that time, we've won more games (48) and more awards (12) than any other program in college football. We've spent 22 weeks at No. 1 and have been listed in 55 consecutive polls.

There is no better feeling for a coach than to see his players pleased with their college experience. Based on both team and individual achievement, we see a lot of that here, and it drives our program.

I can't imagine a better atmosphere for college football. Our players know they will perform on the biggest stage and compete for the greatest honors. They also know that we will do everything we can to provide the right kind of environment to enjoy this special time in their lives, while assisting them in pursuit of a degree. The outcome is a college experience that lasts a lifetime.

Another year awaits and another championship opportunity is ahead of us. At Oklahoma, we wouldn't have it any other way.

SOONER TRADITION

Great college football and the Oklahoma Sooners. For as long as anyone can remember the two have been one and the same.

The list of accomplishments defies logic ... seven national championships, an NCAA record 47-game winning streak, 38 conference titles, 37 bowl appearances and 138 All-Americans. All of it points to an incredible past, but consider that one of those national crowns, two of the conference championships, five of the bowl games and 16 of the All-Americans have come in five short years under the current coaching regime.

The last few years have been more of the same at a place where legendary figures, great teams and unforgettable moments are much more the rule than the exception.

At some schools, tradition represents ancient history. At others, it harkens back only a few years. At Oklahoma it is timeless. The Sooners were winners yesterday, are winners today and, from every indication, will be winners in the future.

THE BEST PROGRAM IN THE COUNTRY

"What's a program? It's got to be something that's endured ... it also has to be about the here and now. We threw in things like national titles, Heisman trophies, bowl performances, stadium ambience, popularity of apparel, number of alumni in the NFL and even graduation rates. With that in mind, we're naming Oklahoma the No. 1 program in the country."

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Nothing defines the competitve success of a college athletics program like a national championship. There is no higher pinnacle and no greater stage on which teams and individuals are called upon to prove their excellence. Oklahoma's ability to flourish in that setting has elevated the Sooner program to the lofty position it enjoys today.

With its most recent triumph coming in 2000, OU is one of only two schools to capture seven national football titles. That staggering fact is more than capable of standing on its own. But Oklahoma has taken its national dominance to a higher level by winning those championships over four different decades. Since 1950, the Sooners have been a regular player in the race for national supremacy.

Few football programs can set out each fall with the pursuit of the national crown realistically listed among its season goals. Oklahoma, riding a history that makes such a pursuit more than talk and more than dreams, is one of those programs.

When it comes to national championships, the Sooners have "been there, done that" ... seven times.

STOOPS LEADS OU TO SEVENTH

In a season so richly laced with great moments, the one for the ages came in the national title game, a 13-2 victory over Florida State in the Orange Bowl. It has been called by some the greatest defensive effort ever in a championship game. The national title season came just two years into Bob Stoops' tenure and just two years removed from a sub-.500 season. Along the way, the Sooners had thrilling wins over Nebraska, Texas, Texas A&M and Kansas State (twice), with only one of those contests played in Norman. Headliners included QB Josh Heupel, who finished second in the Heisman voting, and big-play linebacker Torrance Marshall. The mark at the end of the season was an unblemished 13-0.

Oklahoma has claimed seven national championships -- more than any other Big 12 program. The Sooners under Bob Stoops earned the conference's most recent title in 2000 with an Orange Bowl victory over Florida State to cap an undefeated, 13-0 season. OU's other championships came under Barry Switzer in 1985, 1975 and 1974, and under Bud Wilkinson in 1956, 1955 and 1950 (see graph at right).

Nebraska is second with five championships, the most recent coming in 1997. Texas has three with the last title earned in 1970. Colorado (1990) and Texas A&M (1939) each have claimed one national championship.

THE AP AND COACHES' POLLS ▶

Between the Associated Press and coaches' polls, the most recognized and the longest standing, Oklahoma has achieved 13 national championships since 1936 (finished No. 1 in both polls in some years). No other school in America has combined for as many national crowns under that same formula (see graph at right).

The Sooners have been AP's national champion seven times and have prevailed in the coaches' poll another six. Oklahoma's most recent national championship, won in the 2000 season, came under the BCS format. Prior to the introduction of the BCS, the polls were the mode used to select college football's best team.

SOONERS WRAP UP CROWN

A physical defense featuring three All-Americans and a lightning-quick, option-oriented offense led by true freshman QB Jamelle Holieway propelled Oklahoma to the national crown. OU took a No. 3 national ranking into the Orange Bowl, but toppled No. 1 Penn State, 25-10. That, coupled with Miami's loss in the Sugar Bowl, vaulted the Sooners to their sixth national championship. Big plays and Tim Lashar's kicking were the undoing of the Nittany Lions. Holieway, who led OU to eight straight wins after taking over as the starter, hit All-American tight end Keith Jackson on a 71-yard pass play and Lydell Car ran 61 yards for another TD. Lashar added four field goals.

SWITZER GETS BACK-TO-BACK

1975: After sailing through its first eight games, Oklahoma suffered a surprising home loss to Kansas in week No. 9. With only two regular season games and a bowl trip left, any hopes for the top prize looked slim. Then OU eked out a 28-27 thriller at Missouri before coming home to dispatch Nebraska, 35-10. With the Big Eight title in tow, the No. 3-rated Sooners, in their first bowl game under Barry Switzer, headed to the Orange Bowl to meet Michigan. OU prevailed in that 14-6 slugfest and got an assist when both No. 1 Ohio State and No. 2 Texas A&M suffered defeats in their bowl games.

1974: This Oklahoma team, the first of three national championship squads for Barry Switzer, controlled the college football world like few others. Only one opponent played the Sooners within 14 points and four failed to score a touchdown. At the same time, OU was averaging a robust 43 points per game. No fewer than seven All-Americans patrolled the field for Oklahoma, including Joe Washington, the runner-up in the Heisman Trophy balloting. The only undefeated team in the country that season, Oklahoma finished at 11-0.

NCAA RECORD 47-GAME WIN STREAK

1956: In 1956, teams were prohibited from making bowl appearances in consecutive years, but it made no difference to Oklahoma. This group of Sooners finished 10-0 and led the nation in total offense while logging six shutouts, including a 40-0 blanking of Paul Hornung and Notre Dame.
Balance was perhaps the key quality for OU. Two Sooners won player of the year honors. Jerry Tubbs captured the Walter Camp Trophy, while Tommy McDonald won The Sporting News' top honor.

1955: It wasn't until the eighth week of the season that the 1955 Oklahoma team took over the No. 1 spot in the rankings. By then, the Sooners were 26 games into a winning streak that would eventually reach an NCAA record of 47. OU polished off an 11-0 record that included an astonishing four straight shutouts to end the regular season. In the Orange Bowl game, No. 3 Maryland did manage six points and a halftime lead, but Oklahoma eventually prevailed, 20-6.

BUD WILKINSON WINS FIRST

Oklahoma's initial national championship, the first of three under legendary head coach Bud Wilkinson, set the football program on a course that regularly meets with high-level success. Consensus All-Americans Leon Heath and Jim Weatherall paved the way and got assistance from a first-year player, Billy Vessels, who scored 15 touchdowns that season. Two seasons later, Vessels captured OU's first Heisman Trophy. Wilkinson's first title team featured homegrown talent (he limited his recruiting to a tight radius near the campus), yet achieved on a level that was recognized from coast to coast.

The arithmetic is simple. Oklahoma has played football for 109 years. During that time, OU players have earned All-America honors 138 times. If it's a college football season, the likelihood is that more than one Sooner ranks among the best players in the land. One of college football's greatest programs has been built on some of college football's finest players.

That was true in 1913 when Oklahoma produced its first All-American and it is true today when additions to the list are coming at an amazing rate. In the last four years alone, OU has featured 16 All-Americans at eight different positions with four on defense, three on offense and two on special teams.

Four players who were named to All-America squads last season -- Jammal Brown, Mark Clayton, Antonio Perkins and Jason White -- return in 2004. They will try to join an elite group of 27 Sooners who have been so honored twice.

AWARD WINNERS UNDER STOOPS

In 2003, Oklahoma players garnered seven post-season awards, a standard never before achieved in college football. Prior to last season, the most awards ever won in a single season by one school was five.

Jason White won the Heisman Trophy and the Davey O'Brien Award. Derrick Strait captured the Bronko Nagurski and Jim Thorpe Awards, while Teddy Lehman was the recipient of the Chuck Bednarik and Dick Butkus Awards. Tommie Harris, also a finalist for the Nagurski, was presented with the Lombardi Award. The scary thing is that the number could have been higher. Mark Clayton was a finalist for the Biletnikoff Award, Dan Cody was a finalist for the Hendricks Award and Trey DiCarlo was a finalist for the Groza Award.

The 2002 season produced more finalists. Lehman was among the final three for the Butkus, while Harris was a finalist for the Lombardi and Bednarik Awards.

In 2001, Roy Williams won both the Nagurski and Thorpe Awards while Rocky Calmus won the Butkus. Also that year, Trent Smith was one of three finalists for the John Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end and Jeff Ferguson was a finalist for the Ray Guy Award as the best punter.

In 2000, Josh Heupel won the Walter Camp Player of the Year trophy. J.T. Thatcher was named the Mosi Tatupu Award winner as the country's best special teams player.

Not presented on the awards circuit, but impressive in their own right are other player of the year honors. Both White (2003) and Heupel (2000) were the Associated Press' Player of the Year. White won the same award from The Sporting News.

Four Heisman Trophy winners and four runners-up tell just part of the story when it comes to Oklahoma's widespread success on the college football awards circuit.

OU players have captured 30 national player of the year awards and have also produced the winners of the Chuck Bednarik Award (best defensive player), the Dick Butkus Award (top linebacker), the Lombardi Award (top interior player), the Bronko Nagurski Award (best defensive player), the Davey O'Brien Award (top quarterback), the Outland Trophy (top lineman), the Mosi Tatupu Award (best special teams player) and the Jim Thorpe Award (top defensive back).

Under Bob Stoops, OU players have become fixtures at the Home Depot College Football Awards Show televised by ESPN each December from Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla. In the last four years alone, Oklahoma has won a whopping 13 post-season awards, including a record seven in 2003.

THE MOST THORPE AWARD WINNERS

Derrick Strait was named the 2003 recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award, presented annually to the nation's best defensive back by the Jim Thorpe Association of Oklahoma City. With Strait's honor, Oklahoma became the first program to have three Thorpe Award winners. Roy Williams took home the hardware in 2001 and Rickey Dixon shared the honor with Miami's Bennie Blades in 1987.

CONFERENCE TITLES

Oklahoma won its first conference championship in 1915 and has since tacked on another 37. In other words, the Sooners average a conference title nearly every two seasons. That's precisely the pace Bob Stoops' teams have been on in recent years with Big 12 Conference crowns in 2000 and 2002.

That feat merits considerable respect. Under the Big 12 format, teams must first win a divisional crown over five opponents before advancing to meet the other divisional winner at a neutral site. Since Stoops' arrival, no team has won more Big 12 titles than Oklahoma.

Over the years, OU has played in six different conferences, although the place of residence has had little bearing on the Sooners' success ... they've won at least one title in every league in which they have competed.

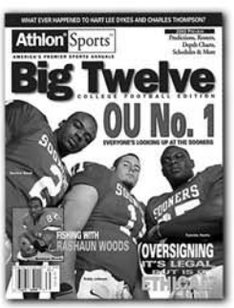
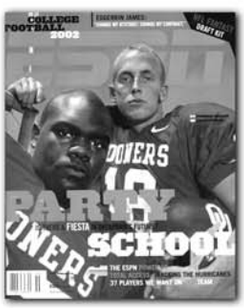
NATIONAL PROMINENCE

From the weekly media luncheon at the Switzer Center to game day, media are watching, then telling the OU story. The result is expansive coverage of the team and players. That coverage manifests itself in newspapers across the country, on the covers of the nation's most popular sports magazines, on the front page of the most popular sports websites and on the major television networks.





NATIONAL ATTENTION

Statistics often define a football performance. At Oklahoma, the numbers perhaps best define the overwhelming media attention afforded the Sooner program:

* Some 37 Oklahoma games have been televised over the last three seasons.

* ESPN GameDay has been in attendance at 13 OU events in the last four years.

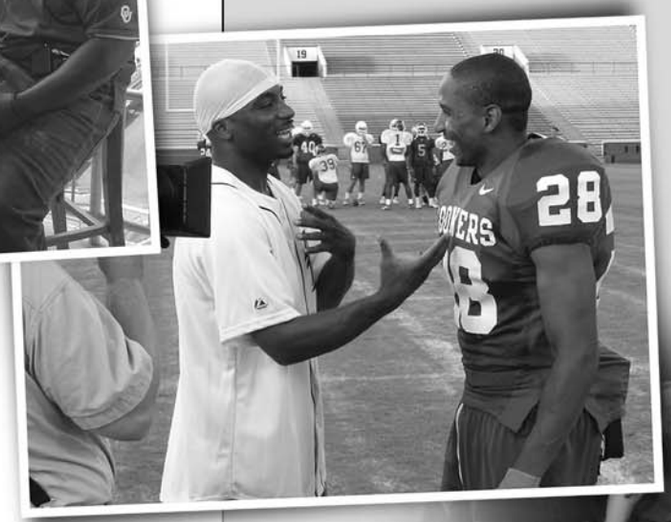
* Sooner players have appeared on the cover of Sports Illustrated seven times in the last four seasons.

* Also over the last three seasons, OU has graced the covers of The Sporting News, ESPN The Magazine and numerous preseason publications.

* Last season, Bob Stoops appeared on ESPN SportsCenter's Hot Seat and Jason White made guest appearances on Fox TV's Best Damn Sports Show Period and ESPN's Cold Pizza.

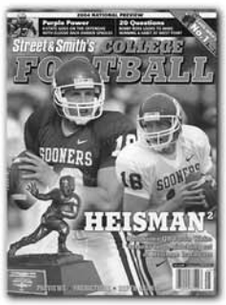
Not only do the Sooners receive extensive coverage from local and regional outlets, but it also is common for writers and broadcasters from across the nation to cover OU contests.

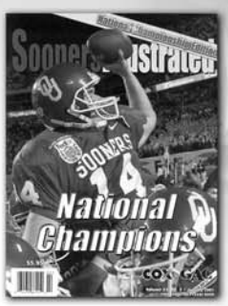
Oklahoma is at the very center of college football and the entire world is watching. From family members to friends back home to NFL scouts, the Sooners are well known.

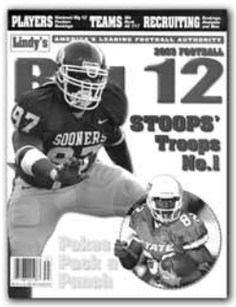


THE SPOTLIGHT

OU players are always in the national spotlight. Kirk Herbstreit meets with Tommie Harris (above) while Rocket Ishmail works on a feature with Antonio Perkins (right).







SOONERS IN THE NFL

The best players in college football regularly move on to the National Football League. That would explain why so many Sooners are now in the professional ranks. Such has been the case for many years, but especially in recent times with Oklahoma continuing its dominance on the national level.

Over the last three years, a total of 19 OU products have been drafted by or signed free agent contracts with teams in the NFL. In each year, an Oklahoma player has been selected in the first round. In 2003, three players were drafted and two more signed on as free agents.

In the history of the OU program, 306 players have been drafted by the NFL including four No. 1 picks.

Despite its relative youth when compared with other coaching staffs, the Sooner coaches have done remarkably well at preparing players for the next level. This group of coaches can boast more than 40 NFL players. Two of the current coaches played in the NFL and another coached there, which might also explain the strong preparation for pro football.

MORE THAN ONE MILLION IN THE STANDS

For the first time in the program's history, more than one million fans watched the Oklahoma football team play in person last season. Total attendance for the 14 games of the 2003 season was 1,051,631 which included seven home contests at the recently expanded Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium.

Oklahoma shattered the previous best for average attendance at home for a season in 2003. Although official capacity is listed at 81,207, OU averaged 83,202 fans which was 7,818 more per game than the previous best of 75,384 during the 2001 season.

The past five seasons all rank at the top of the list for average home attendance for good reason. During that span, the Sooners have been virtually unbeatable in Norman, going a remarkable 30-1 (.968) under head coach Bob Stoops.

The largest crowd ever to watch a game in the history of the state of Oklahoma jammed Memorial Stadium on November 1, 2003. The Sooners romped past rival Oklahoma State, 52-9, in front of 84,027.

The Sooners also set attendance records at two other sites: 54,215 at Folsom Field in Boulder against Colorado and 79,451 at the 2004 Nokia Sugar Bowl against LSU. The crowd was the largest for a sporting event in the history of the Lousiana Superdome.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium is one of America's most recognized college football cathedrals. Situated on the east side of the Norman campus, this historical facility is the largest sports arena in the state and, following its recent expansion, now ranks among the largest on-campus facilities in the nation.

Memorial Stadium's rich heritage has not hindered its evolution, a never-ending growth fueled by the football program's overwhelming popularity. Almost since its inception, the stadium has been a work in progress.

That fact holds true today. Using bond money and generous contributions, the stadium has recently undergone a number of changes. The most major of those was a $65 million venture that added 8,000 seats, including 27 suites, on the east side. The expansion was completed in the summer of 2003.

The present seating capacity is officially 81,207 although that number was exceeded in each home game last season -- OU averaged 83,202. The largest crowd ever to watch a game in the history of the state of Oklahoma jammed Memorial Stadium on November 1, 2003. The Sooners romped past rival Oklahoma State, 52-9, in front of 84,027.

In the two years prior to the stadium upgrade and expansion, renovations were completed in the coaches' offices, locker rooms, sports medicine and weight training facilities.

An additional 27 suites in the new east upper deck will open for the 2004 season bringing the total number of suites to 63 (54 east, nine west). Renovations to the Santee Lounge, restroom and concessions facilities and a new brick facade on the west side will further enhance Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium's reputation as one of the finest venues in all of college football.

GAMEDAY IN NORMAN

To understand what a Saturday is like in Norman, one must first understand what this sport means to Oklahomans. The Sooners were playing football before this grand land moved from territorial status to statehood. Few if any college football programs are more a part of their surroundings than OU.

Sooner fans build an entire week around a home game. Their ranks swell around the chartered buses that deliver OU's team to Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium prior to kickoff. They strain from the railings trying for just a touch of the team as it walks up the narrow tunnel that leads to the playing surface. And when Oklahoma does take the field, more than 80,000 erupt in a thunderous ovation that sends chills down even the most veteran observers.

Gameday at Oklahoma is about witnessing one of the most historic and vibrant programs in college football. It is about pride for a great university. Indeed, it is about pride for an entire state. Gameday here represents football and a whole lot more.

FOOTBALL FACILITIES

No football program has done more over the last three years to enhance its facilities than Oklahoma. The $70 million stadium expansion and enhancement is perhaps the most noticeable upgrade, but it is simply the lead project in a plan that has impacted every facet of Sooner football.

The team moved into its new locker room prior to the 2001 season. The spacious facility easily houses the entire team and also includes a large lounge area where players can relax watching television, playing video games, listening to music or playing pool. It is common to see members of the team at the locker room at all parts of the day. It truly is a home away from home.

Other portions of the Switzer Center have realized improvements, too, including the athletic training area. It features its own hydro-therapy area and x-ray room plus private examination areas, a large rehab space and, of course, the normal taping and treatment stations.

EVEREST TRAINING FACILITY

EVEREST TRAINING FACILITY ▲

On those rare days when the weather forces Oklahoma to practice indoors, or when the team simply desires to work out after sundown, the Sooners can move to the 74,000-square-foot Everest Training Facility. It includes a full playing field, simulated stadium lighting, a full scoreboard with play clocks, LED 40-yard timing devices and a ceiling that hangs 65 feet above the playing surface to allow for all kicking and throwing drills. Opened during the 2002 season, it is considered one of the premier indoor facilities in the entire country.

Student-athletes who choose to play at OU train, receive instruction, interact with teammates and compete in some of the newest and most modern facilities in the United States.

BOWL GAMES

Thirty-seven bowl appearances and 23 bowl victories have firmly entrenched Oklahoma among the most tradition-rich schools in America. The Sooners have become synonymous with post-season play.

At a school where the bowl history is laced with games of historical significance, the last few years have represented another fabulous roll for the Schooner. Twice in the last four seasons the Sooners have played for the national championship, three times they have been in BCS bowls and in all four seasons they played in January bowl games, something that hasn't happened at OU since the 1980s.

When Oklahoma won the 2003 Rose Bowl, it became one of only four schools to capture all four BCS games plus the Cotton Bowl. It was fitting that Bob Stoops led that trip to Pasadena. All five of his teams have been to bowls. None of his OU predecessors took even their first three teams to bowls.

Oklahoma enjoys favored status among the bowl community, partly for its tradition, but also for its fan following. Some 30,000 ventured to the Rose and Sugar Bowls over the last two years. Regardless of the location, Sooner fans flock to follow a bowl tradition that is as fresh as it is historic.

OU-TEXAS WEEKEND

The Oklahoma-Texas game, played each season at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, a location approximately halfway between the two campuses, is one of the country's most spectacular sporting events.

The contest is staged during the State Fair of Texas and is witnessed by a crowd perfectly defined by its color -- half crimson, half burnt orange -- in an atmosphere that is arguably more unique than that found at any other game.

Oklahoma has won the last four meetings between the two, all by double digits. The combined score of those games was 177-54. All four added interesting chapters to the legendary series.

In 2000, Oklahoma logged the highest series scoring total since 1900 with a 63-14 victory. That stood only until 2003 when a 65-13 Sooner win proved to be the most lopsided and highest scoring in series' history.

In 2001, Roy Williams' diving hit on Texas quarterback Chris Simms resulted in an interception and touchdown for Teddy Lehman, to sew up victory for the Sooners.

In 2002, a near disaster turned into a moment frozen in Sooner lore when Quentin Griffin scooped up a teammate's fumble and stepped two yards into the end zone to capture a lead OU would never surrender.

That's the way it is at OU-Texas. The games mark time and give players and fans experiences for a lifetime.

EXPLOSIVE OFFENSE

From 1971 through 2001, the Oklahoma single-season scoring record stood at 534 points. It looked to be the unbreakable mark. Then along came the 2002 team and with the final touchdown in the Rose Bowl, the long-standing record finally fell ... by seven points.

OU had a new record, perhaps another to last for decades. Or maybe not. The new number barely made it 11 months. The 2003 Sooners obliterated the mark with 601 points. Long noted for its ability to light up a scoreboard, Oklahoma's football program has never had an era of scoring quite like this.

More than productive, the offense has proved itself versatile. In 2002, it produced 1,800-yard rusher Quentin Griffin. One year later, it yielded Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback Jason White and one of three finalists for the nation's top receiver honor, the Biletnikoff Award, in Mark Clayton.

By land or by air, the Sooners have been potent.

▶ Oklahoma ranked No. 3 in the nation in scoring offense, No. 4 in passing efficiency, No. 12 in passing offense and No. 19 in total offense.

▶ For the first time in school history, Oklahoma scored 50 or more points in four consecutive games.

▶ Oklahoma scored 65 points against Texas, the most ever scored by either team in the long-running series, and got 77 against Texas A&M.

▶ School records were established in passing yards (4,109), first downs (314), interception avoidance (0.22), fewest turnovers (17), fewest turnovers per game (1.2) and touchdown passes (43).

▶ OU completed at least 50% of its passes in 12 of 14 games last season. The Sooners eclipsed 100 rushing yards in eight of the 14 games.

▶ Oklahoma has scored at least one touchdown in 68 consecutive games.

▶ Under Stoops, Oklahoma has 71 touchdowns of 25 yards or longer and 180 scoring drives that lasted less than two minutes.

▶ The Sooners endured just one interception every 43.6 passing attempts as compared to one in every 19.0 tries for the opponents.

▶ Under Bob Stoops, OU has produced its career leader in passing and receiving while also turning out the fourth-leading rusher in school history.

▶ Quarterback Jason White had 17 completions of 40 or more yards last season, a school record. No previous Sooner QB had more than 11. White completed 50% of his passes in all but two games and 60% in nine of 14.

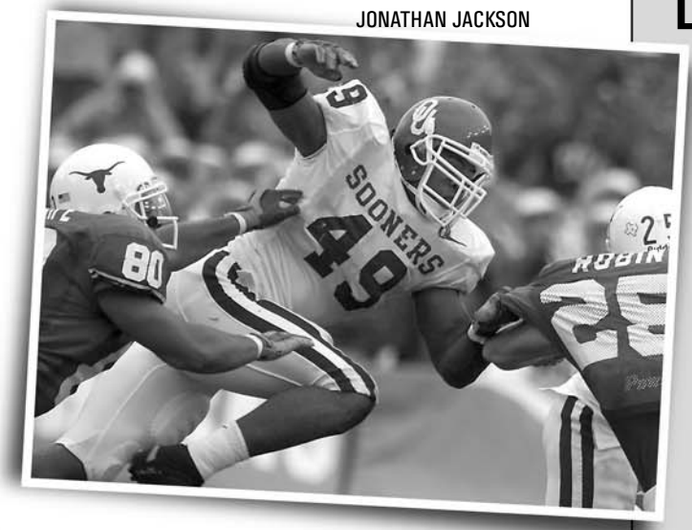
DOMINATING DEFENSE



JONATHAN JACKSON

Individual honors reflect team success. Don't think so? Go check the honor rolls for the names of players from losing teams. To the victors go the spoils, and in the case of the Oklahoma defense, those spoils define a run of great defensive play to rival any in the history of college football.

Over the past three seasons, Sooner players have won four defensive player of the year awards. Derrick Strait and Roy Williams captured the Nagurski Award and Teddy Lehman won the Bednarik and ABC Defensive Player of the Year honors.

The best defense usually has the best defensive players. And it has been quite a defense for OU. The stingy nature of Oklahoma's defense is well-noted. Three-and-outs and paltry yardage figures have been the norm in Norman.

The less appreciated facet of the unit is a mindset that often changes possession of the ball. Oklahoma has claimed at least one turnover in 59 of its last 66 games and has at least one interception in 46 of the last 54.

And just because the defense takes the ball away doesn't mean that the OU offense gets possession. The defense, always blessed with blazing speed, has scored 17 touchdowns and two safeties over the last four years.

Game-changing, smart, aggressive, dominant ... that's Oklahoma's defense.

A strong case can be made that no program has played better on its special teams in recent years than Oklahoma. Time and again, the Sooners have blown games wide open with electric and innovative special teams play. The 2003 season offered more of the same.

Most noteworthy last season was the punt return exploits of Antonio Perkins, who set NCAA records with three punt returns for touchdowns against UCLA and four for the season. But Perkins was not alone. Trey DiCarlo set an NCAA record with 74 point after touchdown kicks and was named one of three finalists of the Lou Groza Award (best kicker) in just his sophomore campaign. Mark Bradley, on his first kickoff return attempt as a Sooner, tied a school record by bolting 100 yards at Iowa State.

And there was more. A faked punt at Alabama was one of the most talked-about plays of the season. The trickery originated in the third quarter from deep in OU territory. The resulting first down ultimately led to the touchdown that iced the game for Oklahoma. OU also recovered its only onside kick of the season and punched in a two-point conversion.

In five years, OU has boasted the winner of the Mosi Tatupu Award (top special teams player) and finalists for both the Groza and Ray Guy (best punter) awards. Also during that time, the Sooners have scored 20 special team touchdowns and one safety. Of the 20 TDs, 10 came on punts, three on kickoffs. And, oh yes, the Sooners also have blocked 17 kicks in that five-year span.

Bob Stoops' commitment to special teams play is evidenced by the number of first-team players who participate on those units. The wisdom of that move, and the program's overall devotion to special teams play, is found in the staggering numbers that relate to every possible facet of the kicking and return game.

BRODNEY POOL

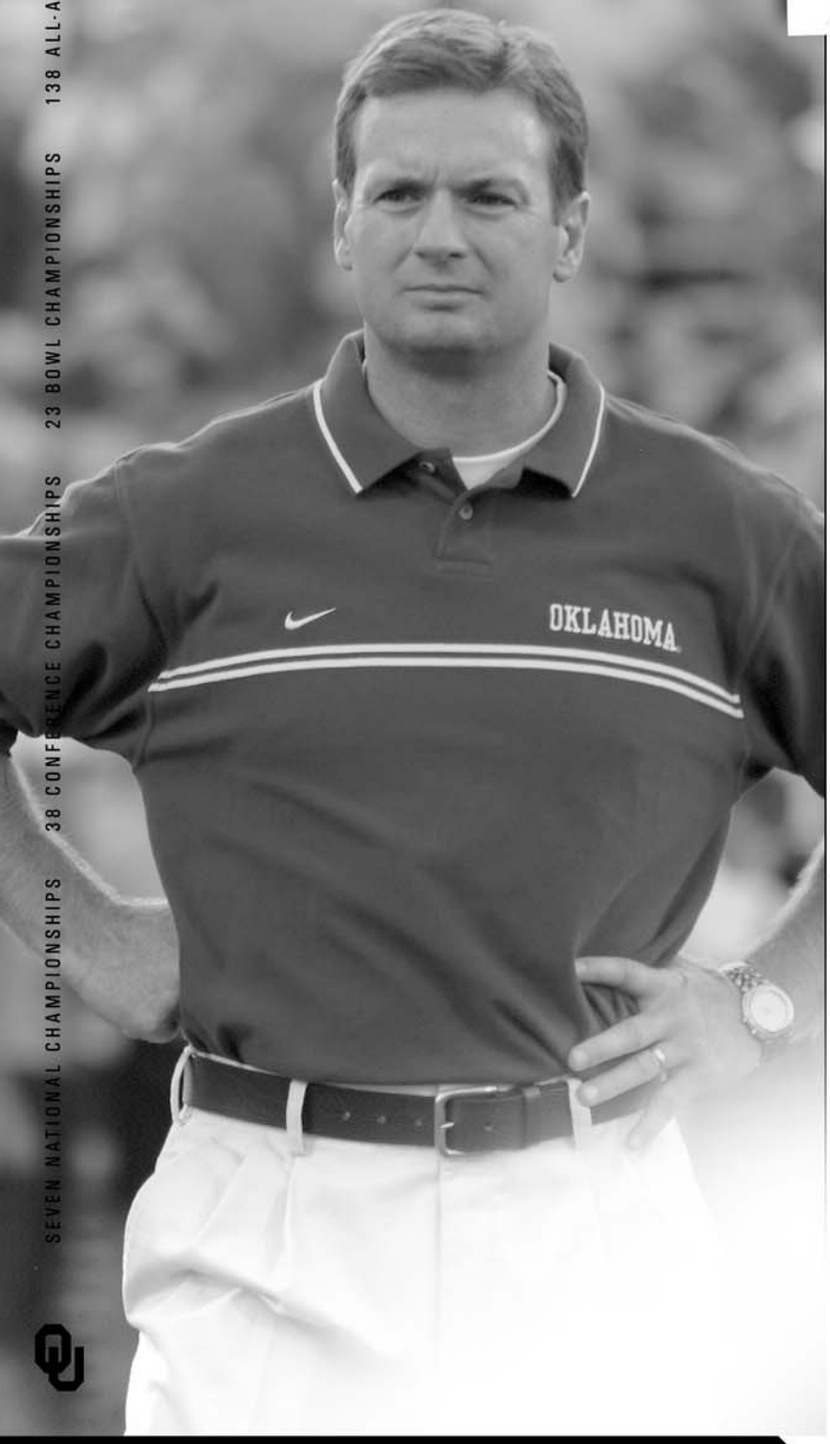
BOB STOOPS

The kind of admiration Bob Stoops has acheived is the best kind. It's a byproduct of the success his program has enjoyed and the manner in which he conducted himself. Football observers from coast to coast have witnessed the renaissance authored by Stoops at Oklahoma and often proclaim the Sooner coach among the very best in the land.

OU fans would not argue. Although the success of recent seasons all but obliterated the memory, the proud Sooner program had fallen on uncharacteristicly hard times before Stoops hit town. Prior to his first season of 1999, OU had gone five straight years without a winning record and four straight without a bowl game.

Since then, OU has five straight winners and five straight bowl games ... and a National Championship ... and two Big 12 crowns ... and a Rose Bowl, Orange Bowl, and Cotton Bowl title to name just a few. Oklahoma football is back in its rightful place among college football's elite with a keen appreciation of the coach who placed it there.

The pride has been restored and a nation has noticed.



THE BOB STOOPS ERA AT OKLAHOMA

▶ Stoops' 55 victories are the most by any Division 1 coach over the first five years of a coaching career since 1900. Oklahoma is 55-11 (.833) since 1999.

▶ In five years, Stoops' teams have won three Big 12 South crowns, two Big 12 Championships, three January bowl titles and a National Championship.

▶ Stoops' teams have spent 22 weeks ranked No. 1 in the country. His teams have had a double-digit lead in 56 of 66 games.

▶ Under Stoops, the Sooners have set or tied 62 school records. That mark does not include bowl records or records specific to a position.

▶ OU has produced one Heisman Trophy winner, two AP Players of the Year, two Bronko Nagurski Award winners, two Thorpe Award winners, two Butkus Award winners, one Bednarik Award winner and one Lombardi Award winner.

▶ Stoops has authored two of the seven longest winning streaks in Oklahoma history. His 2000 and 2001 teams won 20 straight, while the 2002 and 2003 teams reeled off 14 in a row. Those victories all came against 1-A opponents.

▶ Under Stoops, Oklahoma has produced 16 All-Americans. The 2003 team alone had seven All-Americans, the second highest total in school history (1975 had eight).

▶ Stoops became the first OU head coach to lead his first three squads to bowl berths. With the Sugar Bowl last season, he has now taken the Sooners to five straight, including four straight in January and three BCS games.

▶ Every home game of Stoops' tenure, 31 in all, has been sold out. Success realized since his arrival has spawned nearly $80 million in improvements to football facilities.

▶ Under Stoops, OU has had 23 national television appearances, 13 visits from ESPN's GameDay and seven cover photos on Sports Illustrated.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT BOB STOOPS

"Only a handful of them meet the old expectation of coach-as-teacher and model for manly behavior anymore -- Bob Stoops of Oklahoma comes to mind."
- Sally Jenkins, Washington Post

"On the sidelines, he talks to you like he is still playing the game. Off the field, he treats you like a real person, like you're his brother, and he wants you to accomplish everything you can."
- Kejuan Jones, Oklahoma running back

"Stoops' philosophy is at the same time unbending and liberating. (Stoops) presides over players who are competitive and aggressive, but also respectful and talkative."
- David Barron, Houston Chronicle

"Bob Stoops is not just one of those great coaches, he may be THE great coach of the era that began five years ago when he took over a University of Oklahoma program that was reeling. If you want to call him the best college coach in the nation, join the chorus. He'll be winning football games for a long time. That's not a prediction, but the absolute truth. Stoops is the real deal, the once-in-a-lifetime -- if you're lucky -- great coach who finds your campus and makes you happy forever."
- Mike Celzic, NBCSports.com

"(Stoops) has built a monster. There's a new sheriff in college football. It is the Oklahoma Sooners."
- Rick Brown, Lakeland (Fla.) Ledger

"In this age where political correctness can affect everything from school prayer to country club membership, the world needs Bob Stoops. It needs a guy who trusts his players so completely, he'll let them try anything, including between-the-legs handoffs. It needs a guy whose swagger is barely visible below the surface but, by gosh, it rises up when he is rubbed the wrong way."
- Dennis Dodd, CBS Sportsline.com

"Stoops isn't afraid to risk defeat in pursuit of victory. He is, unquestionably, the best big-game coach in college."

The raves about Oklahoma assistant coaches have poured in from the day that Bob Stoops assembled his staff in Norman. The fact that Oklahoma has won at such a high level and been so complete as a team speaks to the quality of the coaches.

So does the opinion several of the nation's athletics directors, three of whom have hired Stoops' assistant coaches as head coaches. That in itself is lofty praise. The fact that two of them (the third is just now in his first season as a head coach) have already taken their teams to bowl games only adds further validation.

Detailed organization, measured preparation, insightful evaluation and just plain, old hard work make up the philosophy for the Sooner coaches. It is impossible to find an area in which they do not score well.

The current staff has combined to coach in 68 bowl games and played in another 19. The group has coached 43 players with National Football League experience, while two of these coaches were NFL players and another coached there.

Identifying and recruiting talent, coaching talent to play at its peak and preparing players for a possible career in professional football ... nobody does it better than Oklahoma.

BIG 12 CONFERENCE

Just nine years into its existence, the Big 12 has vaulted to the top of intercollegiate athletics. A regular player in the determination of national championships, the conference offers its more than 4,000 student-athletes that rare opportunity to compete in the national spotlight year in and year out.

The Big 12's member schools come from seven different states and offer a massive area of appeal to the nation's television networks. That, combined with the overwhelming support the league has enjoyed since its inception, have brought exposure for the league and its student-athletes to an all-time high.

The facilities in the league are remarkable and the championship events hosted by the conference are among the best in the nation.

Today's student-athlete desires a conference that pushes each participant to excel, while opening the door for prominence on the national stage. Big 12 schools have combined for more than 800 NCAA crowns and 165 national team championships. No conference provides a more optimal environment for success than the Big 12.

Iowa State - Oklahoma has won 36 of the last 38 meetings with the Cyclones and owns a commanding 65-5-2 all-time series lead. The Sooners defeated Iowa State, 53-7, in Ames in 2003.

Nebraska - It ranks as one of the greatest rivalries in college football. OU leads the Big Red war, 40-37-3. The Sooners have won 13 of the 16 meetings in which both teams came in ranked among the nation's top 10.

Oklahoma State - OU leads the series with Oklahoma State by 60 wins, which is the most lopsided, continuous in-state rivalry in college football.

Texas - Oklahoma has won the last four Red River Shootouts, all by double digits, by a combined score of 177-54.

Texas A&M - Oklahoma has won three of the last four meetings including a 77-0 rout last season. OU holds a 12-10 advantage in the series.

▶ The 2003 squad was the 10th at Oklahoma since 1938 to finish the regular season unbeaten and untied (1938, 1949, 1950, 1954, 1955, 1956, 1974, 1987, 2000, 2003).

▶ The 2003 squad was the first in school history to play before one million fans in a season. Some 1,057,631 saw the 14 games. A Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium record was set with 84,027 fans for the Oklahoma State game. The game also marked the largest attendence for a sporting event in the history of the state.

▶ The 2003 Sooners were the most individually decorated team in college football history with seven All-Americans. The squad also produced seven award winners including the Heisman, Bednarik, Butkus, Lombardi, Nagurski, O'Brien and Thorpe.

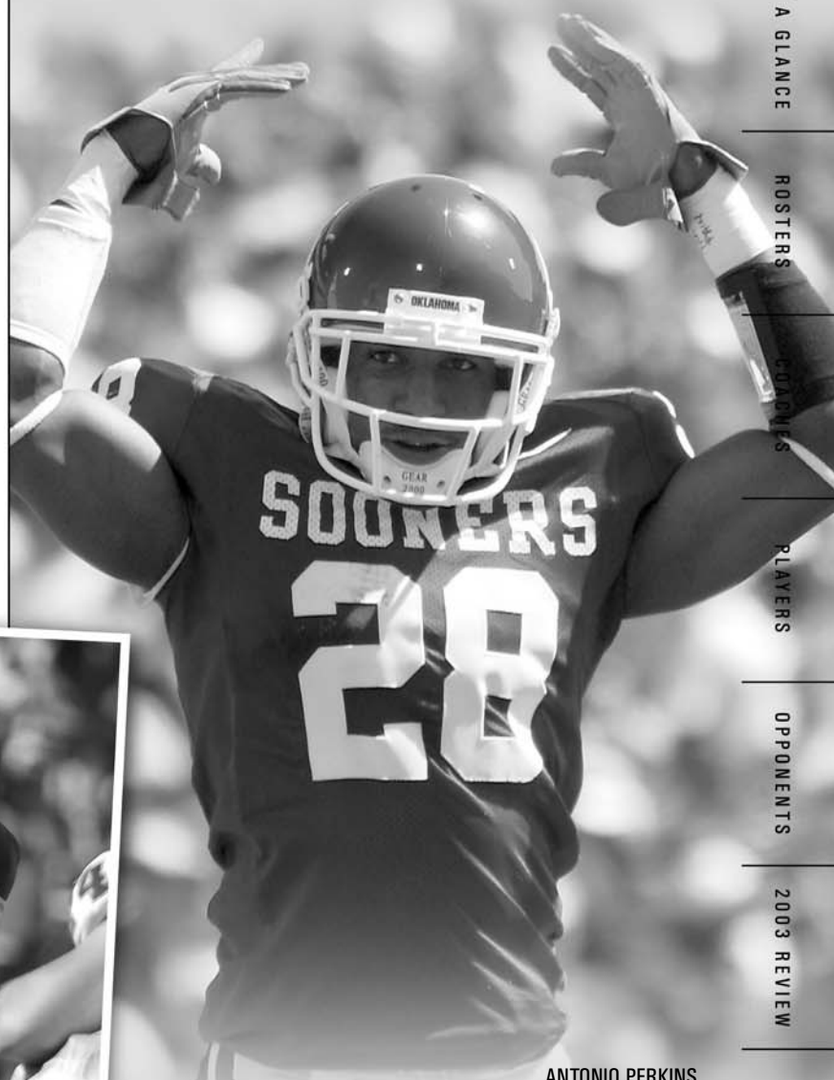
THE PINNACLE OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL

The 2003 Sooners spent the entire season ranked among the top three nationally, including 15 weeks at No. 1. Oklahoma was back in the national championship game for the second time in the last four years, was in a BCS game for the third time in four years and was in a January bowl contest for a fourth consecutive season.

The team produced an unprecedented seven national award winners and All-Americans, plus a trio of national coach of the year awards for Bob Stoops.



ANTONIO PERKINS

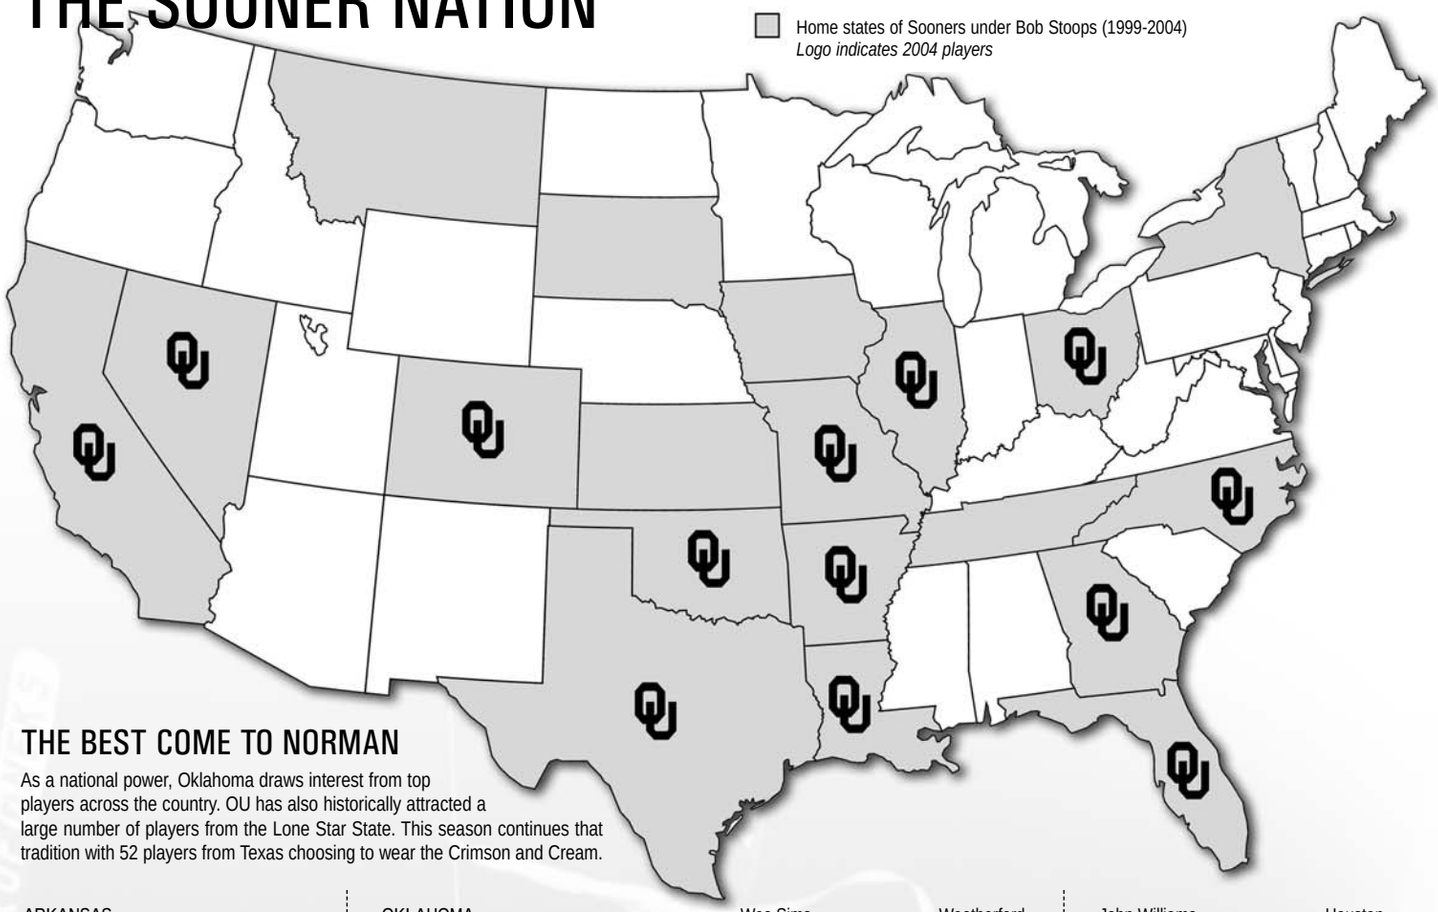
RECORD SEVEN SOONERS EARN ALL-AMERICA

Oklahoma has averaged more than one All-American per year since it began playing football more than 100 years ago. To date, OU players have received the prestigious recognition 138 times.

Last year, that list grew by seven including offensive tackle Jammal Brown, receiver Mark Clayton, defensive tackle Tommie Harris, linebacker Teddy Lehman, return specialist/defensive back Antonio Perkins (above), defensive back Derrick Strait and quarterback Jason White.

The Sooners saw an unprecedented five representatives named to both the Associated Press and American Football Coaches Association teams.

THE SOONER NATION



THE BEST COME TO NORMAN

As a national power, Oklahoma draws interest from top players across the country. OU has also historically attracted a large number of players from the Lone Star State. This season continues that tradition with 52 players from Texas choosing to wear the Crimson and Cream.

2004 OU RECRUITING CLASS

Once again in the spring of 2004, Oklahoma signed a recruiting class revered nation-wide as one of the top five among Division I schools. The class included 18 players from six states. Twelve hailed from Texas, two from Oklahoma and one each from California, Florida, Illinois and Ohio.

Playing for Oklahoma has become a popular decision among the top prospects. With OU's team taking up steady residence among the nation's top 10 and with Sooner players regularly pulling in national acclaim from the most recognized awards to the NFL, that popularity stretches from coast to coast.

SOONER CENTRAL

Here is a closer look at the hometowns of 2004 Sooners from the states of Oklahoma and Texas.

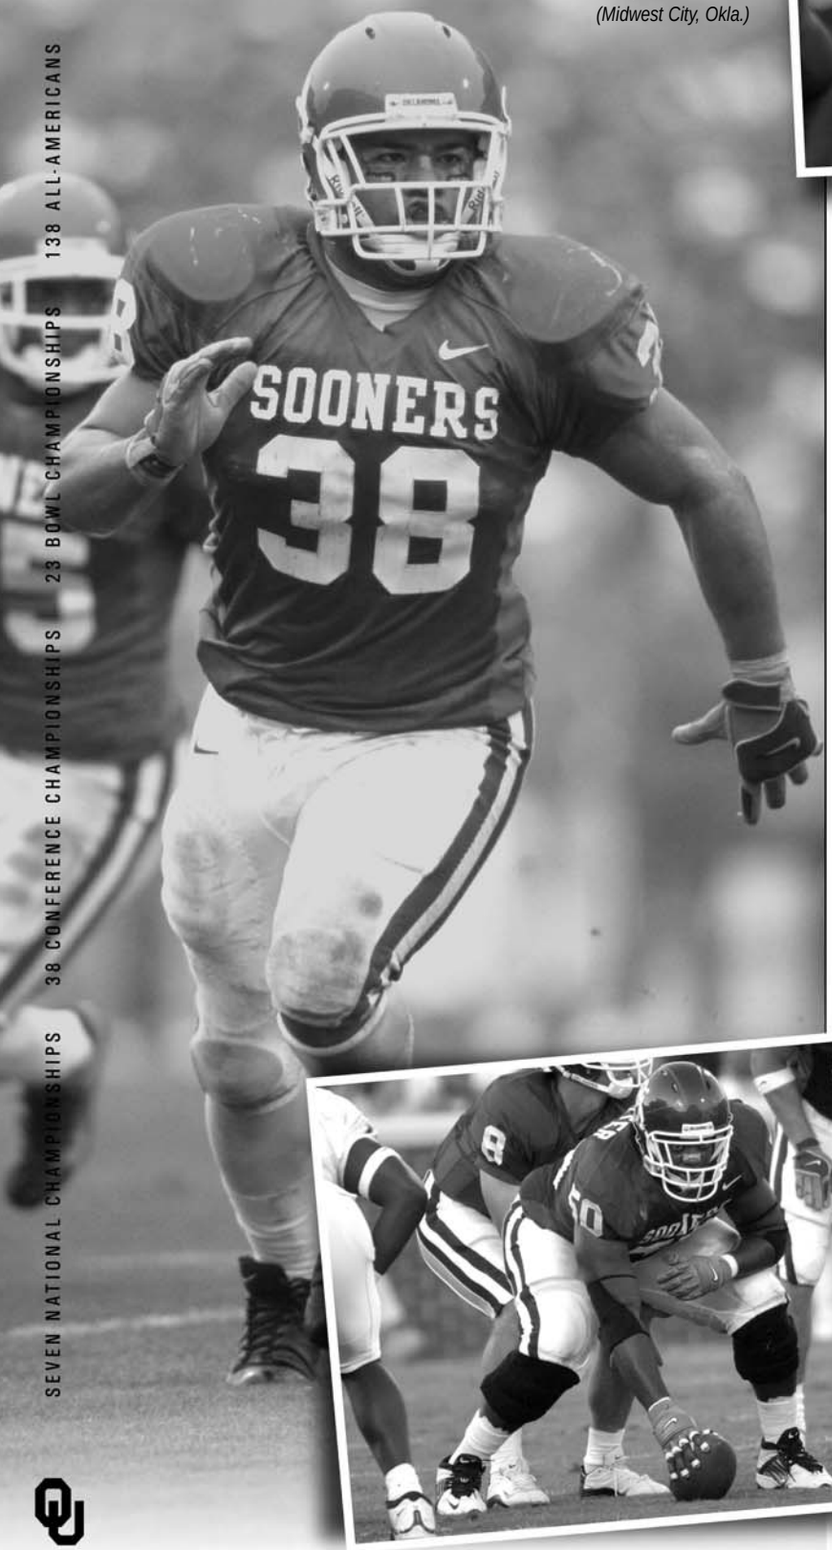
WHY OU?

Current OU football players and their families share their reasons for choosing to come to the University of Oklahoma and play for the Sooners:

"THE OKLAHOMA TRADITION"

"I didn't know where I was going until I heard Coach Stoops' voice on the other end of the phone. I knew right then and there that I wanted to go to Oklahoma. There was always a special place in my heart for OU. Growing up only 20 minutes away, I was aware of the winning tradition, national championships and bowl success that they had and of all the great players they produced."

- J.D. Runnels, Junior fullback
(Midwest City, Okla.)



"THE CAMARADERIE"

"The camaraderie in this program is great. For the people who are going to be far from home for an extended period of time, I would think that would be very important. Everybody meshes so well here. You're welcomed with open arms and then you're part of a very close-knit group. I'm not sure I realized that fact about us as soon as I should have, but it's a big thing to me now."

- Dan Cody, Senior defensive end
(Ada, Okla.)

"THE BEST PLAYERS GET TO PLAY"

"The coaching staff impressed me more than any other we dealt with during the recruiting process. They really meant what they said. The best players really do get to play, no matter what. That's how you win championships. And the fans here are great. They root for us, but they care about us as people, too."

- Dusty Dvoracek, Senior defensive tackle
(Lake Dallas, Texas)

"THE CITY OF NORMAN"

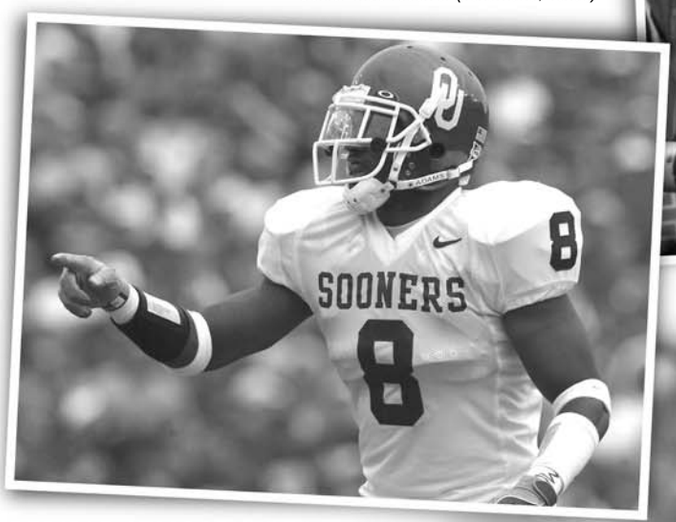
"One of the things I liked best on my recruiting trip was the city of Norman. Coming from a town like Waco, I found a lot of similarities in the two cities. I really like the pace of life here and I knew I wouldn't have to make that big of an adjustment when I got here."

- Vince Carter, Senior center
(Waco, Texas)

"HE FELT LIKE IT WAS A FAMILY"

"When he went for his campus visit, he really hit it off with the coaches, especially his position coach. Once that happened, no one else really had a chance. He also felt like it was a family to him and we both liked that aspect. Of course, I was more focused on the academics and what kind of education he would receive and we thought OU was the best place for that as well."

- Barnette Jones, mother of Brandon Jones
Senior wide receiver (Texarkana, Texas)



"THE INCREDIBLE ATMOSPHERE"

"When I took my recruiting trip to Norman, I could sense the incredible atmosphere that surrounded the program. The coaches, players and fans are special."

- Donte Nicholson
Senior defensive back (Walnut, Calif.)

"TO PLAY WITH THE BEST"

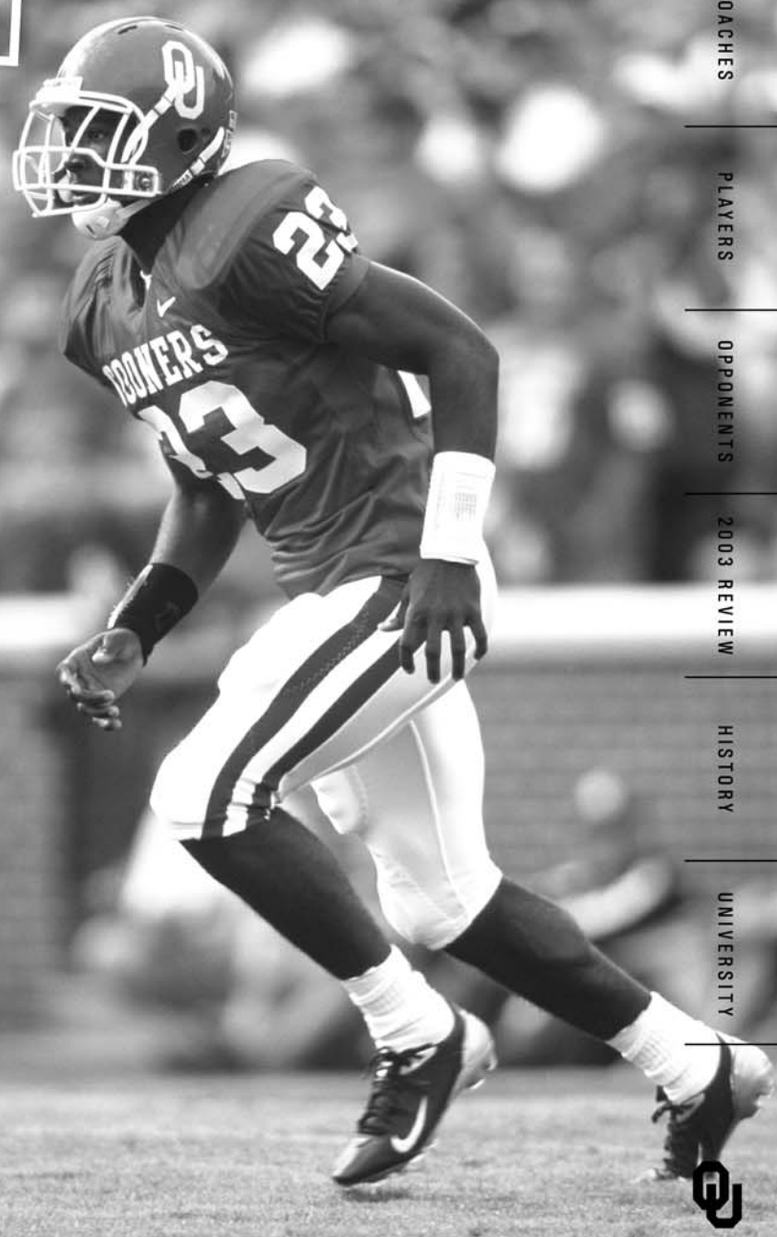
"During our recruiting process, we determined that OU had the best defensive team in the country. So, we sent Brodney to play with the best defense in the nation."

- Rose Brimmer, mother of Brodney Pool
Junior safety (Houston, Texas)

"THEY BRING OUT THE BEST IN YOU"

"When you're at Oklahoma, you're around people who bring out the best in you. You expect it to be that way with the coaches, and our coaches are great about that, but a big part of it is the players. Being average here is not good enough and the other players on the team push you to expect more of yourself."

- Brandon Shelby, Senior cornerback
(Kansas City, Mo.)



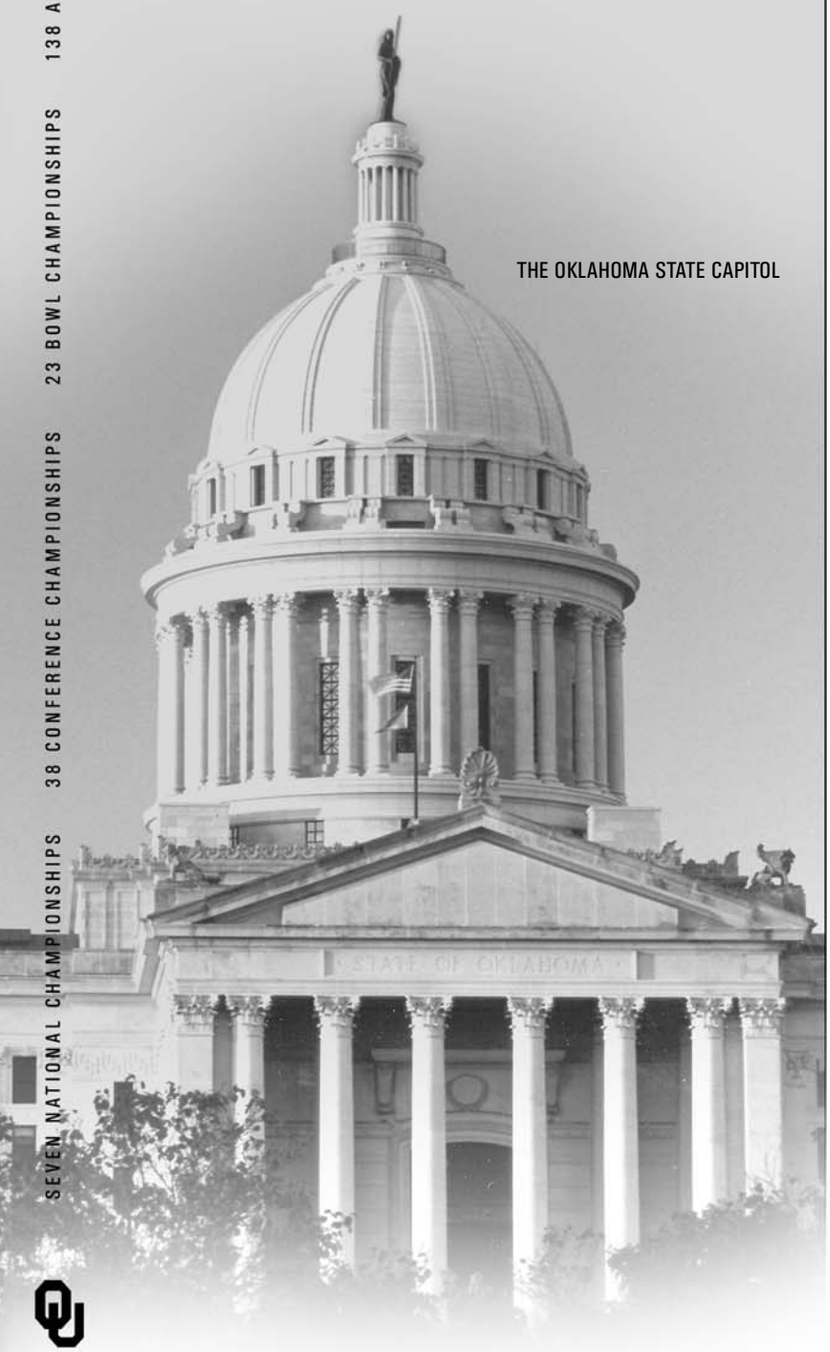
NORMAN/OKC METRO

Norman is an ever-changing city of nearly 90,000 residents. Located in the heart of the state, it has grown to become the third largest city in Oklahoma. Despite its continuous growth, it has maintained the spirit and serenity of a small close-knit community.

Since the Oklahoma Land Rush of 1889, Norman has grown into a popular and smart city. The spirit of Norman and its citizens is unwavering and uncompromising. While other towns were clamoring to become the state capital, Norman residents wanted to have the first state university. When the first OU president got off the train and saw a prairie, he saw opportunity.

As home to the state's premier educational institution, Norman boasts an excellent quality of life and is a city that thrives on and celebrates the diversity of its community.

Legendary University of Oklahoma football coach Barry Switzer called Norman "a university town with a championship spirit." Norman continually exhibits its love for sports by hosting numerous local and national athletic events.



THE OKLAHOMA STATE CAPITOL

NORMAN, HOME OF THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

The city also showcases local and regional artists in its annual May Fair. In addition, through the university's School of Drama, School of Dance and the School of Music, stage productions are offered year round.

Cultural activities are unlimited in Norman, making it the ideal backdrop for the University of Oklahoma. As home to people of all ethnic and educational backgrounds, the city has something to offer everyone. Norman is home to a variety of enriching events and attractions, including the Sooner Theater, which hosts a series of entertaining theatrical performances produced by locally-based talent and touring companies.

The $44 million Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History, a state-of-the-art facility designed to display a collection of historical and natural science items that trace the southwest's development since prehistoric times, opened in May 2000. History buffs will also enjoy the Cleveland Country Historical House which holds exhibits relating to the development of this area of the state.

For art enthusiasts, the Fred Jones Jr. Memorial Art Center houses permanent collections, nationally and world-renowned traveling exhibits as well as a yearly student art show. The museum has recently added the Weitzenhoffer Collection of French Impressionist paintings -- the single most important gift of art ever given to a U.S. public university.

Multi-screen theaters in Norman offer a wide range of movie options. Community theater and dance performances continue to be a favorite in Norman with productions by several groups. With the Cimarron Circuit Opera Company and the annual Jazz in June celebration, Norman also offers a great opportunity to hear a variety of musical artists on almost any night of the week.

Maintaining a progressive approach to the future while remembering its history, Norman continues to be a well-balanced community, proud to be the home of the University of Oklahoma.

STATE FAIR OF OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, the capital of Oklahoma, is located just 18 miles north of the Norman campus. It was the first city settled in the Land Run of 1889 because of its position at the center of the state.

Oklahoma City offers a variety of attractions and activities different from any other place in the country.

Just over a century ago, the site of Oklahoma City was a grass-and-timbered land of gently rolling hills flattening out into prairie in the west. Today, Oklahoma City sprawls across 625 square miles of America's heartland. The city's metro population numbers more than a million -- a third of the entire state's population.

Oklahoma City was born on the afternoon of April 22, 1889, when the central portion of what is now Oklahoma was opened to settlement by presidential proclamation. Thousands crossed the borders of "unassigned lands" at the sound of gunfire at high noon. Never before or since has such a "run" occurred anywhere on the earth.

By the time the dust had settled on that historic day, many people had staked their claim at "Oklahoma Station," an area which was destined to become Oklahoma City. In 1911, Oklahoma City officially became the capital after a statewide election moved the state seal from Guthrie.

Oklahoma City has become a haven for exciting sports action. It is home of two semi-professional sports teams and the host of the NCAA College Softball World Series.

The Oklahoma RedHawks, are the Triple-A baseball affiliate of the Texas Rangers. The team plays in the 13,066-seat SBC Bricktown Ballpark, one of the plushest venues in all of minor league sports.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

OU lives by a clear and strong motto in dealing with its student-athletes ... Inspiring Champions for Today, Preparing Leaders for Tomorrow. To fulfill that promise, the athletics department and football program take an active role in a number of community service projects. Sooner student-athletes are exposed to life outside of sports and school work with opportunities to serve and help others.

Individually, football players serve with numerous groups. Two of their largest projects include a free football clinic for underprivileged youth and the distribution of food that is donated by OU fans at a designated home game. These events and many others are highly interactive and tend to inspire smiles all around.

Oklahoma's student-athletes recognize that wearing the Crimson and Cream means representing a popular sports program and themselves as individuals. They are encouraged to respond to a public that adores them, while learning important lessons about making a positive impact in the lives of others and in the community in which they live.

GIVING BACK

Each year on the morning of the spring football game, the Sooners provide a complimentary football clinic for a select group of youth from throughout the central Oklahoma region. The team also plays an active role in a food drive that takes place near the Thanksgiving holiday. OU fans donate food at a game and players help in the distribution the following Monday.

A TRADITION OF BUILDING CHAMPIONS

OU head strength and conditioning coach Jerry Schmidt owns three college football national championship rings. Current and former Sooner standouts routinely cite Schmidt as one of the key contributors to their success. Schmidt has worked with four Heisman Trophy winners including Jason White (Okahoma), Danny Wuerffel (Florida), Barry Sanders (Oklahoma State) and Tim Brown (Notre Dame) in addition to coaching 21 NFL first-round draft picks.

NFL SCOUTS FLOCK TO OU PRO DAY

The OU football program hosts NFL coaches and scouts each spring on campus in Norman prior to the NFL Draft. The OU Pro Day facilitates the evaluation process for the professional football staffs and provides a familiar environment for players. Kansas City Chiefs head coach Dick Vermeil, Houston Texans head coach Dom Capers and Houston general manager Charley Casserly, along with representatives from every team, were among the 100 or so NFL personnel that attended the 2004 event.

"When we went to Oklahoma, those kids were fired up to see us. They were ready to work out. They did every drill we asked them to do and asked if we wanted more. That's the kind of attitude you expect to see when a kid's future as an NFL player's at stake. You expect them to be excited and cooperative."

- NFL Scout quoted from the Houston Chronicle

SOONER POWER

The best testimony for what Jerry Schmidt and his staff do with Oklahoma's players comes from former Oklahoma players -- those in professional football.

It's not uncommon for members of that select fraternity to return to Norman for part of their off-season training regimen. During their time in the Sooner program, they learned the quality of the strength and conditioning staff at OU. The program made such an impact on Dallas Cowboys star Roy Williams that he made a $100,000 donation to benefit the strength facilities. What made Williams' gift especially unique was that he made it in his rookie season with the Cowboys. Now the weight room in the new Everest Training Center carries his name.

Schmidt has been involved with three football national championships at three schools. His success is no coincidence. Now in his sixth year in Norman, he is roundly recognized nationally as one of the best in the business.

APPRECIATION FROM THE PRO RANKS

Former Sooner All-American and Dallas Cowboys safety Roy Williams was honored by OU athletics director Joe Castiglione and head football coach Bob Stoops for his gift toward a new strength training facility at the Everest Training Center. The Roy Williams Strength Training Facility complements the main Robin Siegfried and Family Strength and Conditioning Center, located at the Switzer Center.

"I am in a position to help and I just wanted to give something back to a place that has been very special to me," said Williams. "I don't know if I would be where I am today without OU."

THE UNIVERSITY

The University of Oklahoma community is experiencing a golden era in the history of a great institution. Enrollment is on the rise, the quality of new student applications is soaring and donor confidence is at an all-time high.

Over the last six years, OU's donor base has undergone a staggering expansion from 17,000 to 73,000. That confidence in President David L. Boren and the upward movement of the university as a whole has led to signficant changes on the university landscape. Building projects abound, meaning that OU faculty, staff and students will enjoy a learning environment of the highest order for many years to come. Indeed, the state of Oklahoma will enjoy resources that impact everything from medical science to the arts as a result of this time in the university's history.

The University of Oklahoma has long embraced the great tradition of Sooner athletics. With competitive facilities all located on the main campus, including several near the heart of the university, student-athletes and their classmates mingle comfortably in an environment that fosters an attitude of excellence, regardless of the endeavor.

EXCELLENCE

Winning is an attitude that permeates the entire University of Oklahoma athletics program. Championships and post-season play are synonymous with practically ever Sooner sport.

In 2003-04, Oklahoma finished among the top 15 schools nationally in All Sports competition and sent teams or individuals into post-season competition in 18 of 20 sports.

During the 2001-02 school year, when the football program knocked down 11 wins and a Cotton Bowl victory, both the men's and women's basketball teams advanced to the Final Four. The 74 combined wins by football and the two basketball teams were more than any school ever notched among those three sports.

Football, with seven national titles, has certainly been a trend setter for OU, but championship caliber teams and student-athletes are found throughout the Sooner program.

Since January of 1999, Oklahoma has raised more than $112 million in private contributions to address athletics facilities. The main focus of that campaign was the Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium, but in keeping with the department's desire for across-the-board success, many sports realized tremendous improvements.

The $17.2 million renovation of Lloyd Noble Center, which gave the Sooner basketball programs one of the best competitive and practice facilities in the nation, was completed in the fall of 2001. The Headington Family Tennis Center also was completed in 2001. In addition, the Everest Training Facility, one of the largest indoor practice areas in the country, was completed for the 2002 postseason. A full renovation of the John Jacobs Track & Field Complex was finished in time to host the 2004 Big 12 Outdoor Track & Field Championships.

Other completed projects include a redesign of the Sooner football practice fields; the Port Robertson Wrestling Facility; the Sooner Soccer Complex and John Crain Field which opened for competition in September 2000; as well as additional renovations to L. Dale Mitchell Park, the Charlie Coe Golf Learning Center, the OU Softball Complex and Barry Switzer Center.

A master plan has been developed which includes additional renovations and improvements in the future.

HEADINGTON FAMILY TENNIS CENTER

COMMITTED TO THE ENTIRE PROGRAM

In the last four years alone, 12 different OU teams have realized a new facility, a facility enhancement or a gift that will allow progress towards a facility upgrade. Recent projects include the L. Dale Mitchell Baseball Stadium, the Bob & Ann Coleman Men's Basketball Facility, the John Jacobs Track & Field Complex, the McCasland Fieldhouse and the Headington Family Tennis Center.

ACADEMIC SUCCESS

The recent Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium expansion and improvement included remodeled office space in the facility's north end. That largest piece of that project was the Prentice Gautt Academic Center. Some 35,000 square feet are dedicated to the academic pursuits of Sooner student-athletes. Indeed, there is considerable emphasis on classroom performance at OU.

That commitment has reaped great results. Last year, OU received the NCAA Academic Achievement Award, sponsored by USA Today, while Renaldo Works was one of 14 Scholar-Athletes named by the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame. It is the most prestigious individual academic honor in college football.

The center staff certainly has achievement has its focus, a fact reflected in a graduation rate that exceeds that of OU's general student body. In addition to its academic work, the staff assists in several life skills areas designed to enrich students in a broad range of areas. For instance, OU recently became one of the first athletics departments in the nation to add a staff psychologist to offer student-athletes professional counseling and performance enhancement services.

Season Credentials

Requests should be turned in by August 10. Only those media who routinely cover OU games, practices and media conferences are eligible for season credentials.

Any media member who loses a season credential will automatically be moved to the single-game list for the following season. Media outlets who cannot provide names for passes for an entire season will be placed on the single-game list and should provide names on a weekly basis.

Single-game Credentials

Requests must be made at least one week in advance of the contest. Any organization that requests a single-game credential then does not use it will not be granted another pass for the remainder of the season. No credentials will be granted after Thursday of game week.

OU-Texas Credentials

Those interested in covering the annual Oklahoma-Texas game at Dallas will need to make a separate request for credentials. Each school handles the requests from its regular pool of media. Aside from national media, only season credential holders are eligible.

Oklahoma will serve as the host school this year. Any media not based in the state of Texas should contact the OU Athletics Media Relations Office with credentials requests. OU-Texas credentials will be distributed to local media at the Tuesday media luncheon in Norman. Any credentials not claimed that day will be available the Friday before the game at a pick-up location in the Hyatt Regency/Dallas (times and exact location TBA). No credentials will be mailed, but outlets willing to provide an overnight account number no later than Wednesday of game week may receive them in that manner.

Credential Pick-up

Credentials may be picked up from the media relations office during the week or from media will call (Gate 2) at Memorial Stadium on game day. Photo identification is required for pick up. Each media representative must claim his or her pass. No group pick ups are allowed.

Parking Passes

Parking passes are in a limited supply and will be prioritized similar to the way credentials are issued. Most media parking is located in the Asp Ave. Parking Facility located adjacent to the stadium, one half block north of the Asp/Lindsey intersection.

MEDIA INFORMATION

GAMEDAY INFORMATION

All media should enter Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium at Gate 2 (west side, base of the press box).

Complete play-by-play, halftime and final statistics will be a regular service on game day. The OU Athletics Media Relations Office will also provide coaches quotes and team notes following each home contest. Prior to each home contest, media representatives will receive game notes, a program, flip cards and updated statistics.

Press Box

The elevator, which is operated by members of the OU ROTC, will go to the three levels of the box used by members of the media. Since the elevator is also used by OU staff, food service staff and some general public, it is recommended that media representatives arrive early.

For postgame activities, the elevator will begin taking media to the field with five minutes to play in the fourth quarter. Only photographers with combination passes can gain access to the press box. Game notes and flip cards are available to other photographers upon entry at Gate 2.

▶ Level 5: This level is reserved for members of the print, television and some non-broadcasting radio media. The OU Media Relations staff, statistical crew and press box public address announcer also can be found on this level. Only individuals with assigned seats will be allowed on this level.

▶ Level 6: This level holds the booths for the Sooner Radio Network, stadium public address announcer and security. Only those who have passes for this level will be allowed on the floor.

▶ Level 7: This level offers a spacious open-air area for all media with video cameras who are covering the game. This area is used for filming by the coaching staff and coach's shows of the two schools.

An overflow media area for other non-broadcasting radio stations, specialty magazines and monthly publications is also found on this level. Members of the media assigned to this level will not be allowed on the lower two levels. They also do not have access to the field except prior to the game and in the final minutes of the fourth quarter.

Photographers

Game information (notes, media guides and statistics) is provided at Gate 2. Once on the field, all working photographers must shoot within the yellow boxes on either side of the field. Access to bench areas is not permitted. Filing should be done from the room provided on the second floor under the west grand stands. A limited number of ethernet/phone lines are available. Photographers issued a sideline pass will not have access to the press box.

Telephones

A limited number of courtesy telephones are available for the media. With the large number of media covering OU games, it is recommended that separate arrangements be made by media. Orders can be placed by calling the OU Telecommunications Office at (405) 325-1873.

INTERVIEWS

Bob Stoops will do general interviews following Monday through Thursday practices. All other requests for interviews must be submitted to the media relations office at least 24 hours prior to the scheduled interview.

Every Monday morning, Coach Stoops will take part in the Big 12 Conference teleconference. Interested media representatives may call the Big 12 Conference office (214) 742-1212 to find out more about the teleconference. The briefings originate from conference headquarters on the 28th floor of the Wyndham Anatole Hotel, 2201 Stemmons Freeway, Dallas, Texas 75207-2805.

Media wishing to attend the sessions at the conference office may do so. Those media wishing to dial into the conference should contact the Big 12 office for the phone number. This number is for media use ONLY, and media should identify themselves with media affiliations when accessing the call. The order of head coaches and other participants is:

10:00 – Mark Mangino, Kansas
10:10 – Bob Stoops, Oklahoma
10:20 – Les Miles, Oklahoma State
10:30 – Bill Snyder, Kansas State
10:40 – Gary Pinkel, Missouri
10:50 – Mike Leach, Texas Tech
11:00 – Guy Morriss, Baylor
11:10 – Dan McCarney, Iowa State
11:20 – Mack Brown, Texas
11:30 – Dennis Franchione, Texas A&M
11:40 – Gary Barnett, Colorado
11:50 – Bill Callahan, Nebraska
Noon – Selected Student-Athletes
A replay of the briefing is available at 4 p.m. central time.

Each Tuesday during the season, OU will host a media luncheon. The location of this year's luncheon had not been determined at press time due to remodeling in the Switzer Center. Lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m. with Bob Stoops stepping to the podium at noon. The OU Media Relations staff will endeavor to have an 11:15 a.m. teleconference with the opposing coach.

Lunch will be served at 11:30 a.m. and Coach Stoops will address the attending media following lunch. There will also be a limited number of OU players on hand for interviews.

MEDIA INFORMATION

Assistant Coaches
Arrangements should be made through the media relations office. Most interviews will be conducted after practice Monday through Wednesday.

Players
All interviews with players will take place at the media luncheon or after practice on Monday and Tuesday. Media should request players 24 hours in advance to allow the athletes to be notified about the interview and to make sure that the players do not have other post-practice conflicts. Players who attend the Tuesday luncheon will not be available following practice that day.

Post-game
Members of the Oklahoma Media Relations staff will escort media representatives to the appropriate locker room areas with five minutes remaining in the game. The Oklahoma locker room, home or away, is closed to the media at all times.

Head coach Bob Stoops and several Sooner players will be brought to a designated interview area. At home games, that area is the Big Red Room, located in the Switzer Center (first floor).

At the beginning of the fourth quarter, interview requests will be collected.

For games in Norman, the opposing head coach will meet with the media inside the opponent interview room, the SoonerVision studio (southwest corner, under the stadium grandstands). A representative from the OU Media Relations Office will be on hand to assist the media in finding this area. Interviews with the head coach and players from the visiting team will be based on the postgame policy of that institution.

PRACTICE
Practices will be open to the media for the first 15 minutes Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. No practices will be open to fans unless previously announced. Members of the media are required to inform the media relations office when they plan to attend the beginning of a workout. Those in attendance are required to stay in the out-of-bounds areas of the practice field at all times unless escorted by a member of the media relations office.

VIDEO
Television outlets needing OU video highlights are directed to the Big 12's weekly satellite feed. The feed is each Tuesday from 3:30-4:30 p.m. (Central). Contact the conference office at (214) 742-1212 for more information and coordinates.

SOONER RADIO

THE SOONER SPORTS RADIO NETWORK

The Sooner Sports Radio Network blankets the state of Oklahoma and also delivers Sooner football games to fans and alumni in neighboring states. The flagship stations for the network are 50,000-watt KOMA, AM 1520 and KRXO, 107.7 FM in Oklahoma City. In Tulsa, the Sooner Sports Radio Network broadcasts may be heard on 50,000-watt KFAQ, AM 1170.

These three stations, along with more than 30 statewide affiliates, also carry Sooner Sports Talk with Bob Stoops on Tuesday nights, the Coaches Corner with Sooner Coordinators on Thursday evenings and Sooner Sports Today, which airs twice daily, five days per week throughout the season.

Bob Barry, now in his second lengthy stint as the radio voice of the Sooners, is synonymous with sports in Oklahoma as a sports broadcaster in the state for 48 years.

Barry began broadcasting Norman High School football and basketball games in 1956. In 1961, he won a tryout over 13 other broadcasters to become the play-by-play commentator for University of Oklahoma football and basketball, a position he held from 1961-72. From 1973-90, he was the play-by-play announcer for Oklahoma State football and basketball, but returned to the OU microphone in 1991.

The list of awards and honors won by Barry is impressive. He has been elected by his peers as Oklahoma's Sportscaster of the Year 15 times, voted the Oklahoma Gazette Newspaper Top Sportscaster in a readers' poll, named in 1998 to the Oklahoma Journalism Hall of Fame, the Oklahoma Association of Broadcasters Hall of Fame and Oklahoma Sports Hall of Fame in 1999. He is a former member of the Board of Directors of the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association and he served on many Norman boards as well.

Barry, who resides in Norman, joined KFOR-TV in Oklahoma City in 1966 and was the long-time sports director. He remains on the station's sports staff, but handed the sports director's reins to his son, Bob, Jr., in 1996.

Barry's partner in the broadcast booth is color commentator Merv Johnson, now in his 26th year on the football staff. He served as a Sooner assistant coach from 1987-97 and has been the director of football operations and a special assistant to the athletics director since 1998.

Johnson has been on the radio broadcasts since 1999. His complete bio appears on page 104.

Sideline commentary is provided by Mark Rodgers, who is now in his third season with the network. Rodgers is the sports director at KOCO-TV (ABC) in Oklahoma City.

GAME BROADCASTS

Network broadcasts for all Sooner football games will begin 90 minutes prior to kickoff with a call-in segment featuring popular color analyst Merv Johnson. The show includes interviews with coaches and players and, of course, a pre-game conversation with Bob Stoops. Following each game, the Sooner Wrap-up features game highlights, player comments and a post-game interview with Stoops and his assistant coaches.

BIG 12 CONFERENCE

As the Big 12 Conference approaches the end of its first decade of intercollegiate activity, dedication to several tenets of the finer points of athletics helps in the continued establishment of a strong tradition.

The Big 12 reached the 10-year mark of its founding--Feb. 25, 1994—in 2004 and celebrates student-athletes, top-flight competition, academic reform measures, scholarship, sportsmanship, and competitive success with equity as it comes closer to the 10th anniversary of intraconference activity on Aug. 31, 2006.

Baylor, Colorado, Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Texas, Texas A&M, and Texas Tech combined forces in '94 and formed the Big 12 Conference—a league covering seven states and encompassing over 40 million people (2000 U.S. census).

The conference pays particular attention to sportsmanship and a level field of play for the 4,500-plus student-athletes in 21 sports. Those competing and coaching in the Big 12 seek maximum training on the fields and courts as well as in the classroom and community.

Sportsmanship has been an item high on the Big 12 agenda since Commissioner Kevin L. Weiberg became the league's third chief executive in Dec., 1998. The Conference developed and has maintained a Sportsmanship Statement which applies to all student-athletes, coaches and administrators throughout the league. The Big 12 also honors one male and female student-athlete each year as Big 12 Sportspersons of the Year.

The level playing field for participants in all Big 12 sports also figures into competitive equity. This does not deny the potential for national team or individual champions in any sport but seeks to provide an avenue in which up-and-coming student-athletes can display their top individual talents within the framework of Conference and NCAA sports' guidelines.

Not only has the Big 12 fostered a spirit of conviviality and excitement with newfound rivalries, but the Conference organization has given rise to several related, cooperative ventures—Big 12 cities, libraries, campus security organizations, Chambers of Commerce, tourism/visitors' bureaus, information exchanges, sports medicine associations, and campus public information offices, among others.

The solid athletics' traditions at the 12 schools are evident as student-athletes/alumni have claimed more than 900 NCAA crowns and over 170 national team championships through July, 2004. Commissioner Weiberg, acting in accord with the Big 12 Board of Directors, first contracted most major championship sites and dates through the 2004-05 academic year in 1999. The Big 12 also continued the process of determining future championships' dates and sites beyond the 2004-05 term during the 2003-04 academic year.

The league office also has negotiated critical television, radio and print contracts and ongoing bowl agreements in recent months. Added in 2002-03 were agreements with TBS Superstation to carry Big 12 football games in prime time slots, with College Sports Television (CSTV) for more regional and national telecasts, and expanded video streaming opportunities for several Olympic sports within the league with Fox Sports Net and FoxSports.com.

Along with this competitive excellence, scholarship has been and continues to be a point of emphasis with the Big 12. There are 19 academic honor teams (first and second units), and the semiannual Commissioner's Honor Roll salutes student-athletes who have achieved 3.0 averages (4.0 grading scale) in the semester previous to the announcement. Annually, as many as 50-60 student-athletes from the league make these teams with perfect 4.0 grade point averages.

Each member institution also nominates a male or female student-athlete for one of the prestigious Big 12 Conference postgraduate scholarships at the end of the academic year. A total of 100-plus (88 in the first seven years of the program) aspiring scholars have received more then $500,000 in postgraduate financial aid during the first eight years of the program.

Almost six million fans who attended championships or tournaments in Big 12 postseason activity since 1996 can attest that they are viewing some of the nation's finest student-athletes, coaches and officials. Through television financial agreements, high levels of competition, postseason play, football bowl, and NCAA invitations, the Big 12 has distributed over $550 million to its members since the 1996-97 fiscal year.

Commissioners of the conference have included Steve Hatchell from Mar., 1995-May, 1998, Dave Martin (interim) from May-Dec., 1998, and Kevin L. Weiberg from Dec., 1998-present.

BOWL LINEUP

THE BOWL CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Starting in 1998, the Bowl Championship Series (BCS) has determined the Division I-A National Champion in football. The BCS, which runs through the 2005 regular season and 2006 bowl season, consists of the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, FedEx Orange Bowl, Rose Bowl and Nokia Sugar Bowl. Conferences with automatic berths include the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 and the Southeastern conferences.

The BCS also notes the importance of regional consideration regarding team selection. Specifically, as participating members of the BCS, the four BCS Bowls will host the following conference champions in the years the national championship game is not played at their site. Regional consideration tie-ins include the ACC or Big East champion in the Orange Bowl, the SEC champion in the Sugar Bowl, the Big Ten and the Pac-10 champion in the Rose Bowl and the Big 12 champion in the Fiesta Bowl.

Should a BCS Bowl's regional tie-in champion be ranked number one or two in the final BCS standings, when such bowl is not hosting the national championship game, the number one or two ranked team shall move to the national championship game and the Bowl shall select a replacement team from the BCS pool of eligible teams. The pool will consist of any Division IA team that is ranked among the Top 12 in the final BCS standings and has achieved nine wins during the regular season excluding NCAA-exempted contests.

Through a conference revenue sharing plan, the BCS group will distribute over $40 million to non-participating BCS institutions during its 8-year term. Those monies go to Division I-A and I-AA conferences in support of the game of college football. Additionally, the BCS distributes $200,000 per year to the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame.

This coming season, BCS participants will receive between $13.87-17.05 million depending on the conference affiliation of the at-large participants. Should both at-large participants come from outside the BCS conferences – ACC, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 or SEC – those participants will receive $13.87 million. If one or both at-large selections come from within the original BCS group, the first conference participant shall receive $13.87 million and the second participant from that same conference shall receive a minimum of 4.5 million. The remaining dollars (the difference between $13.87 million and $4.5 million) will be split among the BCS conferences that have just one participant.

SEASON OUTLOOK

The trophy case is a liar, or so it appears. Just five years into Bob Stoops' stint at Oklahoma, the hardware has accumulated at such a rate as to suggest a much longer tenure.

Three bowl championships, two conference crowns, a national championship and the cavalcade of individual awards those accomplishments attract have left the Switzer Center shelves sagging under the weight of significant success. And, yes, it all came about in just five seasons.

The 2003 season yielded more of the same. It offered up 12 victories, 15 weeks at No. 1, the Big 12 Conference South title and another trip to the national championship game.

From that team, a long list of players returns, especially on offense, where OU will have more experience than at any time since the current head coach arrived.

Defensively, a few marquee names must be replaced, but seven starters return. They'll be bolstered by a group of younger players produced by recent recruiting success. Like the offense, the special teams, particularly in the skill positions, will be manned by familiar names.

The 2004 season has the makings of another banner campaign at Oklahoma, the kind that could add to the disproportinately successful story being told in that trophy case.

JASON WHITE

OFFENSE

With 10 starters and a host of prominent reserves returning, the offense will have a familiar look. Another season in the maturation process should strengthen a unit that smashed numerous records last season.

The Sooners possess an ability to throw that compares favorably with any team in the land, and, just one season removed from an 1,800-yard rusher, appears poised to balance the throwing arsenal with a top-rate ground game.

QUARTERBACK

Players with starting experience at the position: Jason White

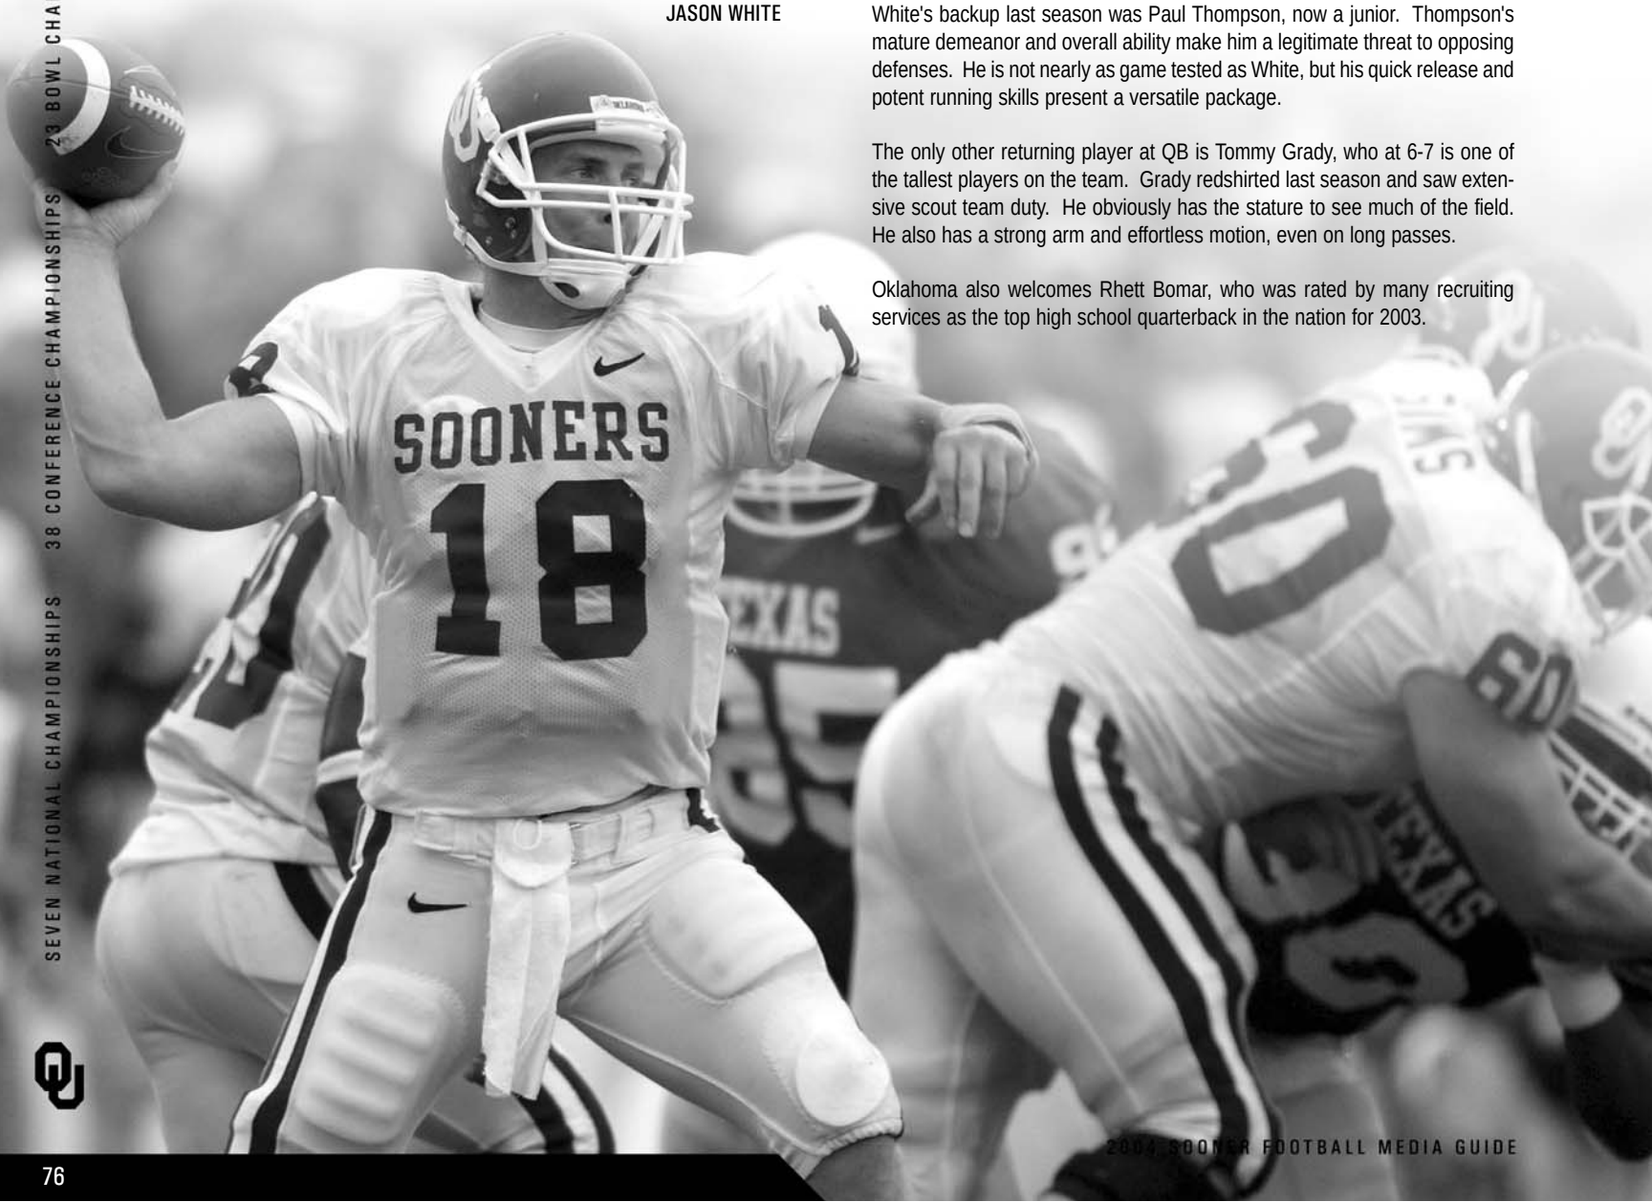
Stories don't come much better than that of Jason White. Two reconstructive knee surgeries and a Heisman Trophy all in the span of three years is the stuff of legend. And now a curtain call?

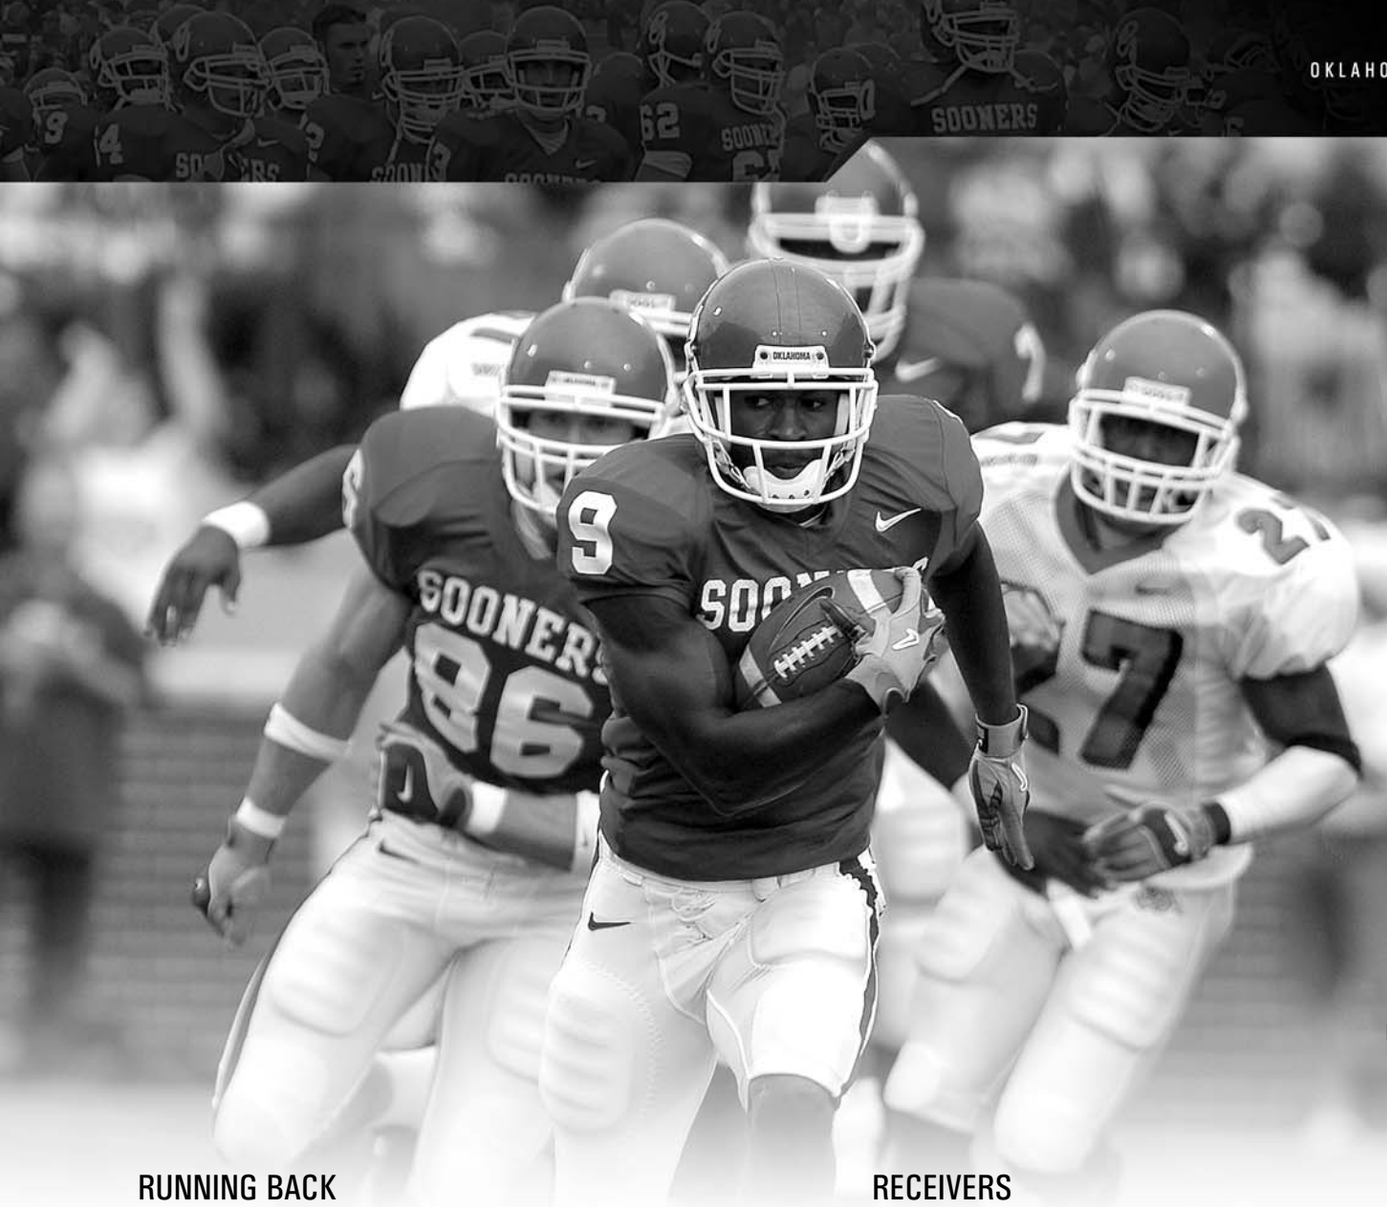
White, who fired 40 touchdowns and just 10 interceptions last season, was not saddled with a long list of expectations last season and won't be prevailed upon for a sensational encore this time around either. His work ethic and perseverance have made him a model of leadership, a key component for any quarterback. His assignment will match that of a year ago - utilize the other 10 on the field and make smart plays. With his accuracy and uncanny deep throws, that's usually more than enough.

White's backup last season was Paul Thompson, now a junior. Thompson's mature demeanor and overall ability make him a legitimate threat to opposing defenses. He is not nearly as game tested as White, but his quick release and potent running skills present a versatile package.

The only other returning player at QB is Tommy Grady, who at 6-7 is one of the tallest players on the team. Grady redshirted last season and saw extensive scout team duty. He obviously has the stature to see much of the field. He also has a strong arm and effortless motion, even on long passes.

Oklahoma also welcomes Rhett Bomar, who was rated by many recruiting services as the top high school quarterback in the nation for 2003.





MARK CLAYTON

RUNNING BACK

Players with starting experience at the position: Kejuan Jones, J.D. Runnels

Two years ago, Kejuan Jones was OU's short-yardage back. Last season, while sharing time with Renaldo Works, he evolved into a more typical role. Works' graduation leaves Jones, who has quietly rushed for 1,532 yards in two seasons as either a reserve or part-time starter, as the Sooners' most seasoned back.

The only other running back on the roster that has seen game action is shifty Donta Hickson, a junior. Beyond that, redshirt freshmen Tashard Choice, Courtney Tennial and Jacob Gutierrez will all vie for playing time.

A pair of true freshmen present even more options. Adrian Peterson, a fall arrival, was thought by many to be the top high school back in the nation last season. D.J. Wolfe, a highly regarded prep player, graduated high school at semester and was in camp for spring practices.

At fullback, Oklahoma returns J.D. Runnels, easily the most underrated player on the team. Primarily a blocker, he has also proved himself a capable receiver. Runnels is reliable, smart and as tough as they come. His back-up may be Dan Townsend, one of the more pleasant surprises on last year's team, or Dane Zaslaw, who moved from linebacker during spring practices.

RECEIVERS

Players with starting experience at the position: Mark Clayton, Brandon Jones, Will Peoples, Jejuan Rankins, Travis Wilson

Speed, elusiveness, strength … they all reside at Oklahoma's receiver position. In fact, the only commodity that may be in better supply is experience. The Sooner receiving corps will be a strength for this team.

Mark Clayton set six school records last season on his way to All-America honors and a spot among the three finalists for the Biletnikoff Award. Sure-handed, fast and slippery, Clayton proved himself so valuable that the coaches even devised running plays for him late in the 2003 campaign. Few receivers in college football are comparable when it comes to gaining yards after the catch.

Fellow seniors Brandon Jones and Will Peoples present taller targets. Jones' speed and strength make him perhaps the best deep threat of the group. Peoples, who was bothered by injuries last season, takes a backseat to nobody on the team when it comes to pure athletic ability.

Juniors Jejuan Rankins and Travis Wilson are mindful of Clayton and Jones, respectively. Rankins is dangerous with the ball in his hands and Wilson is a physical presence.

While not a starter for OU last season, Mark Bradley certainly deserves mention. He threw one touchdown pass, caught one and took his first collegiate attempt at a kickoff return 100 yards for another score. When it comes to combining strength and speed, perhaps nobody on the team does so better than Bradley.

Incoming freshmen Quentin Chaney, Lendy Holmes and Fred Strong are exciting prospects, as well.

TIGHT ENDS

Players with starting experience at the position: Chris Chester, James Moses

This coaching staff has produced three players who are now tight ends on NFL rosters. Their appreciation for the position is well-documented. The productivity dropped somewhat last year as a less-experienced group gained game snaps. Starter Lance Donley exhausted his eligibility but a deep group returns.

Chris Chester, the best blocker in the group, and James Moses return after logging starts last season. Willie Roberts did not get a start, but will be one of three trying to win the starting job. The 6-7 junior college product started behind the conditioning eight ball last August, but that fact never masked his athletic ability. Coaches feel that a full year in the weight room may have Roberts on the verge of a breakout.

One of the more intriguing candidates is Joe Jon Finley. While not a typical tight end in terms of bulk, he is loaded with football savvy and an ability to make plays. The redshirt freshman will challenge for the position.

OFFENSIVE LINE

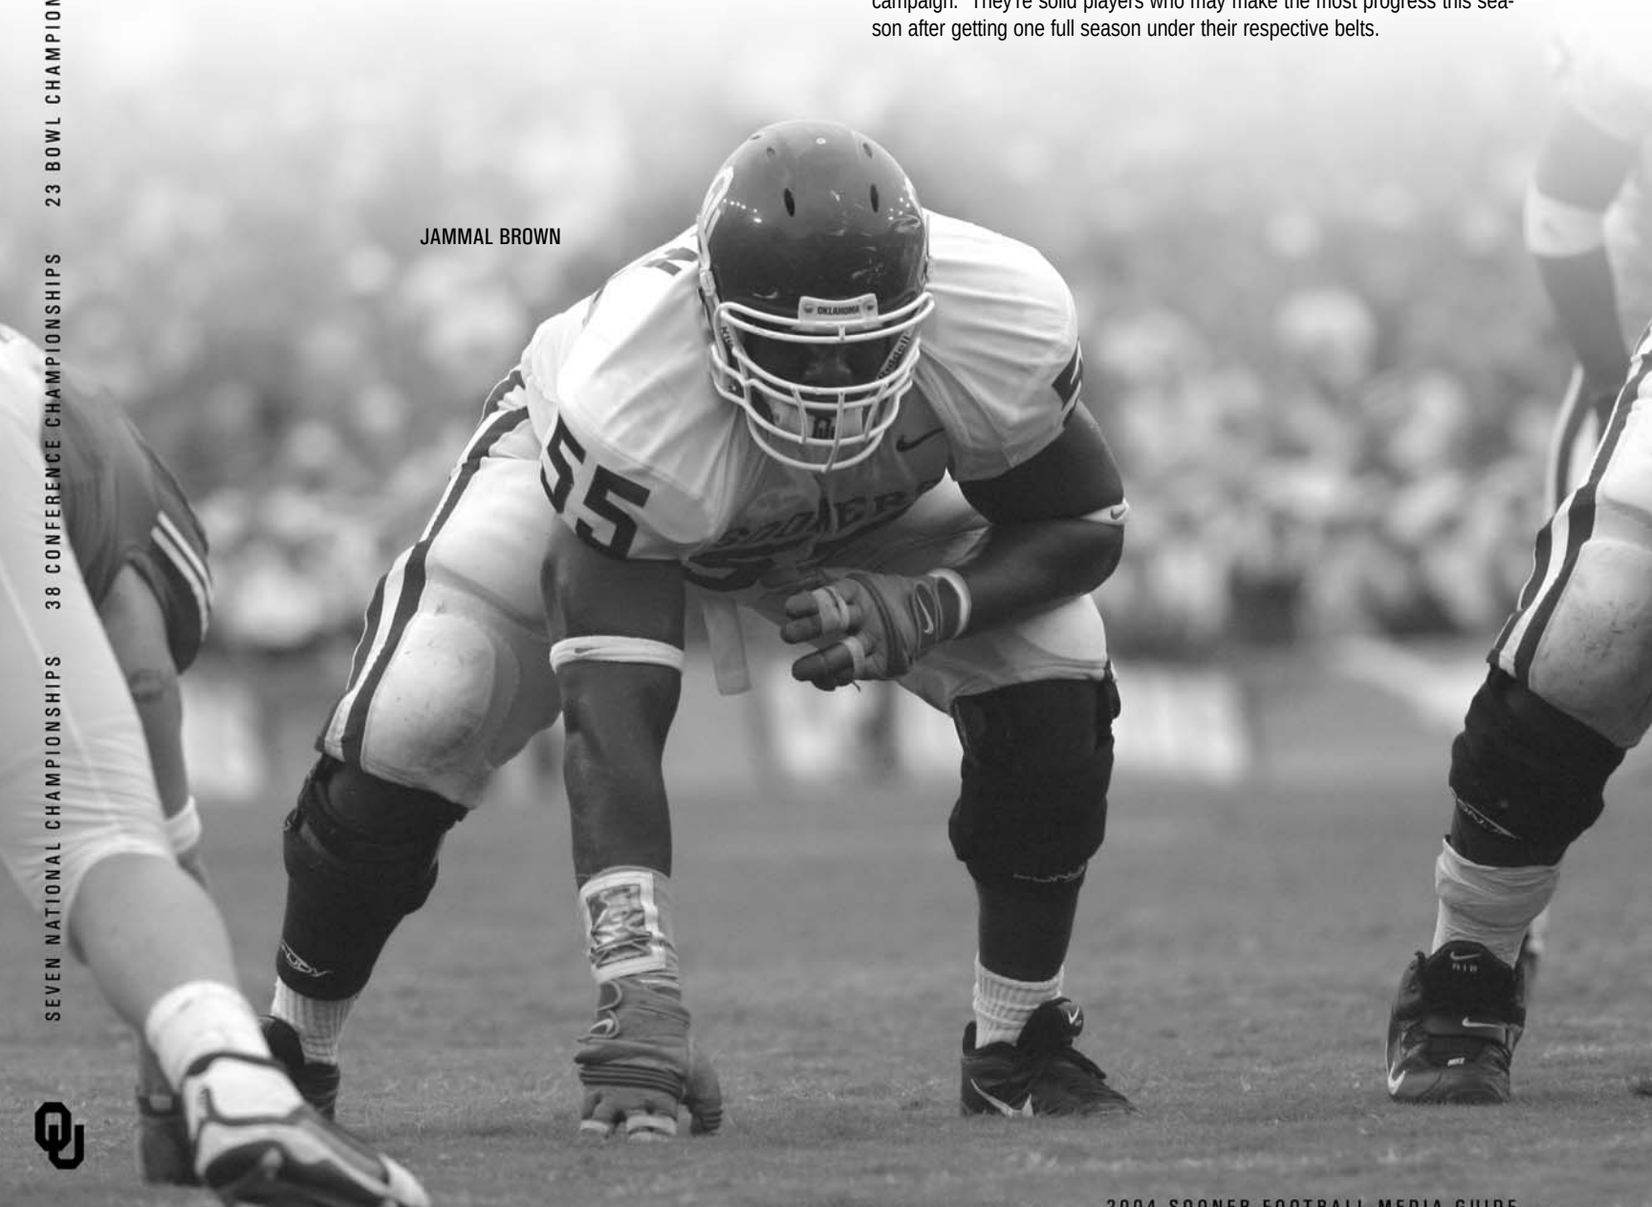
Players with starting experience at the position: Jammal Brown, Chris Bush, Vince Carter, Kelvin Chaisson, Davin Joseph, Chris Messner, Wes Sims

All five starters return. Three of the five have been starters for three seasons and all five have been starters for all or part of two seasons. The group owns 133 combined starting assignments at Oklahoma. No pun intended, suffice it to say that the Sooner offensive line has been around the block.

Vince Carter was a finalist for last season's Rimington Award, the honor bestowed on the best center in the college game. He is the likely bet at center, although Chris Bush, the most versatile lineman in the group, will make a push.

Jammal Brown, the behemoth at right tackle, was dominating last season. Look for him to be mentioned prominently for some of college football's top honors. Brown's counterpart on the left side, Wes Sims, has been a starter since day one at OU. Those looking to work their way into the rotation are Chris Messner, who started the opener last season on the left side, and promising redshirt freshman Akim Millington.

The guards, both juniors, are the only non-seniors slated for starting duty. Kelvin Chaisson and Davin Joseph both claimed starting roles late in the 2002 campaign. They're solid players who may make the most progress this season after getting one full season under their respective belts.



JAMMAL BROWN

DEFENSE

Seven starters return from one of the nation's most dominant defenses. The four who are missing were All-Americans during their time at Oklahoma. Hence, there are positions to fill.

Bednarik and Butkus awards winner Teddy Lehman, a linebacker, and Nagurski and Thorpe awards winner Derrick Strait, a cornerback, exhausted their eligibility in 2003, as did 2002 All-American Brandon Everage, a free safety. Lombardi Award winner Tommie Harris, a defensive tackle, opted to bypass his senior season at OU to enter the NFL draft. Counting those losses as significant would be an understatement.

Those set to step in share similar traits, not the least of which is speed. Despite the household natures of the names mentioned above, the defense is unlikely to suffer a dramatic dropoff, at least on paper. The recruiting efforts have been that good. The veteran nature of those who do return also could lessen the blow.

DEFENSIVE LINE

Players with starting experience at the position: Dusty Dvoracek, Lynn McGruder

Dusty Dvoracek is not the biggest defensive tackle in college football, but few are better at getting from point A to point B. And point B is usually in the opposing backfield. Dvoracek is a playmaker as evidenced by the fact that his 16 tackles for loss and seven sacks were tops among OU's interior players last year.

Lynn McGruder was a much-heralded high school product who transferred to Oklahoma from Tennessee. He has been a steady contributor as part of a four-man rotation over the last two seasons. The door swings open for him a bit this season with the graduation of Kory Klein and the early departure of Tommie Harris.

The backup roles will take some sorting out among a group of players with no I-A playing experience. Redshirt freshmen Lawrence Dampeer, Carl Pendleton and Steven Coleman fall into that category, as does junior college transfer Remi Ayodele, who arrives in August.

Oklahoma still has good talent on its defensive interior. A little good fortune in the injury department will allow the Sooners to develop the depth at a reasonable rate.

DEFENSIVE ENDS

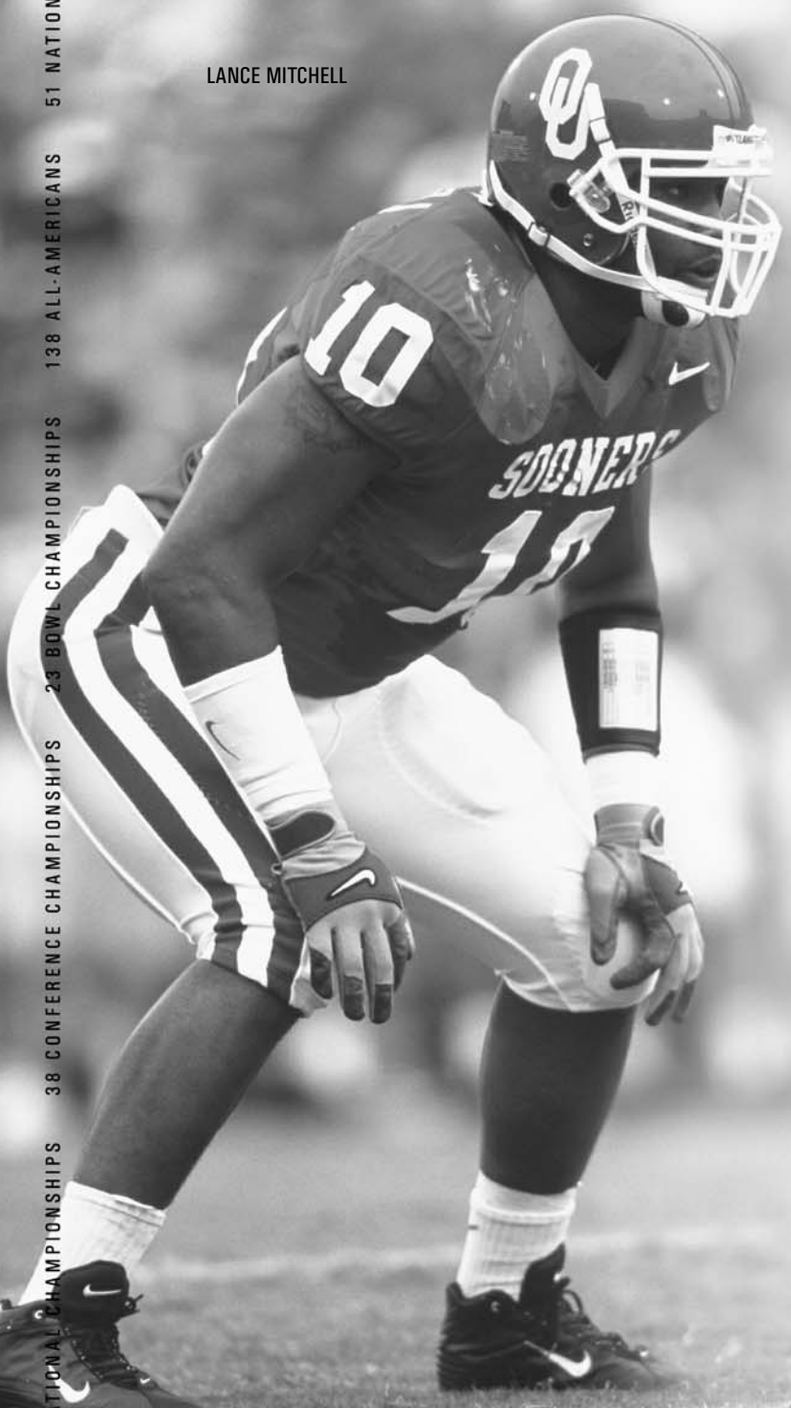
Players with starting experience at the position: Larry Birdine, Dan Cody, Jonathan Jackson

The unvarnished truth is that the defensive end position will likely be one of the strongest on the team. Dan Cody and Jonathan Jackson have played in a combined 70 games at Oklahoma and both are on the preseason watch list for the Hendricks Award. Cody led the team in sacks last season with 10 and Jackson has topped the club in hurries in each of the last two, including his total of 26 in '03. They combine a ton of knowhow with outstanding athletic traits and dogged tenacity.

The group tucked in behind those two seniors may feature more of the same. Larry Birdine got a start at Colorado last season when Cody was sidelined with an injury. He managed four sacks, one each in four different games, a testimony to his consistency. Calvin Thibodeaux has seen game time, too, and will push for more.

Redshirt freshmen Alonzo Dotson and John Williams raised a lot of eyebrows on the scout team last season. Both have the ability to make a serious run at playing time.

DUSTY DVORACEK



LANCE MITCHELL

LINEBACKERS

Players with starting experience at the position: Gayron Allen, Wayne Chambers, Lance Mitchell

If there is such a thing as a blessing in disguise, the blessing's name is Lance Mitchell. OU's physically imposing middle linebacker went down with a torn ACL in the third game of the 2003 season. The unfortunate mishap occurred early enough that Mitchell was able to claim a medical redshirt. The void forced OU to get a pair of younger players on the field for the balance of the season.

Now, in 2004, when it was anticipated that OU would return no starters at linebacker, the Sooners, in fact, return three - Mitchell and the two who played in his stead, Gayron Allen and Wayne Chambers. The silver lining to that gray day last September may reveal itself early in this season.

Chambers started five games after Mitchell went down then was slowed by an injury himself. Allen stepped in and started the last five games. With Mitchell back, OU's staff will have to determine how to slot Allen and Chambers.

Gone is Butkus award winner Teddy Lehman, a lynch pin in OU's success over the previous three seasons. Likewise, Oklahoma will have to do without Pasha Jackson, a starter on the strong side for the last two years.

On the strong side, hard-hitting Clint Ingram and talented redshirt freshman Demarrio Pleasant will vie for time. In the middle, it's Mitchell, Chambers and Zach Latimer, a converted defensive end whose spring performance vaulted him squarely into the mainstream at the position.

The weakside spot will feature Allen, sophomore Lewis Baker, who saw action last season as a true freshman, and Rufus Alexander, who missed part of last season with a knee injury.

Russell Dennison, the kamikaze member of the Sooner special teams, is another player who will push for time.

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Players with starting experience at the position: Eric Bassey, Donte Nicholson, Brodney Pool, Antonio Perkins

It took a mighty big spotlight to capture Oklahoma's secondary last season. Cornerback Derrick Strait was nailing down the Nagurski and Thorpe Awards, while former All-American Brandon Everage was his same reckless self at free safety.

Donte Nicholson was the consensus Big 12 Defensive Newcomer of the Year at strong safety, Brodney Pool was the team's leader in interceptions (7) and Antonio Perkins, perhaps best known for his punt returns, was steady as a 14-game starter at corner.

Nicholson, Pool and Perkins return, and while Strait and Everage will be missed, the defensive backfield is well stocked.

Eric Bassey started every game at strong safety in 2002. Last season he got one start at corner and spent the rest of the season in a backup role at that position. Jowahn Poteat also has experience at corner.

SEASON OUTLOOK

Nickel back Brandon Shelby, whose penchant for blocked kicks and sacks has made him extremely valuable, also returns.

From there, a lengthy list of others hope to snag their first extensive time on the field. At corner, candidates like sophomore Jason Carter and redshirt freshman Darien Williams could emerge. At safety, the same could be said for redshirt freshman Tony Cade.

Junior college transfer Chijioke Onyenegecha came in at semester and will likely be in the hunt for a starting job at cornerback.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Players with starting experience at the position: Trey DiCarlo, Blake Ferguson, Antonio Perkins, Jejuan Rankins, Jacob Rice

With the exception of holder Matt McCoy, anyone who handled the ball on Oklahoma's special teams last season is back. Replacements for McCoy's job will be auditioned. Otherwise, it's the same cast.

For a guy who wasn't even on the team when practice convened for his freshman season (2002), K Trey DiCarlo, now a junior, has fashioned quite a career. He has made 35-of-44 field goals and 132-of-134 extra point kicks.

Last season, DiCarlo was one of three finalists for the Lou Groza Award when he set an NCAA record with 74 extra points, ranked No. 4 nationally in field goal accuracy (among kickers with at least 20 makes), No. 13 in scoring and No. 24 in field goals per game. He also boomed 46 touchbacks on kickoffs after getting just nine in the previous season.

Punter Blake Ferguson also upped his numbers in 2003. He increased his average by more than two yards and had one more punt downed inside the 20 (18 total), despite the fact that he had 14 fewer attempts. Ferguson is now a senior.

Perkins was all the rage last season when he set an NCAA record with four punt returns for touchdowns (he now has seven in his career). He also set two NCAA records against UCLA with three punt returns for touchdowns and 277 punt return yards. It will be interesting to see how opposing teams approach him in his senior season.

Perkins also returns kickoffs and will likely be paired with Jejuan Rankins, Mark Clayton or Mark Bradley in that role.

Long snapper Jacob Rice has completed his first two seasons with virtually no notice. That's because all 315 of his snaps, on either punts or placements, have been on the mark.

ANTONIO PERKINS

SOONER NOTEBOOK

SEASON NO. 110

This is the 110th season of football at OU. The state of Oklahoma itself turns just 97 this year. That difference always reinforces the signficance of Sooner football. OU played its first football game in 1895, just a little more than six years after the first major land run was staged in the territory in 1889.

JASON RETURNS

No, it's not a Friday The 13th sequel. Oklahoma's Heisman-winning quarterback Jason White, listed as a senior last year, received a ruling from the NCAA that allows him another year on the college level. White is the second Heisman winner since OU's Billy Sims in 1978 to return for an additional season. BYU's Ty Detmer, who won the award in 1990 as a junior, was the other.

SO DOES LANCE

When the 2003 season began, it did so with three seniors starting at linebacker for Oklahoma. Two starters return in 2004. That oddity came about as a result of a torn ACL for Lance Mitchell. The physical middle linebacker was felled in the third game of the season (Fresno State). His eventual replacement was Gayron Allen, then a junior. With Mitchell cleared for a hardship, both return for 2004. Mitchell was OU's leading tackler in 2003 with 124.

THE SCHEDULE

* Like most college teams, due to the rotation of the calendar, Oklahoma will revert to an 11-game regular season. The Sooners last played 11 regular season games in 2000.

* Oklahoma's Big 12 schedule rotates in terms of its three opponents from the North division. The Sooners begin two-year stints with Kansas (home), Kansas State (away) and Nebraska (home). The three teams that rotate off are Colorado, Iowa State and Missouri.

STADIUM PROJECT IN PHASE II

With Phase I, the most noticeable facet of construction at Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium completed, last summer's efforts concentrated on Phase II. Phase II work is confined to the west side of the stadium and concentrates on fan amenities.

ATTENDANCE RECORD COULD FALL AGAIN

Due to some reconfigured seating on the west side of the stadium, particularly in the Santee Lounge area (mid-level) the capacity of the facility is expected to increase. That construction was not completed at press time so the exact number was not yet known. It is possible that the attendance mark of 84,027 set last season could tumble in 2004. The listed seating capacity last season was 81,207, although that number was exceeded in each of the seven home games.

POLLING PLACE

* Oklahoma has the third longest active streak in terms of consecutive weeks in the Associated Press rankings. Michigan tops the list at 93, followed by Miami at 71 and OU at 69.

* Oklahoma has been ranked among the AP's top 10 in every week but one since Oct. 6, 2000. That one exception saw the Sooners dip to No. 11 prior to defeating Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl at the end of the 2001 season. That win vaulted them back into the top 10.

* The AP poll debuted in 1936. OU and Notre Dame are tied for the most weeks at No. 1 at 95. Ohio State is next at 74, followed by Miami at 69 and Florida State at 61.

NOW THAT'S RUNNING UP THE SCORE

Oklahoma is the highest scoring program in the history of college football. To date, the Sooners have scored 27,981 points. Michigan, which has played 71 more games than Oklahoma, is next at 27,898. OU needs just 19 tallies this season to hit 28,000.

LIVE SMALL, DREAM BIG

Oklahoma has produced four Heisman Trophy winners, including Jason White in 2003. White hails from Tuttle, Okla., population 4,294. That small town theme is in keeping with OU's Heisman history. The late Billy Vessels, the 1952 winner, was from Cleveland, Okla., pop. 3,067. Steve Owens, the 1969 winner, is from Miami, Okla., pop., 13,704, while 1978 winner, Billy Sims, is from Hooks, Texas, pop., 2,973. The combined populations of the communities that produced OU's four Heisman winners is 24,038.

LIGHTS, CAMERA...

Jason White was one of four Division I football players chosen to do NCAA commercials over the summer. White was flown down to Houston, Texas, to shoot the commercial on campus at the Rice University on May 25.

Each year, a handful of athletes are selected to appear in the spots that generally relate to the promotion of NCAA sports, sportsmanship, staying in school and other community service angles. White will be featured in two different commericials. The first commercial, focuses on issues including character and team work. The second spot focused on determination and hard work and showed White running the steps at Rice's football stadium.

The Sooner quarterback recorded a voice over in which he spoke about never giving up, regardless of the obstacle. Braylon Edwards (Michigan), Brock Berlin (Miami) and Marcus Spears (LSU) also shot commericials.

AND THE WINNER IS...

Oklahoma had an unprecedented seven natonal award winners last season (the previous best by a school in one year was five) and will push for more in 2004. Here are players who were listed prominently for some of those awards last season:

K Trey DiCarlo - Lou Groza Award finalist
C Vince Carter - Rimington Award finalist
WR Mark Clayton - Biletnikoff Award finalist
DE Dan Cody - Hendricks Award finalist

WATCH OUT

Some preaseason watch lists for college football's top awards had been released at press time. Here are the Oklahoma players that were listed ...

OT Jammal Brown - Lombardi Award
C Vince Carter - Rimington & Lombardi Awards
DE Dan Cody - Hendricks Award
Dusty Dvoracek - Lombardi Award
DE Jonathan Jackson - Hendricks Award

THE PICTURE OF CONSISTENCY

Antonio Perkins has been OU's punt returner for the last two seasons. In 2002, he set the school record for punt return yards in a season with 643. In 2003, he also claimed the No. 2 spot on that list with 642.

Perkins has three of the nine longest punt returns in school history. Perkins set the school record for career punt return yards in just his 25th game in that role. He has accumulated 1,285 yards entering his senior season.

ABOUT THE DEFENSE

* Oklahoma has forced at least one turnover in 59 of the last 66 games (Stoops' tenure) and has at least one interception in 46 of the last 54 contests. Perhaps even more impressive is the fact that OU has had multiple interceptions in 15 of the last 26 games.

* Sooner opponents have completed 50% of their passes just 28 times in the last 66 games.

* OU foes have scored 14 or more points just 26 times in the last 66 games.

* Under Stoops, the Sooners have six shutouts. Opponents failed to score more than seven points in 20 of the 66 games.

* Oklahoma has had at least 20 interceptions in four straight years (a total of 88 during that span). Never before had OU strung together three seasons with 20 picks.

SPECIAL TEAMS STUFF

A look at special teams notes from Bob Stoops' era as OU's head coach:

* There have been 20 special teams TDs, including 13 in the last 35 regular season games. Those 13 came via five different kinds of plays -- eight punt returns, two faked field goals, a blocked punt, a kickoff return and a faked punt. The special teams also own one safety.

* OU has returned five kickoffs and 11 punts for touchdowns.

* The Sooners have blocked 17 kicks.

* OU recovered its only onside kick attempt last season (at Colorado).

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

A look at the special teams under Bob Stoops:

Kickoff Returns: There have been 28 returns of 25 yards or more with five touchdowns.

Punt Returns: There have been 32 returns of 15 or more yards with 11 touchdowns.

Interceptions: There have been 45 returns of 10 or more yards with 11 touchdowns.

Fumbles: Three returns of 15 or more yards with three touchdowns.

2004 RULES CHANGES

* A glove may not have any additional material that connects any of the fingers and/or thumb.

* A camera, with no audio component, may be attached to cables that hang over the team area.

* An official shall allow a charged team timeout when requested by the head coach.

* Snapping the ball no longer necessary when an offense rushes quickly to line of scrimmage to create a defensive disadvantage.

* Delete possibility of pass interference when a kicker simulates a scrimmage kick.

* No player who runs forward and leaps in an obvious attempt to block a field goal or try, may land on opponent.

* The referee, if equipped with microphone, shall announce the number of player committing foul.

* Exempt defensive player who is blocked into passer from being penalized for roughing the passer.

HEAD COACH BOB STOOPS

History is one tough customer at Oklahoma. The tradition, so rich and so long-standing, is as daunting as it is impressive. To be among the best at Oklahoma is to be among the best in college football.

Such dramatics are lost on Bob Stoops. The Sooner head coach befriended the would-be albatross of OU's successful past from his first day on campus and remains steadfastly focused on tomorrow and the championship it holds.

It falls then to long-time observers and experts of the game to define Stoops' impact. Rarely have the pundits had it so easy.

Under Stoops, Oklahoma has won 55 games, spent 55 consecutive weeks in the national rankings, played in five bowl games, three of the BCS variety, and captured two Big 12 crowns. On a playing field leveled by scholarship limits and parity, this era stares down the Oklahoma standard and does not blink.

The achievement is so brilliant that it dulls the memory of what Stoops inherited. When he arrived in Norman, the proud Sooner program was fives years removed from a winning record; four from bowl play. Those atypical days of angst are so forgotten now that they might as well be categorized with the land rush and dust bowl.

Stoops has been characterized as a grounded family man, brilliant big-game coach, relentless recruiter, disciplined leader and a person with uncommon perspective. His success emanates from a disciplined style true to his roots in the Steel Valley of Ohio, but he is far from inflexible. The principles to which he holds are the tried and true axioms of the sport ... mixed with cutting edge strategy and an appreciation for the calculated risk.

During his time, OU has produced record–setting passers and receivers, a 1,000-yard rusher, suffocating defense and special teams units that rank among the most dynamic in the land. The Sooners have been nothing if not versatile.

The son of a coach, Stoops was a four-year starter at Iowa. He began his coaching career in 1983 as a volunteer in the Hawkeye program under Hayden Fry. He worked through the ranks until he became co-defensive coordinator at Kansas State (1991-95).

With the Wildcats, he played a key role in their impressive turnaround. During his final four seasons there, K-State was 35-12 with three bowl appearances.

Eventually, he left for Florida and a three-year stint as Steve Spurrier's defensive coordinator. In 1996, he was part of a national championship team. It was with the Gators that the spotlight found Stoops and made him one of the hottest names in the profession. His hiring at Oklahoma was one for the ages.

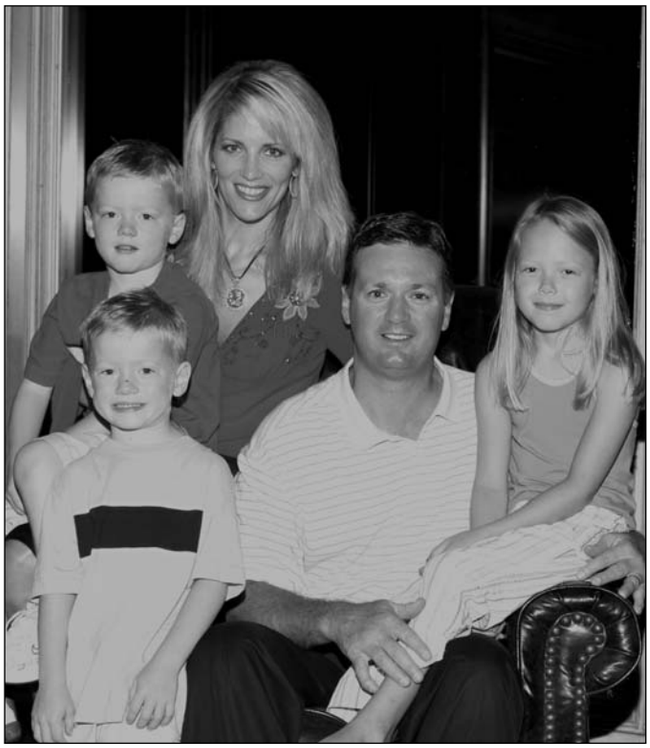
HEAD COACH



COACHING ACCOMPLISHMENTS AT OKLAHOMA

• Stoops is 55-11 overall. He is 3-2 in bowls, 3-1 in January bowls, 2-1 in BCS games, 34-7 vs. the Big 12, 20-5 vs. the Big 12 South, 14-2 vs. the Big 12 North, 2-1 in the Big 12 Championship game, 21-3 vs. non-conference foes, 30-1 at home, 16-6 on the road, 9-4 on neutral fields and 18-4.

• Oklahoma has set or tied 61 school records under Stoops, not including bowl bests and marks specific to a particular position (i.e., receptions by a running back).

• Stoops has authored two of the seven longest winning streaks in Oklahoma history. His 2000 and 2001 teams won 20 straight, while the 2002 and 2003 teams reeled off 14 in a row. Those victories all came against I-A opponents.

• His 2003 team tied the string for opening the season at and holding the No. 1 ranking -- 15 weeks. The Sooners have been No. 1 for 22 weeks during Stoops' tenure and have been ranked among the top 10 in every week but one since Oct. 6, 2000.

• The 2003 Sooners had unprecedented success on the awards trail, capturing seven of the major honors. Those seven awards were spread among four players, all of whom were recruited during the Stoops era.

• He has led Oklahoma to 48 wins over the last four years, the best victory total in the country during that span.

• Stoops led the 2000 team, his second at Oklahoma, to the national championship with a 13-2 victory over the Florida State Seminoles in the FedEx Orange Bowl.

• He became the first OU head coach to lead his first three squads to bowl berths. With the Sugar Bowl last season, he has now taken the Sooners to five straight, including four straight in January and three BCS games.

• His 2000 and 2002 teams won Big 12 Conference Championships. Stoops is the only active league coach with two Big 12 titles.

• Under Stoops, Oklahoma has produced 16 All-Americans. The 2003 team had seven All-Americans, the second highest total in school history (the 1975 team had eight).

• Sooner players have been heavily decorated since Stoops' arrival with two AP Players of the Year (Josh Heupel and Jason White), two Davey O'Brien Award winners (Josh Heupel and Jason White), two Bronko Nagurski Award winners (Roy Williams and Derrick Strait), two Jim Thorpe Award winners (Roy Williams and Derrick Strait), two Dick Butkus Award winners (Rocky Calmus and Teddy Lehman), one Chuck Bednarik Award winner (Teddy Lehman), one Lombardi Award winner (Tommie Harris) and one Mosi Tatupu Award winner (J.T. Thatcher). OU has had a Butkus finalist in each of the last four years and a Lombardi finalist in the last three.

• Every home game of Stoops' tenure, 31 in all, has been sold out.

• During his tenure, OU has had 23 national television appearances, 10 visits from ESPN's GameDay and six cover photos on Sports Illustrated.

• The team set a record football graduation rate of 65%, which ranks No. 2 in the Big 12 Conference in the most recently released figures.

• Success realized since Stoops arrived has spawned nearly $80 million in improvements to football facilities, all of which were funded by private contributions.

PREVIOUS COACHING ACCOMPLISHMENTS

• In 1996 and 1997, his Florida defense scored eight touchdowns. The 1996 Gators won the national championship.

• During his final four seasons in Manhattan, Kansas State posted a 35-12 record and played in three bowl games.

• He assisted KSU to its first 10-win season with a defense that allowed seven or fewer points in six games, including three shutouts. In 1995, his unit led the nation in total defense (250.8 ypg) with four DBs named All-Big Eight.

SPORTS MEDICINE

OKLAHOMA SPORTS MEDICINE

The Sooners have a team of sports medicine specialists providing high quality medical care. Head Athletic Trainer Scott Anderson and his staff, which was voted by their Conference peers as the "2000-2001 Big 12 Conference Athletic Training Staff of the Year," and the team physicians comprise the professional staff for which elite-level athletic medical experience is the hallmark.

Brock Schnebel, M.D., Head Team Physician for the 2000 United States Olympic Team, directs OU's physician staff. Don McGinnis, M.D., serves an Olympic Team assignment in addition to his responsibilities with the Sooners.

E. Randy Eichner, M.D., Team Internist, is internationally recognized for his expertise in medicine issues related to sports. Martin Tippie, M.D. completes the Sooners' primary physician staff.

The state-of-the-art Henry J. Freede Sports Medicine Complex in the Barry Switzer Center provides a convenient location for the Sooners to receive their care.

The Sports Medicine Staff provides consistent service on a daily basis which includes injury prevention and acute care, post-injury rehabilitation, x-ray, and physician assessment. Jim Hillis, a Registered Physical Therapist and Certified/Licensed Athletic Trainer, coordinates all rehabilitation protocols.

The combination of the staff and facility provide the care that is vital to a championship program. OU's facility is equipped with SwimEx aquatic therapy, isokinetic rehabilitation and testing equipment, along with cardiovascular and exercise equipment that offers the ability to manage the multi-level needs of OU's student-athletes.

The University of Oklahoma Sports Medicine Staff, in cooperation with the reasearch staff of the Gatorade Sports Science Institute, is conducting initial and ongoing research, among the first-ever onfield metabolic studies of NCAA Division I football players in action, providing novel and vital information on the dynamics of heat stress and suggesting practical solutions to the stresses that football players face that can be transferred to anyone exercising in the heat.

The information is being disseminated to sports medicine professionals, coaches, participants and parents at all levels of competition to help athletes exercise more safely in the heat.

The University of Oklahoma has a rich five decade history of setting a standard for sports medicine care, a tradition that continues today.

BRODNEY POOL

2003 SEASON

OKLAHOMA 37, NORTH TEXAS 3

GAME 1 | AUGUST 30, 2003 | GAYLORD FAMILY - OKLAHOMA MEMORIAL STADIUM (83,073) | NORMAN, OKLA.

GAME SUMMARY

NORMAN, Okla. — Jason White, in his debut after a second reconstructive knee surgery, fired three touchdown passes and Oklahoma's defense was dominant in a 37-3 win over two-time defending Sun Belt Conference champion North Texas.

The first of three Trey DiCarlo field goals gave the Sooners a lead on their initial possession. Scoring strikes from White to Jejuan Rankins (three yards) and Brandon Jones (64 yards) quickly made the lead comfortable.

North Texas had no success against the OU defense. The Sooners recovered a fumble, intercepted a pass and logged three sacks. Derrick Strait had seven tackles, a forced fumble and a pass deflection to spearhead the effort.

Oklahoma built a 30-0 lead before a late North Texas drive yielded a field goal. Reserve quarterback Paul Thompson then led a final scoring drive for OU.

GAME NOTES

• The game was the first in the enlarged Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium. The crowd of 83,073 marked the first of more than 80,000 to witness a sporting event in the state of Oklahoma. The Sooners wore retro uniforms that were representative of the uniforms worn by OU teams from 1946-1965. The last time OU wore similar uniforms was Dec. 4, 1965. The coaching staff donned sideline wear that emulated that worn by Barry Switzer's coaching staffs in the 1970s and 1980s.

• OU moved to 83-20-6 in season openers, including a 50-8-5 record in Norman. OU head coach Bob Stoops is 5-0 in home openers.

• Jejuan Rankins' three-yard touchdown reception from Jason White in the first quarter was the first reception and touchdown of his career. The last player to score a touchdown on his first career pass reception was Artie Guess in 1987 against Tulsa on a 21-yard pass.

• For the third consecutive time OU scored 37 points against North Texas: 37-9 in 1998; 37-10 in 2001 and 37-3 in '03.

2003 SEASON

OKLAHOMA 20, ALABAMA 13

GAME 2 | SEPTEMBER 6, 2003 | BRYANT-DENNY STADIUM (83,818) | TUSCALOOSA, ALA.

GAME SUMMARY

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.. -- A faked punt and a long scoring throw on the ensuing play spurred the Sooners to a 20-13 victory over Alabama. It was the first game in Tuscaloosa for Crimson Tide coach Mike Shula.

Late in the third quarter and with OU facing a fourth-and-10 from its own 30, Bob Stoops showed his nerves of steel by calling for the fake. Punter Blake Ferguson hit Michael Thompson on a pass play that went for 22 yards. On the next snap, Jason White fired a 47-yard bomb to Brandon Jones for the Sooners' final touchdown.

The Oklahoma lead stood at 20-10 and, despite a sprited comeback attempt by the Crimson Tide, the Sooners had the game in hand.

OU's defense logged six sacks and two interceptions to complement the big-play offense and strong kicking of Ferguson and Trey DiCarlo.

GAME NOTES

• The Sooners equalled the Stoops era high for sacks with six and allowed none.

GAME SUMMARY

NORMAN, Okla. -- Antonio Perkins set NCAA game records with 277 punt return yards and three punt returns for touchdowns as Oklahoma cruised past UCLA, 59-24.

OU trailed for the first time in five games when the visiting Bruins led 10-7 after one quarter, but the Sooners put up 21 unanswered points in the second frame, including TD returns of 74 and 84 yards by Perkins, to all but decide the issue.

Jason White was on again. The OU quarterback threw for 243 yards and two touchdowns in directing an efficient Sooner offense. Oklahoma mounted 354 yards despite being deprived of three possessions by Perkins' heroics.

The OU defense also scored a touchdown on Eric Bassey's 34-yard interception return.

GAME NOTES

• Derrick Strait did not start, thus ending his streak of 43 consecutive starts.

• OU defensive tackle Tommie Harris came in on fourth-and-one for the Sooners and lined up at tight end for his first career offensive snap.

• Renaldo Works' 15-yard touchdown run in the first quarter put him at exactly 1,000 career rushing yards. He is the 62nd player in OU history to record 1,000 career rushing yards.

• Oklahoma came in ranked No. 1. UCLA was unranked.

It marked the seventh punt return touchdown for the Lawton, Okla., junior, and the fourth of the season. The latter tied the NCAA record.

OKLAHOMA 34, COLORADO 20

GAME 8 | OCTOBER 25, 2003 | FOLSOM FIELD (54,215) | BOULDER, COLO.

GAME SUMMARY

BOULDER, Colo. -- Mark Clayton turned a sudden nailbiter into a more comfortable Oklahoma win with some late-game heroics. The Sooners prevailed in over the Buffs in Boulder, 34-20.

Oklahoma had led by 14-0 and 27-7 counts, but the upstart Buffaloes would not go away. CU closed to within 27-20 with 5:03 left before Clayton took center stage. On the ensuing drive, OU faced a third-and-six from its own 41. Jason White found Clayton with a short pass and the junior receiver ran 59 yards for a touchdown.

OU was dominant for much of the game, but hindered itself with an uncharacteristic three fumbles lost. The Sooners had lost just one for the season entering the game.

Renaldo Works picked up 130 yards on 20 carries and the OU defense gave up just 227 total yards to CU. The Buffs had just 99 yards at halftime, including a mere 22 on the ground in 15 attempts. Colorado quarterback Joel Klatt absorbed seven sacks.

GAME NOTES

• Oklahoma got its first win in Boulder since a 17-14 triumph in 1988.

• Trey DiCarlo executed the first onside kick of his career. He also recovered the kick.

• Donte Nicholson completed a streak of getting a sack in five straight games.

• Renaldo Works rushed for a career-high 130 yards.

• Oklahoma entered the game ranked No. 1. Colorado was unranked.

OKLAHOMA 52, OKLAHOMA STATE 9

GAME 9 | NOVEMBER 1, 2003 | GAYLORD FAMILY - OKLAHOMA MEMORIAL STADIUM (84,027) | NORMAN, OKLA.

GAME SUMMARY

NORMAN, Okla.. -- A much anticipated matchup fizzled early as Oklahoma dominated from wire to wire in every phase of the game while cruising to a 52-9 triumph.

The tone was set early and often by a suffocating Sooner defense that was all but blameless in the scoring process. The Cowboys got an 11-yard TD on an interception return and a field goal after a turnover by OU deep in its own territory. Oklahoma held OSU to 10 first downs (more than 12 below its average), 150 rushing yards (85.5 below its average) and 62 net passing yards (147 under its average). Dan Cody was a standout with three sacks, equalling the best ever by an OU player in the Bedlam series.

The Sooner offense rushed for 221 yards, including 103 from Renaldo Works and 86 from Kejuan Jones, while throwing for 225. Jason White tossed two touchdown strikes and ran for another TD. OU won for the 75th time in the 98-game series.

GAME NOTES

• WR Mark Bradley tossed a 17-yard pass to Mark Clayton. Bradley's father, Danny, was a quarterback at OU (1981-84) and the Bradleys became just the second father-son tandem to throw TD passes for the Sooners. The first was Ronnie (1962-64) and Patrick (1998-00) Fletcher.

• Bradley also caught a touchdown pass making him only the fourth player in school history to throw and catch a TD in the same game.

• The attendance of 84,027 set a stadium record and is the largest ever for a sporting event in the state of Oklahoma.

• Gayron Allen made his first career start.

• Oklahoma entered the game ranked No. 1. Oklahoma State was No. 14 in the Associated Press poll, No. 15 in the coaches' poll.

2003 SEASON

OKLAHOMA 77, TEXAS A&M 0

GAME 10 | NOVEMBER 8, 2003 | GAYLORD FAMILY - OKLAHOMA MEMORIAL STADIUM (83,461) | NORMAN, OKLA.

GAME SUMMARY

NORMAN, Okla. -- It wasn't perfect, but it was close. Oklahoma put together the complete football game in steamrolling Texas A&M, 77-0. And the most lopsided game in Big 12 and Texas A&M history might have been even more so had the OU staff not reined in its team.

Jason White, who completed his first 14 passes and finished 16-of-18 for 263 yards and five touchdowns, did not play in the second half. OU's final score came from the defense ... in the third quarter. The Sooners took a knee at the A&M six with more than six minutes remaining.

The decision to pull back resulted from a first half of truly amazing proportions. The Sooners scored touchdowns on seven of eight first half possessions.

Mark Clayton had three touchdown catches and six grabs for 166 yards. Both Donta Hickson and Kejuan Jones broke the 100-yard barrier. OU piled up 33 first downs while the Sooner defense permitted A&M only three, one on an Oklahoma penalty.

The Aggies never crossed the 50-yard line.

GAME NOTES

• OU tied the Big 12 record for points and set an OU record for victory margin.

• OU had two running backs over 100 yards for the first time since the 1999 Iowa State game when Quentin Griffin had 123 and Reggie Skinner 116.

• OU had 33 first downs to three for the Aggies -- the widest margin in Sooner history.

• Oklahoma scored 70 or more points for the 10th time in the modern era (since 1937).

• Oklahoma had its 30th consecutive sellout.

• OU entered the game ranked No. 1. The Aggies were unranked.

2003 SEASON

OKLAHOMA 41, BAYLOR 3

GAME 11 | NOVEMBER 15, 2003 | GAYLORD FAMILY - OKLAHOMA MEMORIAL STADIUM (82,117) | NORMAN, OKLA.

GAME SUMMARY

NORMAN, Okla. -- Oklahoma rang up 24 unanswered points in the first quarter then rode out a 41-3 victory. Jason White fired three touchdown passes, two to Mark Clayton, in the first quarter to end the proceedings early.

The win secured the Big 12 South title for Oklahoma.

White later fired another TD strike to finish with four on the day. It was a school record-setting day. White set the mark for most TD passes in a season, Clayton established a new mark for career receiving yards and Antonio Perkins eclipsed the previous best for career punt return yards.

Senior safety Matt McCoy, playing his final OU home game, had an interception return for 18 yards and a fumble return for six. The Sooner offense converted both takeaways into points (one field goal and one touchdown).

The one downside for the Sooners was the fact that they surrendered five sacks in the game. Renaldo Works, OU's leading rusher for the season, sat out a second straight game with a bruised back.

GAME NOTES

• Oklahoma completed a 7-0 home season, a first in school history. There had been several unbeaten home marks, but none in a season that included seven games.

• Jason White's 47-yard pass to Mark Clayton in the first quarter set the single season TD pass record at Oklahoma.

• Derrick Strait made his 50th career start, an OU record.

• Antonio Perkins' 57-yard punt return late in the first quarter moved him into first place in the OU record books for career punt return yardage.

• Matt McCoy came up with the eighth and ninth takeaways of his career. He picked off a pass late in the first half, then recovered a fumble in the fourth quarter.

• OU entered the game ranked No. 1. Baylor was unranked.

OKLAHOMA 56, TEXAS TECH 25

GAME 12 | NOVEMBER 22, 2003 | SBC JONES STADIUM (53,135) | LUBBOCK, TEXAS

GAME SUMMARY

LUBBOCK, Texas -- Oklahoma trailed for just the second time during the regular season, but that didn't last long. The Sooner defense took over the game in the second quarter and the pinpoint passing of Jason White led OU to a convincing 56-25 victory over Texas Tech.

The Red Raider offense came into the game ranked No. 1 in the nation in total yards and passing, but had little success against Oklahoma's top-rated defense. The Sooners intercepted Tech quarterback B.J. Symons five times.

The haymaker came late in the first half when OU rang up 21 points in a span of just 2:45.

After marching 60 yards in seven plays to build a 21-10 lead, the Sooner offense got some gift field position courtesy of the OU defense.

On Tech's subsequent drive, Brodney Pool picked off a pass on the first play and returned it 28 yards to the Red Raider seven. Two plays later, Kejuan Jones crashed in from one yard out. Another one-play possession followed for Tech when Gayron Allen intercepted Symons and returned it to the 27.

The Sooners used seven plays to cover the 27 yards and up the lead to 35-10. The outcome was settled at that point.

GAME NOTES

• Trey DiCarlo tied the NCAA record for point after touchdown kicks with his 71st of the season.

• Brodney Pool had two interceptions in a game for the second time during the season (also at Iowa State).

• OU held Tech 18 points and 134 total yards under its averages.

• Kejuan Jones scored five touchdowns, four rushing and one on a 77-yard swing pass. It tied for the second highest number of TDs ever scored by a Sooner.

• Derrick Strait's 97-yard interception return was the longest non-scoring play in OU history.

KANSAS STATE 35, OKLAHOMA 7

GAME 13 | DR PEPPER BIG 12 CHAMPIONSHIP | DECEMBER 6, 2003 | ARROWHEAD STADIUM (79,451) | KANSAS CITY, MO.

GAME SUMMARY

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -- Oklahoma, like it had all year, struck early and appeared to be headed for another big victory. Then Kansas State righted itself, kept the Sooners from cashing in on several early opportunities, and then roared to a 35-7 triumph in the Dr Pepper Big 12 South Championship Game at Kansas City.

Oklahoma's first possession became the 11th initial possession of the year to yield points when Kejuan Jones sprinted 42 yards around left end. The drive covered 65 yards in just four plays and seemed to set the tone. And it might very well have done so if Oklahoma had exploited more of its early opportunities. Five more times in the half, the Sooners marched into K-State territory, including one trip to the 25 and another to the five. A missed field goal and an interception in the end zone left the most promising penetrations empty of points.

The Wildcats caught fire in the meantime behind quarterback Ell Roberson, who tossed four touchdown passes, and the explosive play of running back Darren Sproles. Sproles rushed 22 times for 235 yards (most ever against an OU team) and caught three passes for another 88 and one touchdown.

The outcome left Oklahoma atop the BCS standings and bound for the Nokia Sugar Bowl, and vaulted Kansas State into the BCS mix as an entrant in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

GAME NOTES

- Kejuan Jones' 42-yard TD run was his longest of the season.
- Trey DiCarlo saw his string of 14 consecutive field goals made end with a pair of misses. He tied the school record for consecutive makes in one season.
- KSU's 63-yard and 60-yard TD passes were the two longest passes from scrimmage allowed by OU this season.
- Jason White's 50 pass attempts were the most of his career.
- The nation's longest winning streak was snapped at 14.

2003 SEASON

LSU 21, OKLAHOMA 14

GAME 14 | NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP - NOKI SUGAR BOWL | JANUARY 4, 2004 | LOUISIANA SUPERDOME (79,342) | NEW ORLEANS, LA.

GAME SUMMARY

NEW ORLEANS, La. -- Oklahoma's late comeback bid fell short and LSU won the BCS national championship, 21-14, on the strength of a suffocating defense.

The Tigers allowed OU just 154 yards of offense and 13 completions in 37 passing attempts while sacking Sooner QB Jason White five times. Twice LSU picked off OU passes and both times the takeaways resulted in points. The first one set up a three-play, 32-yard drive. Skyler Green's 24-yard run gave LSU the lead at 7-0.

Oklahoma fought back to tie the score in the second quarter when Jason Carter blocked a punt that Russell Dennison recovered at the LSU two. Three plays later, Kejuan Jones barreled over from one yard out to square things at 7-7.

LSU then made a statement. The Tigers marched 80 yards in nine plays with Justin Vincent covering the last 18 for the TD.

The outset of the second half soured quickly for OU. White was sacked on the first play then threw an interception on the second. Marcus Spears returned the pick 20 yards for a touchdown and LSU had a 21-7 lead.

Brodney Pool's 49-yard interception return on the first play of the fourth quarter ignited Oklahoma's rally. Jones capped the 31-yard drive with another one-yard plunge to cut the margin to 21-14.

Two series later, OU drove to the LSU 12, but six straight passes fell incomplete, the last with 2:46 remaining, and any hope for a tying score was gone.

Perhaps lost in the setback was the effort of the Oklahoma defense. LSU had 312 total yards, but 64 came on the game's first play, a rush, on a drive that yielded no points.

GAME NOTES

- Oklahoma lost back to back games for the first time since 1999.

- The Sooners were playing in their second BCS game in a row, their third in the last four seasons. They also were in the national title game for the second time in four years.

- Senior CB Derrick Strait made his school-record fifth fumble recovery of the season. He extended his school record with his 53 career starts and tied his career high with 11 tackles.

GAME SUMMARY

This was the first Orange Bowl that featured two national powers as both teams were undefeated and untied. To lure the Sooners to Miami, the Orange Bowl director circled the Norman campus, leaving chalk messages that promoted the game. Tennessee's powerful ground attack was too much for the Sooners, winners of 14 straight, as the Volunteers raced to a 17-0 victory in the fifth annual Orange Bowl. The victory was the 13th straight for the Vols, who were coached by Major Bob Neyland. The game was considered to be the roughest of all bowl games played that year as both teams combined for more than 200 yards in penalties.

GAME SUMMARY

In a game that featured two of the marquee names in college football at the time, Oklahoma blasted North Carolina State 34-13 before an overflowing crowd of 10,000 in the second annual Gator Bowl. The Sooners did not take long to get on the scoreboard, two minutes to be exact, on an Eddie Davis one-yard plunge. N.C. State roared back to even the score, but OU put the game out of reach by scoring 20 second-quarter points and coasted from there. The marquee matchup was made possible because of the Tournament of Roses committee decision to match representatives of the Western Athletic Conference (now the Pac Ten) and the Big Nine, (now the Big 10). This agreement made it possible for teams not waiting for a possible Rose Bowl berth to be picked by the Gator Bowl committee.

GAME SUMMARY

It was legendary Coach Bud Wilkinson's first bowl game as the fifth-ranked and underdog Sooners took on the third-ranked and unbeaten North Carolina Tar Heels accompanied by their All-America tailback Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice. Oklahoma upset the 'Heels with the big play coming in the first quarter as linebacker Myrle Greathouse intercepted a pass and returned it 70 yards to set up Jack Mitchell's one-yard run. The Sooners never trailed after that.

GAME SUMMARY
Wilkinson's team was rated second in the nation and it was the first one of his squads to post an undefeated record, 10-0. The game was one-sided and still stands as the largest margin of victory in OU bowl history. One of the many Sooner big plays was Leon Heath's OU bowl record-breaking 86-yard TD run. The game was marred by an early-week incident where a former LSU player was caught spying on Sooner practices. It was the only time in Wilkinson's career that he publicly blasted an opponent.

GAME SUMMARY

OU lost a bowl-record five fumbles in falling behind 13-0. A fourth quarter 17-yard TD pass by Billy Vessels narrowed the margin but a come-from-behind effort was foiled by an interception in the final minute of play.

It was the first game of the contract that pitted the Big Seven champion against the Atlantic Coast Conference champ. Maryland came into the game as the regular season national champion with OU rated fourth. Twice, the Terrapins had first down with the ball inside the 10-yard line, and both times the Sooner defense refused to allow any points on the scoreboard. Sooner tailback Larry Grigg scored the only TD of the game with a 25-yard scamper in the second period. The '54 bowl game was the first bowl game in which the players had to play both ways. Sooner hero Grigg also played defensive back.

Oklahoma got only six first downs, lost the total offense battle (328 yards to 279) and picked up an OU bowl-record 165 yards in penalties, but used two interception returns for TD, including an OU bowl record 94-yarder from David Baker, two fumble recoveries, a blocked punt and a bad snap from center to win going away. The 48 points marked an all-time OU bowl record that stood until matched by the '91 Gator Bowl team.

The Sooners were led by Prentice Gautt, now Senior Associate Commissioner of the Big 12, who scored the game's first TD on the second play of the game with a 42-yard run. Gautt averaged an OU bowl-record 15.7-yards every time he touched the ball. It was the Sooners' fourth straight Orange Bowl victory. Oklahoma ended the season rankedfifth in the nation, its only loss a one-pointer to Texas.

GAME SUMMARY
It was Bud Wilkinson's last bowl game. Paul "Bear" Bryant, coaching his alma mater, repeated his victory as the coach at Kentucky in the '51 Sugar Bowl with a 17-0 triumph. LB Lee Roy Jordan, the MVP, and quarterback Joe Namath led the Crimson Tide to the victory. The Sooners had first and goal twice in the first half, but fumbles ended OU's chances and the Sooners never really threatened again. The lone highlight for the Oklahoma team was a visit by President John F. Kennedy to the Sooners' locker room. Although President Kennedy claimed neutrality, it was obvious by the grimace on his face he was backing the Oklahoma team.

GAME SUMMARY
Florida State used a sophisticated passing attack to win easily. To add insult to injury, four of the Seminoles' TD passes were thrown on fourth-down plays. Four Oklahoma players had been found ineligible the night before the game because they had signed pro contracts which was in violation of NCAA rules. FSU wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff finished the game with 13 receptions for 192 yards and four TDs.

Tennessee came back to narrow the Sooner lead to 19-17 before Oklahoma defensive back Bob Stephenson picked off a pass and raced 24 yards to give OU an all important insurance TD. The Sooners desperately needed the insurance when Dewey Warren plowed in from a yard out. The Volunteers then missed a potential game-winning field goal as the gun went off.

The "bone" produced 349 yards rushing and TD runs of 58 and 25 yards by All-American Greg Pruitt, but the Sooners still needed a late field goal by Bruce Derr to forge the tie.

QB Jack Mildren, playing in the final game of his brilliant college career, scored a Sugar Bowl record three times. The Sooner defense posted a shutout while allowing only 11 first downs and 49 yards rushing the entire game. It was the first year that freshmen were eligible and Sooner wide receiver Tinker Owens celebrated with five catches, good for 132 yards and one touchdown. It was also the last game for Sooner head coach Chuck Fairbanks who left for the NFL the following spring.

It was OU's first bowl trip under legendary OU head coach Barry Switzer and a storybook setting. Ohio State, the No. 1-ranked team in the country, had lost in the Rose Bowl earlier in the afternoon. The upset gave the Sooners an opportunity to win the national championship if they could beat the Michigan Wolverines coached by Bo Schembechler. A 39-yard end around by Billy Brooks and a nine-yard keeper by Steve Davis were enough for a 14-6 victory and a fifth national championship.

GAME SUMMARY

Called by Barry Switzer, "the most disappointing loss of my career," OU was a victim of one of the biggest upsets in bowl history. When Notre Dame downed Texas in the Cotton Bowl, OU was in the running for a national championship. A big win over Arkansas might impress the voters and secure the crown for the Sooners. As a result, Switzer went against his own strategy by choosing to receive the opening kickoff rather than play defense. OU fumbled inside its own 10 on the third play of the game and Arkansas immediately scored for a lead it never relinquished.

GAME SUMMARY

A truly amazing turn of events produced a rematch after Nebraska's victory in November. The Sooners, ranked number one with one loss, had lost a heartbreaker to the Cornhuskers, 17-14, on a late fumble at the NU three-yard line. When the Huskers were upset the following week by Missouri, producing a Big Eight championship tie, the Orange Bowl officials came up with the idea of a rematch, much to the Sooners' joy and the Huskers' shock. It went as predicted: an OU victory. The Sooners were led by Heisman Trophy winner Billy Sims and quarterback Thomas Lott, who each scored twice as OU cruised to a 31-10 lead after three periods of play.

GAME SUMMARY

The Big Eight Champion Sooners met an undefeated Florida State team on New Year's night. After the Seminoles took a 7-0 first-quarter lead, OU unleashed 17 second-quarter points to take the lead for good. J.C. Watts was named Orange Bowl MVP on offense. He scored on a 61-yard option play and rushed for more than 100 yards. Bud Hebert, who recorded three interceptions, earned the award on defense. Billy Sims wrapped up his brilliant collegiate career scoring on a 22-yard pitch from Watts. OU finished third in the country and won the Orange Bowl for the third time in five tries under Switzer. The Seminoles crossed midfield only two times after the first quarter and never passed the 35-yard line.

GAME SUMMARY

This contest featured a rematch with a great deal more excitement as OU turned to a foreign weapon, the pass, to notch its third straight Orange Bowl win. QB J.C. Watts was chosen MVP and with good reason. The Seminoles used a fourth-quarter TD to break a 10-10 tie and seemingly gain control. OU was forced to start deep in its own territory after the kickoff with little time left. Watts went to work and passed the Sooners to the 11-yard line where he hit Steve Rhodes with a TD strike to pull the Sooners to within one with less than a minute to go. Watts then proceeded to hit tight end Forrest Valora for the two-point conversion that gave the Sooners their ninth Orange Bowl victory, including three in the last four years. OU finished ranked No. 3 in the nation.

Freshman Fred Sims rolled up 181 yards rushing in the game after rushing for just 179 in the regular season.

Dupree ran wild early, amassing 239 yards before recurrent leg injuries forced him out in the third quarter. The turning point came when OU punter Michael Keeling could not get his punt away and was forced to throw an illegal pass. The Devils took over at the OU 43 and later scored when Darryl Clack raced 15 yards for at TD.

GAME SUMMARY
Brigham Young was No. 1 in the polls, but Sooner head coach Barry Switzer had argued that the Sooners should be No. 1 because of a tougher schedule. A win over a fine Husky team would solidify that claim. However, Washington refused to cooperate and turned a 17-14 fourth-quarter deficit into a 28-17 triumph. The game was marked by a bizarre incident when, after an OU field goal, the Sooner Schooner raced onto the field as called for by tradition. The only problem was the drivers apparently had not received the proper permission for the trip. The team was penalized 15 yards and the loss of the three points.

A swarming defense, a record field goal performance and two big plays helped Oklahoma defeat Penn State to capture both the Orange Bowl and its sixth national championship. Butkus Award winner Brian Bosworth had 13 solo tackles and the OU secondary picked off four Penn State passes to thwart any rallies. Tim Lashar booted an Orange Bowl record four field goals to give the Sooners an early lead. Lydell Carr and Keith Jackson then provided big plays, a 61-yard jaunt by Carr and a 71-yard pass play from Jamelle Holieway to Jackson.

The Sooners' hopes of winning their seventh national championship were put to rest by the Miami Hurricanes, 20-14, in a game not as close as the score indicated. The Hurricanes took the opening kickoff and moved 65 yards in eight plays for a 7-0 lead, then never looked back. The Sooner offense, which led the nation in six categories, was held to only 179 rushing yards and 255 overall. Late in the fourth quarter, the Sooners scored on a 29-yard fumblerooski which gave the OU faithful a flicker of hope. The Hurricane defenders blew it out when they sacked quarterback Charles Thompson and caused a fumble to ensure the victory.

On the Sooners' last possession, OU took the ball over on its own 20 with 2:59 left on the clock. QB Jamelle Holieway, playing in his final game, scampered 11 yards on a fourth down to keep the drive alive. Holieway then completed passes of five, seven, four, 12, seven, 12 and 13 yards, to get OU inside the Tiger 14 with 12 seconds remaining. Two desperation heaves by Holieway dropped incomplete to end all Oklahoma hopes.

The Sooners scored touchdowns on four of their first five possessions to put the game out of reach before halftime. The OU defense never allowed the Cavaliers inside the 20. The 48 points tied the OU bowl game record (48-21 over Duke in the '58 Orange Bowl) and broke the Gator Bowl mark of 37 set by Pittsburgh in 1980.

GAME SUMMARY

QB Cale Gundy brilliantly guided Oklahoma's offense and the Sooner defense slowed Doak Walker Award winner Bam Morris as OU picked up a 41-10 win. OU scored the first two times it had the ball. Another Gundy TD pass boosted the lead to 21-3. Just over a minute later, the game MVP hit again and OU was cruising at halftime 28-3. Meanwhile, the nation's second-leading rusher was held to just 95 yards by the Sooners.

The Sooners started reserve QB Terence Brown, who had completed one of three passes on the season. Season starter Garrick McGee had contracted spinal meningitis and was unable to play. OU's defense surrendered 485 yards and four touchdowns through the air. BYU's John Walsh set Copper Bowl records for completions (31) and TD passes (4). OU LB Broderick Simpson was Defensive Player of the Game with 13 tackles, a sack and a broken up pass.

GAME SUMMARY
Top-ranked Oklahoma used a smothering defense to shut down the third-ranked Seminoles and Josh Heupel generated enough offense to lead OU to a perfect season. As the nation's only unbeaten team, the Sooners were the unanimous winners of the Associated Press media poll. And they were automatically crowned national champs in the coaches' poll under the Bowl Championship Series format. Led by Orange Bowl MVP Torrance Marshall, the Sooners time and again forced FSU's Chris Weinke into bad decisions. Tim Duncan kicked two field goals and Quentin Griffin scored the clinching touchdown on a 10-yard run up the middle with 8:30 to play. Florida State avoided its first shutout in 12 seasons when Stanford Samuels tackled Oklahoma punter Jeff Ferguson in the end zone for a safety with 55 seconds remaining.

GAME SUMMARY
Arkansas' defense played well, but few will remember. Oklahoma's defense was that much better. The final statistics were as chilling and stark as the weather. The Razorbacks, who reached OU territory just two times, could muster only 13 passing yards on two completions while their rushing attempts (42) outnumbered their rushing yards (37). Sooner defenders tied a school and Cotton Bowl record with a whopping nine sacks. Late in the first quarter, Oklahoma set sail on a 13-play, 63-yard scoring drive that culminated in a one-yard sneak by quarterback Nate Hybl. Along the way, the Sooners converted two third downs and one fourth. The resulting touchdown and PAT made the rest of the afternoon academic. OU added a 32-yard field goal by Tim Duncan in the third frame to build a 10-0 advantage that felt like twice that given the play of the defense. Arkansas, aided by penalties, finally scratched out a field goal, but no serious threat to the outcome was ever mounted.

GAME SUMMARY
Oklahoma dominated the Pac 10 champs in the Sooners' first trip to the Rose Bowl. OU's defense logged six sacks and two interceptions to set the tone. Rose Bowl MVP Nate Hybl tossed two TD passes and Quentin Griffin rushed for 144 yards as the OU offense wore down the Cougars. The defining moment came with 1:09 left in the first half when Antonio Perkins returned a WSU punt 51 yards for a touchdown. OU was up 17-0 and the outcome was settled. Oklahoma became just the fourth school to win the four BCS games and the Cotton Bowl.

GAME SUMMARY

Riding its defense, LSU won the BCS title, 21-14. Oklahoma entered the game as the naton's top scoring offense, but struggled against the Tigers. The OU defense gave a good account too, surrendering 64 of LSU's 312 total yards on a non-scoring run on the Tigers' first snap. Still, it was the LSU defenders who stole the show. DE Marcus Spears returned an interception 20 yards for a TD on the first series of the second half and seemingly opened the floodgates. But OU stiffened and got its running game untracked. After pulling within seven at 21-14, the Sooners made another push to the LSU 12, but missed on four straight pass attempts, the last one with just 2:46 left. Mistakes plagued Oklahoma as evidenced by a season-high 11 penalties, several of which came at crucial times, negating big Sooner plays and opportunities. The crowd was the largest ever to see a sporting event in the Louisiana Superdome.

Game Summary

In one of the most exciting come-from-behind victories in the history of Oklahoma football, the Sooners finished off the Texas A&M Aggies, 34-28. The Sooners looked like they were going to tie up the game as future Heisman Trophy winner Billy Vessels received a touchdown pass from Claude Arnold. But kicker Jim Weatherall, who had converted his last seven kicks, missed the conversion, leaving the Sooners one point down with 3:36 left in the game. A&M was unable to move the ball as the tough Sooner defense forced the Aggies to punt with just 1:46 left in the game. Arnold came into the game and orchestrated a beautiful 69-yard drive in which he completed four of five passes. Fullback Leon Heath went in for the winning touchdown from four yards out with just 37 seconds left in the game. A game full of big scoring plays, Heath had scored in the second quarter on a 25-yard run. He then caught a 50-yard pass from Arnold that put the Sooners up 14-7. The Aggies tied the game when Bill Tidwell scored on a 75-yard run that would close out the scoring in the first half. The Sooners finished off the Aggies in the second half for their 23rd win in a row on their way to OU's first national championship.

Game Summary

Billy Vessels scored three touchdowns and rushed for 195 yards against the Notre Dame Fighting Irish, but it wasn't enough to stop a fourth-quarter rally by the "Golden Domers." Vessels, who accounted for all the Sooners' scoring, had touchdown runs of 63 and 47 yards along with a 28-yard scoring reception. Fourth-ranked Oklahoma came into this game as a 14-point favorite, riding a 13-game unbeaten streak. OU was plagued by turnovers all day, finishing with five fumbles and an interception. Irish coach Frank Leahy used a number of different offensive weapons. That included backup quarterback Tom Carey, who went in for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter after a fumbled kickoff that was recovered by the Irish at the Oklahoma 24-yard line. Notre Dame starting QB Ralph Gugliemi combined with Carey on 13-of-22 passing for 135 yards. The ground attack for the Irish was led by fullback Neil Warden, who had two touchdowns, and future Heisman Trophy winner John Lattner, who finished with 75 yards on 26 carries. Warden's second touchdown tied the game just a few minutes into the fourth quarter. Lattner's biggest play of the day would come on the defensive side when he recovered Vessel's fumble at the Notre Dame 20-yard line late in the fourth quarter to save the victory for the Irish.

Game Summary

After winning a national championship in only his second season, head coach Barry Switzer had his team on track to repeat. The Sooners had lost the previous week to Kansas, but would still be the Big Eight champ with wins over Missouri and Nebraska to close out the season. Oklahoma used an unbalanced line in the first half that gave the Tigers trouble and allowed OU quarterback Steve Davis to run the wishbone to perfection. Down 20-0 at halftime, Missouri used adjustments on both sides of the ball to come back and take the lead in the second half. With Missouri up 21-20 and 5:35 left in the game, Tiger tailback Curtis Brown fumbled at the two-yard line after a 21-yard gain. Slotback Randy Grossart recovered the ball and took it in for what looked like the nail in the coffin for the Sooners. When Missouri kicker Tim Gibbons missed his first extra point in 31 attempts, leaving the Tigers up 27-20, the Sooner offense seemed to gain life. Halfback Joe Washington made one of the most exciting runs of his career on a pitch from Davis. Crossing the goal line after a 71-yard run with just 4:20 left in the game. On the two-point conversion, the Sooners ran the same play with Washington bulling into the end zone over Missouri's All-Big Eight cornerback Kenny Downing.

Game Summary

Uwe von Schamann's game-winning 41-yard field goal was described by head coach Barry Switzer as "one of the greatest plays I've ever seen anywhere. Kicking a field goal like that with two time-outs called to let him think about it." With just two seconds left, von Schamann's field goal gave the third-ranked Sooners a 29-28 win over No. 4 Ohio State in front of 88,119 fans at Ohio Stadium. Oklahoma had jumped out to a 20-0 lead following von Schamann's second field goal in the second quarter. On OU's next possession, starting quarterback Thomas Lott went down with an injury to his left knee. Ohio State scored four touchdowns in a row to take the lead 28-20. With just 6:24 left in the game, middle guard Reggie Kinlaw recovered a fumble by Buckeye quarterback Greg Castignola. Oklahoma scored in 12 plays on Elvis Peacock's one-yard dive on fourth down. The Sooners were unsuccessful on the two-point conversion forcing an onside kick. OU's Mike Babb recovered the kick at the 50-yard line with 1:21 left in the game. Five plays later, with Switzer on his hands and knees, von Schamann calmly stepped up and hit the 41-yard winner.

Game Summary

With talk of a winless season growing louder, Oklahoma's first win in 1996 could not have been any sweeter. Sparked by a rejuvenated James Allen and an inspired Sooner defense, OU shocked the the heavily favored Texas Longhorns, 30-27. Stopped short of the goal line for what could have been the game winner in 1994, Allen returned to the Cotton Bowl possessed. He accounted for 210 yards of total offense, including 159 yards on the ground. His two-yard scamper in overtime gave OU the win. Texas jumped to an early 10-0 lead, but OU responded with a 13-point second quarter to take a 13-10 lead. The third quarter proved to be a defensive struggle. Neither team scratched the scoring column, setting up a dramatic fourth quarter and overtime. Trailing 24-13 midway through the fourth, freshman Jarrail Jackson took a Longhorn punt 51 yards for a Sooner touchdown. After a two-point conversion pass cut the deficit to 24-21, OU's defense was able to hold the high-powered Texas offense. Jeremy Alexander then booted a 44-yard field goal to tie the game setting the stage for Allen's game winner in the extra period. Linebacker Broderick Simpson paced the defense with 10 tackles, but it was Allen's heroics that many will recall.

Game Summary

The Sooners, who built big leads before losing to Notre Dame and Texas in their two previous games, scored on their first six possessions and steamrolled 10th-ranked Texas A&M, 51-6. The Aggies had beaten Oklahoma by a combined score of 80-7 the past two years, but had no answers for the Sooners' offense. As a result, the Aggies suffered the third-worst defeat in the program's 105-year history. Josh Heupel ran the offense to near perfection, sneaking in for three touchdowns and getting three more through the air. He finished 31-of-50 for 372 yards with one interception. The Aggies seemed confused by Oklahoma's variety of formations and plays. The Sooners used a hook-and-lateral, successfully faked a punt and field goal, tossed three shovel passes that went for big gains, and at times lined up with three receivers on each side of the field and only three interior linemen. Heupel threw 40 times in the first half alone, when Oklahoma had the ball for 22 minutes, ran 60 plays and picked up 20 first downs. It was 27-0 before the Aggies finally scored on a 37-yard pass from Randy McCown to Chris Taylor. McCown came in nearly averaging 255 yards per game passing, but was just 9-of-21 for 131 yards before leaving the game midway through the third quarter with a separated left shoulder.

HEISMAN WINNERS

BILLY VESSELS

1952 HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER

Billy "Curly" Vessels was the man who started it all. The first Sooner to win college football's most prestigious individual achievement award, Vessels led the Sooners to a 26-4-1 record during his tenure. The 1950 Sooners, under the direction of head coach Bud Wilkinson, went 10-1 to give the Sooners their first of seven national championships. A sophomore, Vessels started on the 1950 squad, scoring 15 touchdowns.

But Vessels' most successful individual season came during his senior campaign when he won the Heisman Trophy. Vessels rushed for 1,072 yards on 167 carries and scored 17 touchdowns. Creating a new meaning for the word "versatile," the Cleveland, Okla., slasher was part of every phase of the Sooner offensive attack. Vessels was even a threat from above. "Curly" connected on seven passes for two touchdowns in 1952.

The 1952 Sooners went 8-1-1, finishing fourth in the nation, and won the university's ninth conference title. OU opened with a 21-21 tie with Colorado and then reeled off five straight wins, averaging 46.0 points a game. OU dropped a 27-21 loss to Notre Dame and then finished strong by sweeping the last three games.

Vessels, one of the first great Sooners, stands as OU's 19th-ranked rusher with 2,085 yards.

HEISMAN WINNERS

STEVE OWENS

1969 HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER

Steve Owens was a 6-2, 215-pound powerhouse from Miami, Okla., who ravaged defenses from 1967-69, setting four conference records of the day.

OU's workhorse carried the ball 358 times (a Sooner record) in 1969 for 1,523 yards while scoring 23 touchdowns (another school record). Playing on a 1969 squad that had been hurt badly by graduation in 1968, Owens carried the load for the Sooner offense. Owens had two 200-plus yard games while leading the Sooners to a 6-4 season. Spurred by Owens' effort, OU averaged 28.5 points a game in 1969.

The great career of Steve Owens left its mark on the OU record book. Owens holds five Sooner records. He is the school's all-time leading scorer with 56 touchdowns during his career. Owens holds the record for the most carries in a game (55) and career (905). He finished his career with 3,867 yards on the ground, the second most in school history.

HEISMAN WINNERS

BILLY SIMS

1978 HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER

Billy Sims, a 6-0, 205-pound junior from Hooks, Texas, swept through defenses like a tornado flying across the Oklahoma landscape.

He set a Big Eight single-season rushing record in 1978 with 1,762 yards on 231 carries. Sims led the nation in rushing, averaging more than 7.0 yards per carry. He topped the 200-yard mark in four different games (a school best) during the 1978 season.

Sims led the Sooners to an 11-1 record, Orange Bowl championship and third-place finish in the final poll. OU opened with a 35-29 win over Stanford and then crushed West Virginia and Rice by a combined score of 118-17. The Sooners rolled over Texas and the first five games of the conference schedule heading into the Nebraska game. Sims ran for 153 yards, but it was not enough as the Sooners fell, 17-14. OU responded by clubbing OSU, 62-7, and then was rematched with the Cornhuskers in the Orange Bowl. OU edged Nebraska 31-24 in the second meeting between the top-10 schools.

HEISMAN WINNERS

JASON WHITE

2003 HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER

Jason White's Heisman story will forever rank among the most unlikely. Reconstructive surgery on each knee in successive years had left most people doubting the Oklahoma quarterback's ability to finish a season, much less do so among the nation's most heralded players.

Only those who knew his fortitude and had watched the lonely rehabilitation work gave White much of a chance. But even that group had to admit some surprise at the outcome. White became the trigger man for the country's most potent offensive attack. At a school where the points have flowed like an Oklahoma gusher, White led the OU team that outscored all of its predecessors (601 total points).

He did so with uncanny accuracy, especially on deep throws, and a touchdown to interception ratio (40 to 10), so gaudy that it read like a typographical error.

Ironically, White was so effective that the lack of time he played became one of the selling points for his Heisman candidacy. He and his teammates often enjoyed such wide leads that White was benched in the name of sportsmanship. He finished just four games and sat out a total of one hour and 27 minutes -- the equivelant of one full game, a full quarter and 12 minutes of another.

White was on the bench for the entire second half against Texas A&M (after going 16-of-18 in the first half -- including a school record 16 straight completions) and sat out at least 11 minutes in three other contests, including the Red River Shootout against Texas.

In addition to the consecutive completions mark, he set school records for touchdown passes in a season (40) and game (5, twice). His season passing total ranked No. 2 at OU. He was No. 4 nationally in touchdown percentage (8.87), No. 7 in passing efficiency (158.11), No. 18 in interception percentage (2.22) and No. 22 in total offense (264.0).

The outpouring of recognition was impressive. White captured player of the year honors from Associated Press, Sports Illustrated, The Sporting News and CNNSI.com. He also won the Davey O'Brien Best Quarterback Award and the Jim Thorpe Courage Award.

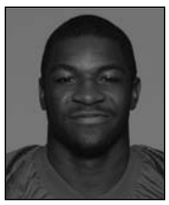
JAMMAL BROWN, OT

Oklahoma right tackle Jammal Brown had the highest line grade in a year when the offense had one of the most productive seasons in school history. The performance landed the Lawton native on the American Football Coaches Association's first team All-America squad. Brown had 127 knockdowns and ran his string of consecutive starts to 28 during the season. The Sooners posted their highest scoring total ever with 601 points. By allowing just one sack, Brown also proved a key protector for Heisman winner Jason White.



2003
MARK CLAYTON, WR

Mark Clayton wasn't on the Biletnikoff Award list even when the semifinalists were announced. That's how far off the radar the Sooner receiver was in the early stages of the season. By year's end, he was one of three finalists for the award and an All-American. He also was the most prominent name on OU's records lists for receivers ... with one more season of eligibility to play. Clayton built a reputation as perhaps the most elusive receiver in the nation with 533 yards after catch (YAC). He set OU standards wtih 83 receptions for 1,425 yards and broke the school mark for receiving yards in a game with 190 against Texas.

ANTONIO PERKINS, RS

Antonio Perkins became the nation's most feared punt returner by re-writing the NCAA record book during his junior season. He set an NCAA mark with four returns for touchdowns on the season, including an NCAA record three against UCLA. He also set an NCAA mark with 277 punt return yards against the Bruins. His other touchdown return, which tied the NCAA career mark at seven, came against Missouri. The returns were spectacular too, with lengths of 84, 74 and 65 against UCLA and 65 against Missouri. Perkins, who also started every game at cornerback and had two interceptions on the season, finished No. 20 in the nation in return average, but that figure was diluted by the fact that his 53 attempts out-distanced the rest of the country's returners by at least eight.

DERRICK STRAIT, CB

Derrick Strait became only the second player to win the Bronko Nagurski Award (best defensive player) and the Jim Thorpe Award (best defensive back) in the same season. Ironically, the first was another Sooner and a former teammate with Strait, Roy Williams. During his senior season, Strait set three career marks at Oklahoma -- interception yards (327), starts (52) and passes deflected (55). On the season, he was the team's No. 3 tackler with 80, to go with three interceptions for 127 yards, 12 break-ups and five fumble receoveries. He was taken in the third round of the NFL draft by the New York Jets.

JASON WHITE, QB

From two reconstructive knee surgeries in successive years to consensus All-American. That was the out-of-the-blue story for Jason White, who wasn't even announced as the team's starter until the summer before the 2003 season. He posted mind-boggling numbers, the most impressive of which were the 40 touchdowns and just 10 interceptions. White proved particularly adept at completing the long ball and set a school season record with 17 hookups of 40 or more yards. He completed 50 percent or more of his passes in all but two games and was over 60 percent nine times, including 16-of-21 against Texas and 16-of-18 vs. Texas A&M. He fired five TD strikes against both Iowa State and A&M and had a career-high 394 passing yards against Texas Tech.

BRANDON EVERAGE, FS

Six interceptions, with 107 yards in returns, would indicate that Brandon Everage understood the centerfield nature of his position. His 94 tackles, third highest on the team in 2002, speak to the linebacker-like mentality with which the Oklahoma free safety played. It was that combination of abilities that landed Everage on the All-America rolls.

TOMMIE HARRIS, DT

Tommie Harris rose to the pinnacle of his position in his junior season, which would be his last at OU. He departed for the NFL after just three years in Norman. As a junior, he continued to rocket into opposing backfields with his uncanny quickness. Harris had 10 tackles for loss and 19 quarterback hurries. After finishing as a finalist for the Lombardi Award one year earlier, he won the coveted piece of hardware in his final Sooner season. He also was one of four finalists for the Nagurski Award, which went to teammate Derrick Strait. Harris' sophomore season was impressive despite an injury. Slowed all by a groin pull suffered in August, Harris still faced regular double teams. He was named to three All-America squads and was named a finalist for the Bednarik Award. He was the 14th overall selection in the 2004 draft by the Chicago Bears.

TEDDY LEHMAN, LB

Determining the greatest linebacker in OU history is a tough chore. With Teddy Lehman in the mix, determining the fastest is much easier. That speed, which made him an outstanding high school sprinter, set the Sooner backer apart from his peers. He capped a brilliant career by winning the Butkus and Bednarik Awards after finishing as a finalist for each just one year earlier. His ability to get from sideline to sideline caught a lot of attention ... and ball carriers. As a senior, he had 117 tackles, including 19 for 47 yards in losses. As a junior, Lehman logged 112 tackles, including 17 for loss. He also had two interceptions, which went for 51 yards in returns, including one that set up the go-ahead touchdown against Texas. His one-yard return against Texas as a sophomore, the one that came on the back end of a play that saw Roy Williams leap a blocker to disrupt Longhorn QB Chris Simms, is one of the most memorable plays in school history. He was picked in the second round of the 2004 draft by the Detroit Lions.

ROCKY CALMUS, LB

Only a few players define their position, but that is precisely what Rocky Calmus meant to college football. As a senior, he won the Dick Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker, but also was a finalist for the Nagurski and Bednarik Awards as the nation's best defender and the Lombardi Award as the country's top interior player. His senior year total of 117 tackles vaulted him into Oklahoma's top five career tacklers and capped an incredible career. As a junior, he was named the toughest player in college football by The Sporting News during the Sooners' 2000 national championship season. OU's all-time leader in tackles for a loss by a linebacker, Calmus was named Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year by the Associated Press and was a finalist for the Butkus Award. A first-team All-Big 12 selection in each of his last three seasons, Calmus led the squad in tackles in each of those years. Calmus played through several injuries during his career including a fractured bone in his leg and a broken thumb. He was drafted in the third round of the 2002 draft by the Tennessee Titans.

JEFF FERGUSON, P

Most punters are known for the length and/or the accuracy of their kicks. Jeff Ferguson was outstanding in both areas. But Ferguson separated himself with athletic ability and intelligent play that made him the complete player at his position. He ended his career as the school record holder for punting average in a career and became just the second player in school history to average more than 40 yards in each of his four seasons. The length of the kicks did not come at the expense of accuracy. Twenty-one of his 71 senior season punts were downed inside the 20-yard line. The thunderous punts and the balls that trickled dead deep in enemy territory will be secondary as time remembers Ferguson's career, though. In his junior season, he made a brilliant play in the national championship game against Florida State, turning a bad snap into a safety rather than an opportunity for the Seminoles to get back into the game.

ROY WILLIAMS

ROY WILLIAMS, SS

By the time his career was over, Roy Williams was more feared by offensive opponents and more respected by his defensive peers than any player in the country. In his final season at OU, he won the Nagurski Award as the nation's top defender and the Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. He was No. 7 in the Heisman Trophy voting, the highest finish of the year by a non-quarterback. Williams bypassed his senior season of eligibility to enter the NFL draft, but still left his mark on the OU record book. He was drafted in the first round (No. 8 pick overall) in the 2002 NFL Draft by the Dallas Cowboys.

The runner-up for the 2000 Heisman Trophy (by 76 votes), Josh Heupel became OU's first consensus All-America quarterback and the first Sooner QB to earn All-America honors since Jack Mildren in 1971. As team captain his two years with the Sooners, Heupel is largely credited with turning an offense that statistically ranked as one of the worst in the nation before his arrival into one of the most explosive in the country. Heupel was named Associated Press Player of the Year, Walter Camp Player of the Year, The Sporting News Player of the Year, CBS Sports Player of the Year, Big 12 Player of the Year and Big 12 Offensive Player of the Year in 2000. The first-team all-conference selection guided OU to a school-record 13 wins and its seventh national championship. Heupel left with virtually every OU and numerous Big 12 passing records.

A standout on both defense and special teams, J.T. Thatcher was named an All-American as both a defensive back and returner. The Mosi Tatupu Special Teams Player of the Year Award winner, Thatcher was one of only seven players to return two or more punts for a touchdown in 2000 and ranked ninth nationally in punt return average. A four-time Big 12 Special Teams Player of the Week selection, Thatcher set OU's single-game (160) and single-season (599) records for punt return yards. He also posted the second-highest single-game kickoff return yard total with 150, including a 93-yard return to set up OU's go-ahead touchdown against second-ranked Kansas State. Thatcher was a semifinalist for the Jim Thorpe Award – awarded to the nation's top defensive back – and tied school records for interceptions in a game (3) and season (8).

CEDRIC JONES, DE

If ever a team had the luxury of counting on one player to chase a quarterback all day, it was Oklahoma when Cedric Jones was in a Sooner uniform. One coach said that with Jones on the field, "there was no need for special blitz packages because he would take care of rushing the quarterback." Indeed, Jones posted the numbers to back up the raves. He set a school sacks record with 14 for 85 yards in losses in 1994. He concluded his career with OU career records for sacks (31.5) and tackles for loss (46.5). His sacks went for 199 yards in losses, while his tackles for loss amounted to 256. He was a first-round draft pick (No. 5 overall) by the New York Giants in the 1996 NFL draft.

JOE BOWDEN, LB

A scorpion-like defender, Joe Bowden is considered one of the best linebackers in school history. Joe Bowden came out of the box early in his Sooner career when he was selected Defensive Newcomer of the Year in the Big Eight as a sophomore in 1989. He had 75 unassisted tackles during his All-American senior season in 1991. He also had two interceptions, both returned for touchdowns, and did more than his fair share to turn a loss into a win as Oklahoma faced eventual Big Eight Champion Nebraska that year. Bowden finished with 14 tackles, including eight unassisted, and one for a three-yard loss. He was taken in the 1992 NFL Draft by the Houston Oilers in the fifth round.

ANTHONY PHILLIPS, OG

Anthony Phillips earned national honors twice during his career, including consensus All-America honors in 1988. One of only three Sooners to be named all-conference in all four years, he was an extremely versatile player who moved from offensive tackle to guard. His quickness and intelligence made him one of the top offensive linemen in the country. Phillips also excelled in the classroom. He was named Academic All-Big Eight four times and was named GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America in 1987. Phillips was an NCAA Top Six Award winner and was drafted by the Chicago Bears in the 12th round in 1989.

MARK HUTSON, OG

Mark Hutson was a consensus All-American in 1987 and a first-team choice in 1986. He was named to the all-conference team from 1985-87. Described by then assistant head coach Merv Johnson as "one of the most fundamentally solid and sound linemen I have ever worked with," he made the transition from tackle to guard at the beginning of the 1985 season. Hutson led a unit that was so good it earned player of the week nomination after the opening game of the 1986 season against UCLA. He was drafted in the third round by Dallas in 1988.

1986*, 1987*
KEITH JACKSON, TE

Keith Jackson was a consensus All-American in both 1986 and 1987 and was named all-conference from 1985-87. As a junior, he averaged an amazing 27.6 yards per reception on a team that was last in the NCAA in passing for most of the season. Jackson averaged 25.2 yards per reception as a senior. His versatility made him not only a great receiver and blocker, but also a rushing threat. He had a run of 66 yards against Minnesota during his junior year. Jackson became the first Sooner to receive the NCAA Top Six Award. He was the 13th player taken in the 1988 draft by the Philadelphia Eagles. Jackson was a member of the Green Bay Packers' Super Bowl XXXI championship team. He worked with TNT as a NFL commentator and was also a member of the Oklahoma Sooner Football Radio Network during the 1998 season. 1973
EDDIE FOSTER, OT

Eddie Foster was named to the Family Weekly and Walter Camp All-America teams in 1973. During that year, Foster scored for the first time since he was in high school. It was a lineman's dream scenario. With just a 7-0 lead against Baylor, OU quarterback Steve Davis was heading for the goal line when he fumbled the ball. As Foster waited near the end zone to block, he spotted the ball and pounced on it for a touchdown. Foster said that his roommate and he "had it all planned out how it would happen." The three-year letterman was a large part of what many consider to be one of OU's top offensive lines. He was drafted in the 12th round by the New England Patriots in 1974.

LUCIOUS SELMON, NG

Lucious Selmon received consensus All-America honors in 1973. The oldest brother of perhaps the most famous trio of brothers in OU history, Lucious and his younger brothers, Lee Roy and Dewey, were all outstanding athletes. Lucious compiled a long list of accomplishments and accolades during his career at OU. He was named the Big Eight Athlete of the Year in 1973-74 and was named the Top Defensive Player in the conference in 1973. He was named the Chevrolet Defensive Player of the Year in 1973 and finished second in the Outland Trophy balloting (Lineman of the Year). He was described by then head coach Barry Switzer as the best down lineman he had ever coached. Selmon was drafted in the 16th round by the New England Patriots in 1974.

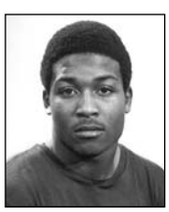
TOM BRAHANEY, C

Tom Brahaney was named a consensus All-American in 1971 and '72. In the 1971 "Game of the Century," which the Sooners lost to Nebraska 35-31, the Huskers' Outland Trophy winner Rich Glover called him the best center he had played against all year. In 1972, Brahaney was a finalist for the Lombardi Award (Lineman of the Year). During the 1971 season, the Sooners led the nation in rushing, total offense and scoring, all brought about by the Brahaney-led offensive line. He was named to the all-conference squads in both 1971 and '72. He was drafted in the fifth round by the Denver Broncos in 1973.



1971*, 1972*
GREG PRUITT, HB

Greg Pruitt earned consensus All-America honors in 1971 and '72. He still owns school records for most yards in a game (294 against Kansas State in 1971) and all-purpose running yards in a game (374). Pruitt finished third in the Heisman voting in 1971 and second in 1972. He was chosen NCAA Football Player of the Year by the Pigskin Club of Washington, D.C., in 1972. He rushed for 1,760 yards as a junior, but was injured with three games left in his senior year and was denied a second consecutive 1,000-yard regular season. Up to that point, Steve Owens was the only other conference player in history to accomplish this feat. He was drafted in the second round by the Cleveland Browns in 1973. He became the 13th Sooner player in the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame when he was inducted in 1999.

DERLAND MOORE, DT

Derland Moore was named to the Associated Press and Gold Sheet All-America teams. During his career, he had several huge plays in big games. Against Nebraska in 1972, he blindsided Nebraska's QB, causing a fumble that set up the winning field goal. He was named National Lineman of the Week after the Texas game, when he blocked a punt that was recovered for a touchdown. He scored a touchdown himself in that game when he recovered a fumble in the end zone. Moore was named all-conference in 1971 and '72. He was drafted by the New Orleans Saints in the second round in 1973.

JACK MILDREN, QB

When people talk about the powerful wishbone offenses of the 1970s at OU, Jack Mildren's name comes up every time. The 1971 All-American was the quarterback of one of the greatest offenses in college football history. During that year, the Sooners led the country in rushing, total offense and scoring. Combining speed (4.6 in the 40) and a strong arm, Mildren was an exciting player to watch. An extremely accurate passer, Mildren owns the school record for passing efficiency with a rating of 207.1 during the 1970 season. Mildren equaled his athletic accomplishments in the classroom. Some of his honors include the National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete, Graduate Fellowship Winner-National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, National Collegiate Athletic Association and GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American. He was inducted into the GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America Hall of Fame in 1998. He was drafted in the second round by the Baltimore Colts in 1972. Mildren served as Lieutenant Governor of Oklahoma from 1990 to 1994.

1969
STEVE ZABEL, TE

Steve Zabel earned All-America honors as a tight end in 1969, but his play at other positions made him one of the most valuable players at OU. With his natural athletic ability, in 1968 the coaching staff decided to utilize him at defensive end and also as a punter. He was named to the All-America blocking team by the Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times during his sophomore year. During his first season playing for the varsity, Zabel had his most memorable experience as a Sooner. "My greatest moment as an OU player has got to be catching the touchdown pass in '67 against KU from Bob Warmack with one minute left in the game. That clinched the Orange Bowl berth," Zabel said. Also an excellent student, Zabel was a three-time academic all-conference selection. He was the sixth player taken in the 1970 NFL draft by the Philadelphia Eagles.

STEVE OWENS, TB

In 1969, Steve Owens became the second player in OU history to win the Heisman Memorial Trophy. The two-time consensus All-American scored more touchdowns during his career than any other Sooner (57). He also holds records for most touchdowns in a season (23) and tied for most points scored in a season (138), accomplishing both during the 1969 season. He also broke several national records during his career: most rushing yards (4,041), most net yards rushing in one season (1,649 in 1968), most net yards rushing in two seasons (3,172) and the three-year record for touchdowns (57). After his incredible career, Owens was also awarded the Walter Camp Trophy and was honored by the Helms and Citizens Savings Athletic Foundation. He was the 19th player taken in the 1970 NFL draft by the Detroit Lions. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1991. Owens served as OU's Director of Athletics from 1996-98.

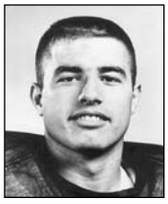
1969
KEN MENDENHALL, C

Described as a devastating one-on-one blocker, Ken Mendenhall earned All-America honors in 1969 for his play at center. The Enid native was appreciated by his teammates. "He's always got the path cleared for you," said tailback Steve Owens. "He's fantastic coming off the ball on a man right in front of him. I'm glad we have him up there." He cleared the way for Owens, who is OU's all-time leading scorer. An extremely versatile player, Mendenhall made the switch from guard to center during his sophomore year and excelled after the switch. He was a fifth-round draft pick by the Atlanta Falcons in 1970.

1966, 1967*
GRANVILLE LIGGINS, NG

In 1967, Granville Liggins was honored as UPI's Lineman of the Year. The two-time All-American ranks as one of the top defensive linemen in OU's history. At 214 pounds, Liggins was the biggest man on the defense, but he usually had to face bigger centers. He could offset this with his incredible quickness. "He moves so fast that he looks like he's offsides," said then-Texas head coach and former OU player Darrell Royal. "Many times he'll hit the center before the center can get the ball to the quarterback." Liggins was also honored as the Lineman of the Year by the Pigskin Club of Washington, D.C., in 1967. He was drafted in the 10th round by the Detroit Lions in 1968.



1967
BOB KALSU, OT

Bob Kalsu earned All-America honors in 1967 for his outstanding play at offensive tackle. "Bob was our best offensive lineman, the best athlete we had," said then-offensive coach Barry Switzer. "Bob wasn't only a great player, he was a great leader. He had the maturity and leadership abilities we needed at that time with our program in transition." Kalsu was also a member of the ROTC at OU. Kalsu was drafted in the eighth round by the Buffalo Bills in 1968. After his first year, Kalsu was called to join the U.S. Army's highly decorated 101st Airborne Division. On July 21, 1970, he was killed by North Vietnamese mortar fire. He was the only professional football player to be killed during the Vietnam conflict. In 1977, Kalsu was recognized by the Pro Football Hall of Fame. The plaque in his honor reads: "No one will ever know how great a football player Bob might have been, but we do know how great a man he was to give up his life for his country." He also was memorialized by his teammates and the "O" Club with the Benien-Kalsu-Henderson Scholarship. It is presented annually to student-athletes who have completed their eligibility.

1964, 1965*
CARL MCADAMS C/LB

During his high school playing days, Carl McAdams played every position on the team except center. The OU coaches took care of that for the two-time All-American, as he helped out there for the Sooners. But his play at linebacker is what earned him national honors during his competitive career. "He's as good as anybody we've ever had," said then-head coach Gomer Jones. "He's so quick that he can take two steps the wrong way backing the line, and still recover in time to make the play." McAdams was all-conference in 1964 and '65. He was also named conference Lineman of the Year in 1965. He was drafted in the third round by the New York Jets in 1967.

RALPH NEELY, T

When asked what his favorite thing about playing football was, Ralph Neely said playing against a real tough opponent. Anyone who watched the two-time All-American play knew this. Not many of his opponents challenged the 261-pound tackle who played both ways. He was named the Big Eight Sophomore Lineman of the Year. With great quickness for a big man, Neely was a dominant performer on defense. After the 1963 Missouri game, Tiger QB Gary Lane said, "That big Ralph Neely, where did he keep coming from? I think he spent more time in our backfield than I did." Also an excellent blocker on offense, Neely was an all-conference selection in both 1963 and '64. He was drafted in the second round by the Baltimore Colts in 1965.

JIM GRISHAM, FB/LB

Jim Grisham made an impression on a few people with his 107 yards rushing in his first bowl game. When Sooners faced Paul "Bear" Bryant and his Alabama Crimson Tide, the legendary coach said that, "Grisham was as hard a runner as we've ever seen." The consensus All-American punished his opponents on defense as much as on offense. During his sophomore season, he was named defensive player of the game against Kansas and Syracuse. The three-time all-conference performer made Bud Wilkinson's final game as head coach memorable. With the Sooners trailing 10-7 in the second half to OSU, Grisham exploded for four touchdowns while setting a school record for rushing yards (218). He was drafted by the Minnesota Vikings during the sixth round in 1965.

LEON CROSS, OG/LB

Leon Cross was honored by The Football News and the Football Writers of America with All-America honors in 1962. During the early part of Cross' career it didn't look like he was ever going to play a down for OU due to injuries that forced him to the sidelines. His battles through problems with his foot and knee earned him the nickname "Old Rugged Cross." He was the co-captain of the Sooners during his senior year in 1962. Cross was steady and experienced, commanding respect from all his teammates. During his rehabilitation he tore some rib cartilage, but wouldn't allow anything to stand in his way so he played with the pain.

BOB HARRISON

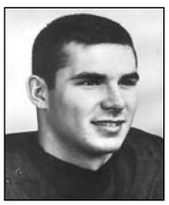
WAYNE LEE, C/LB

Wayne Lee earned All-America honors in 1962. On offense, he was the key to Oklahoma's powerful offensive line. The Ada native was considered to be the Sooners' top blocker. As much of a threat on defense, Lee led the Sooners in tackles during home games his sophomore year with 64. He was the co-captain of the 1962 squad. Along with receiving national honors, he was named an all-conference selection. Lee excelled in the classroom as much as he did on the playing field. He was named part of the academic all-conference team in 1962 and was also a GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American. He was drafted in the 20th round by the Houston Oilers.



1962
JOE DON LOONEY, HB/P

During Joe Don Looney's first game, he walked up to then-head coach Bud Wilkinson and said, "Put me in the game, I'm going to score a touchdown." With the Sooners losing 3-0 to Syracuse late in the fourth quarter, Wilkinson decided to let him prove it, and that's exactly what he did. On Looney's first carry he took the ball 60 yards and won the game for OU. The only junior college player that Wilkinson ever accepted, Looney played only one full season for the Sooners during which he led OU in rushing (852 yards on 137 carries), scoring (10 touchdowns and 62 points) and kickoff returns (31.5 average). His 43.4 yard punting average led the nation. Considered to be one of the greatest athletes ever to play at OU, Looney had only played football for two years before coming to OU. He was the ninth player taken in the 1964 NFL Draft by the New York Giants.

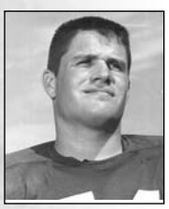
1959*
JERRY THOMPSON, G

Jerry Thompson earned All-America honors in 1959. He was the only member of that Sooner squad to receive national honors. Rugged and tough, Thompson broke his nose three times during his career at OU. Most of his teammates commented that his nose had been replaced with a ski jump. While not only possessing great blocking skills, the Ada native was also a punishing tackler. When asked about a football pile, he said he loved to be on the bottom. "If you're on the bottom, you probably got the first tackle and started the whole thing. That oughta make you feel real proud," Thompson said. Also an outstanding student, Thompson was named to the academic all-conference team in 1959. He was drafted in the ninth round by the Buffalo Bills in 1960.



1958
BOB HARRISON, C

Bob Harrison was an All-America selection in 1958. We are left to wonder if he could have won multiple honors if he hadn't played behind another All-American, Jerry Tubbs. Everyone, including Tubbs, noticed once Harrison took over the starting center duties. "Harrison is the best center I ever saw in college. As a sophomore, he was doing everything better than I could - and asking me how to do things the right way," Tubbs said. During 1958, Harrison was also named to the all-conference team and named Lineman of the Year by UPI. Harrison was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers in 1959.

He was a key to Oklahoma's national titles in both 1955 and '56. With his nine touchdowns during his senior season, Thomas set the three-year scoring record at the University of Oklahoma. His combination of speed, strength and lateral movement made him not only a great halfback, but also an excellent defensive back. Against Notre Dame in 1956, Thomas returned a Paul Hornung pass for a touchdown. The two-time all-conference selection was drafted in the second round by the Los Angeles Rams in 1958.

BILL KRISHER, G

Bill Krisher earned consensus All-America honors in 1957, after being selected by Sports Illustrated in 1956. He was a large contributor to the offense that led the country in rushing offense and total offense in 1955 and '56. His play on both offense and defense was a large part of the Sooners' national titles during both of those years. He opened up many of the holes that helped Clendon Thomas earn the scoring title in 1956. "Bill goes out after 'em and drives right on through 'em instead of just standing up to block 'em. I've never seen a blocker like him," Thomas said. The two-time all-conference selection was drafted in the third round by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1958.

JERRY TUBBS, C/LB

Jerry Tubbs earned consensus All-America honors in 1956. Many people felt he deserved the honor in 1955, as well. After the Sooners soundly defeated the Terrapins in the 1956 Orange Bowl to win the national title, Miami Daily News writer Ralph Warner wrote: "Jerry Tubbs took the decision over Bob Pellegrini, the Maryland All-America, in the battle of the centers. Pellegrini was outstanding, but Tubbs was even more so with a brilliant all-around performance." Not only a great blocker, Tubbs established himself as one of the top pass defenders in the country with his three interceptions against Texas in 1955. During 1956, Tubbs was the first Sooner to receive the Walter Camp Award, given to the player of the year, and was also named Lineman of the Year by UPI. He was the third player taken in the 1957 draft by the Chicago Bears. He became the 12th Sooner player to be inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame on Dec. 10, 1996.

1956
ED GRAY, G

Ed Gray earned All-America honors in 1956. He was an exceptional blocker. HB Tommy McDonald benefited many times from the holes Gray opened, sometimes taking out two opponents by himself. "Our line is the best. I'm proud to run behind 'em," McDonald commented. The statistics don't disagree. The Sooners led the nation in rushing and total offense during both of their national champion seasons of 1955 and '56. Gray was selected to the all-conference team of 1955 and '56. The Los Angeles Rams drafted him in the seventh round in 1957.

Both awards are given to the player of the year. McDonald was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1985. Not only a great running back, McDonald was also a deadly passer. Bolinger, along with Kurt and Robert Burris and Max Boydston, were from Muskogee and had been playing together since high school. Bolinger was a key to an offensive line that led Oklahoma to a national title in 1955. Oklahoma finished first nationally in rushing and total offense. During that season, Bolinger finished ninth in the Heisman Trophy voting. He was drafted in the 13th round by the Chicago Cardinals in 1956.

KURT BURRIS, C/LB

Kurt Burris was named a consensus All-American in 1954. During that season the two-time all-conference selection finished with a total of 838 votes in Heisman Trophy voting, second to Wisconsin fullback Alan Ameche. Burris was named Player of the Year by the Helms and Citizens Savings Athletic Foundation. His outstanding blocking and bone-crushing tackling were large components in the Sooners' undefeated season in 1954. Due to the Sooners' probation and two other undefeated teams, OU was denied the national title and finished third in the polls. Oklahoma finished seventh in total offense and fifth in total defense ahead of both the teams ranked first and second. Burris was named Lineman of the Year in 1954 by the Philadelphia Sports Writers. He was the fourth player taken in the 1955 draft by the Cleveland Browns. He became OU's 14th player to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in December 2000.

MAX BOYDSTON, E

Max Boydston earned consensus All-America honors in 1954. Coming out of high school he was a fullback, but the Sooner coaches decided to move him to end. Considered one of the fastest big men on the team, Boydston had a number of big plays during his career. In the final game of the 1953 season against Oklahoma A&M, he took the ball away from the Aggie quarterback coming around the end on a keeper and ran 43 yards for a touchdown. During the 1953 season he caught four passes for 88 yards, showing another element of his ability. He was named the Lineman of the Year in 1954 by the Washington Touchdown Club. The three-time all-conference selection was the third player taken in the 1955 draft by the Chicago Cardinals.

Also during that year, he was named the consensus Lineman of the Year. He adjusted to the college system quickly and became a starter during his sophomore year. An extremely rugged and aggressive athlete, Roberts was difficult to block, causing havoc for numerous offenses. The two-time all-conference selection was drafted during the 17th round by the Green Bay Packers in 1954. He went on to coach the New Orleans Saints during 1972-74. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame in 1993.

TOM CATLIN, C

Tom Catlin was one of the first All-Americans the Sooners had at center, earning the honor in 1951 and '52, beginning a tradition of All-Americans at the position that continued into the '70s. He was the co-captain of the 1952 team with QB Eddie Crowder. One of the top athletes on the team, Catlin excelled on both offense and defense. During his sophomore year he intercepted a pass against Kansas and took it 19 yards back for a touchdown. Catlin was an extremely accurate deep snapper. He was also an outstanding student, becoming the first Sooner to be named an Academic All-American by GTE/CoSIDA. The three-time all-conference selection was drafted in the fourth round by the Baltimore Colts in 1953.

During that season, he finished second nationally in rushing with 1,072 yards. The two-time all-conference selection also finished second in scoring with 108 points. He set Sooner records for most rushing yards, scoring and most all-purpose yards (1,599) in a season. In 1952, he was named AP and UPI Back of the Year and UPI Player of the Year. His outstanding play during the 1950 season, in which he led OU in both rushing and receiving, was one of the key factors in Oklahoma's first national title. He was the first player taken in the 1953 draft by the Baltimore Colts. In 1974, he was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame.

BUCK MCPHAIL, FB/P

Buck McPhail earned All-America honors in 1952. He and Billy Vessels made up one of the greatest rushing tandems of all time. During the 1951 season, he set a national collegiate record of 8.56 net yards per rush (minimum of 100 rushes). While leading the way for Vessels during his Heisman Trophy campaign in 1952, McPhail ran for 1,018 yards. He also finished second to Vessels in scoring in the Big Seven. McPhail excelled as a punter for the Sooners. He finished second in the conference with a 39.8 yard average. He was drafted in the third round by the Baltimore Colts in 1953.

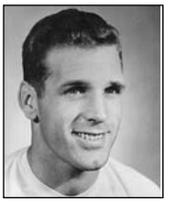
JIM WEATHERALL, T

Jim Weatherall was a consensus All-American during both 1950 and '51. He opened many of the holes for OU's high-powered offense that finished ninth nationally in rushing offense and seventh in total offense. He also was the place-kicker for the Sooners. Weatherall was the first player in OU history to win the Outland Trophy, awarded to the outstanding lineman in the country. In 1975, he was inducted into the Helms and Citizens Savings Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame. The two-time all-conference selection was drafted in the second round by the Philadelphia Eagles in 1952. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame in 1992.



1950*
LEON HEATH, FB/LB

Leon Heath earned consensus All-America honors in 1950. The powerful fullback was voted the outstanding player of the 1950 Sugar Bowl. During that game he set an OU rushing record of 170 yards with touchdown runs of 86 and 34 yards. He was also an outstanding linebacker. He led the nation in average yards per carry in 1949 with 9.12 yards on each attempt. During 1948-50, Heath was a large part of the Sooners' 16-0 record in the conference and the first national title in OU history in 1950. He was the 12th player taken in the 1951 draft by the Washington Redskins.

FRANKIE ANDERSON, E

Frankie Anderson earned All-America honors in 1950. Considered an extremely aggressive and explosive end, the all-conference selection threw Iowa State backs for 50 yards in losses in just 14 minutes during the 1948 game at Ames, Iowa. During that season, he led the Sooners in receiving and finished second to Jim Owens the following year. In his first varsity game as a freshman at defensive guard, he caused a fumble against Missouri that OU converted into a touchdown. He was drafted in the 11th round by the Detroit Lions in 1951.

BUDDY JONES, S

Buddy Jones earned All-America honors in 1950. The 5-10, 155-pound safety played well above his size throughout his career. His outstanding play during both the 1949 and '50 Sugar Bowls were key factors in the Sooner wins. Oklahoma's secondary was passed on more times (290) than any other team in the nation during the 1949 season. Jones' ability was one of the major reasons OU only gave up five touchdown passes during that season. He played some at halfback during the 1947 season, where he averaged nearly eight yards a carry.

1949
WADE WALKER, T

Wade Walker was named an All-American during the 1949 season. He is one of only three Sooners to earn all-conference honors for four years. During his career he blocked three different OU running backs to rushing and scoring titles: Joe Golding in 1946, George Brewer in 1947 and George Thomas in 1948. While he was at Oklahoma, the Sooners lost only one conference game. During his senior year, OU defeated Louisiana State to complete the winningest season in school history at 11-0. He was drafted in the 19th round by the Buffalo Bills in 1950. He returned to his alma mater to serve as director of athletics in the '70's, retiring from OU in the spring of 1986.

STANLEY WEST, G

Stanley West earned All-America honors in 1949. Standing 6-1, 236 pounds, West was considered the biggest man on the squad probably because most said he had the biggest appetite on the team. The all-conference selection used his speed and elusive lateral movement on defense to frustrate opponents' offenses time after time. He was co-captain of the 1949 team and considered to be one of the top offensive blockers. He played a large part in getting three different Sooner halfbacks rushing and scoring conference titles during 1946-48. He was the eighth player taken in the 1950 draft by the Los Angeles Rams.

DARRELL ROYAL, QB/DB

Darrell Royal was named an All-American during the 1949 season. One of the greatest all-around players ever to compete for the Sooners, he led Oklahoma in passing during his senior year with 509 yards while rushing for 195 yards. During that season he completed 34-of-67 attempts with only one interception. His punting ability was second to none, which he displayed when he booted one 81 yards against Oklahoma A&M in 1948. His ability on defense almost surpassed what he accomplished on offense. He is the all-time interception leader at OU with 17. The all-conference selection also was an outstanding punt returner. During the 1948 season, he had returns of 73 and 96 yards for touchdowns. The latter is tied for the tenth-longest play in school history. He was drafted during the 20th round by the New York Bulldogs in 1950. He went on to become a legendary coaching figure at the University of Texas.

JIM OWENS, E

Jim Owens earned All-America honors in 1949. The Oklahoma City native was considered the finest downfield blocker on the team. Owens was also a vicious tackler on defense. Another dimension of his ability came out early in his career as he caught five passes, including one for a touchdown, against Texas during his freshman year. He stung the 'Horns again his senior year when he caught the winning touchdown from QB Darrell Royal. Also during that year, he had the key blocks on three of the Sooners' touchdowns against Missouri. The two-time all-conference selection was drafted during the 23rd round by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1949. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame in 1982.

GEORGE THOMAS, HB/DB

George Thomas earned All-America honors in 1949. He led the conference in rushing during both the 1948 and '49 seasons. During the 1948 season, he averaged 6.1 yards per carry and rushed for 159 yards against Santa Clara. He was also an outstanding cover man who could play the run and pass equally well. His three-year total of 2,007 yards set the career rushing record at OU. He also held almost every school scoring record for a game, single season and multiple season. His outstanding speed was also utilized on the track team, as he ran on the winning 440-yard relay team at the 1949 Texas Relays. He was the 12th player taken in the 1950 draft by the Washington Redskins.

PAUL "BUDDY" BURRIS, G

Paul "Buddy" Burris became the first Sooner to earn All-America honors three times, including being named a consensus All-American in 1948. He said after his career was over that he should have been playing as a linebacker, but his play as both an offensive and defensive guard helped bring about an OU dynasty during the '50s. Burris started a similar dynasty as four of his brothers would follow him into Norman to play for the Sooners. It's probably the largest family from one generation ever to play for Oklahoma. He was drafted in the ninth round by Brooklyn in 1949. Burris was also the first player from OU to be inducted into the Helms Athletic Foundation Football Hall of Fame.

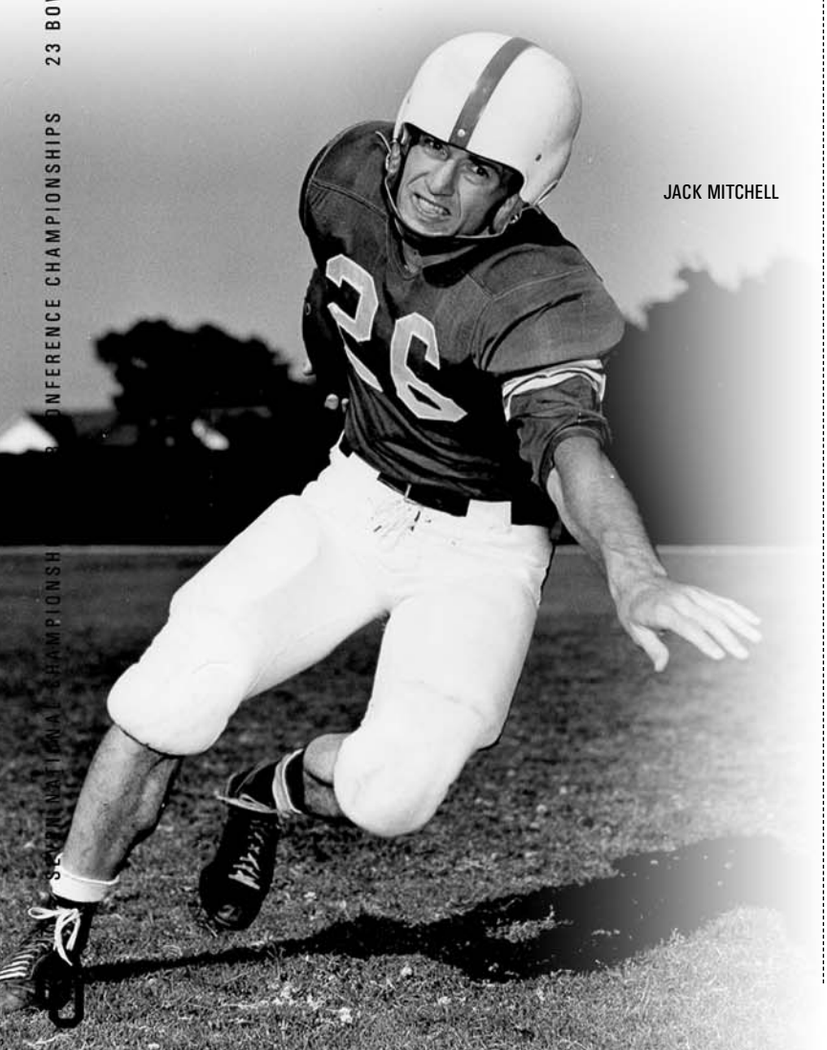
JACK MITCHELL, QB

Jack Mitchell became OU's first quarterback to earn All-America honors in 1948. What he may be remembered for more is his association with the beginning of the option. During the 1948 OU-Texas game, every time Mitchell carried the ball he was supposed to keep it. After being tackled several times, he decided to pitch it to the halfback instead of being hit. Bud Wilkinson, the Sooners' head coach who had been the backfield coach before his promotion, immediately realized how effective this play could be. Originally making the team as a halfback, Mitchell ran Wilkinson's Split-T offense to perfection. Mitchell was a two-time all-conference selection and still holds the Division I-A record for punt returns: highest average gain per return for a career (min. 1.2 per game) at 23.6 yards from 1946-48 (39 for 922). Mitchell capped off his career at OU by being named MVP of the Sooners' 14-6 win over North Carolina in the 1949 Sugar Bowl.



JACK MITCHELL

PLATO ANDROS, G

Plato Andros earned All-America honors in 1946. After spending more than four years fighting with the Coast Guard against Nazi submarines in World War II, he came back to Norman to finish his career with the Sooners. The all-conference selection was an outstanding blocker on offense. Most believe his dominant play on defense clearly distinguished what a great player he was. During the 1946 season, the Sooners faced top-ranked Army. The Cadets hadn't lost in three years, but at halftime the Sooners had the game dead-locked at 7-7. OU's defense, led by Andros, held Heisman Trophy winner Glenn Davis to 19 yards on 12 carries, his all-time low, and zero points. Andros was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams during the seventh round in 1947.

JOHN RAPACZ, C

John Rapacz earned All-America honors in 1946. The two-time all-conference center was one of the top blockers in the country. His power helped get HB Joe Golding the highest rushing average for one game, 23.4 on seven runs for 164 yards, against Kansas State in 1946. Rapacz's outstanding play in the 1947 Gator Bowl helped OU win its first bowl game in school history. The Sooners destroyed North Carolina State, 34-13, and racked up 270 total yards behind the blocking of Rapacz. He was drafted by the Cleveland Browns during the seventh round in 1947.

1939
FRANK "POP" IVY, E

Frank "Pop" Ivy earned All-America honors in 1939. Grantland Rice, the famous sports writer, called Ivy one of the greatest defensive ends he had ever seen. With great athletic ability, Ivy was one of the top cover men in the conference, named to the All-Big Six team in 1939. During 1938, the defense allowed only two touchdowns the entire year, while opposing offenses averaged only 43.3 yards per game. After going undefeated during the regular season, the Sooners made their first bowl appearance in school history, facing Tennessee in the Orange Bowl. The game had fights and penalties throughout and OU lost, 17-0.

GILFORD DUGGAN, T

Gilford Duggan earned All-America honors during the 1939 season. The two-time all-conference selection was a member of the 1938 defense which allowed only 43.3 yards per game. Also during that season, the Sooners went undefeated and broke into the top 10 of the Associated Press poll for the first time in school history as they finished fourth. During the 1937 season, Duggan and teammates dominated opposing offenses, allowing only 88.5 total yards per game. He was drafted in the 13th round by the New York Giants in 1940.

1938*
ROLAND "WADDY" YOUNG, E

Roland Walter Young became Oklahoma's first consensus All-American in 1938. Considered a good receiver, Young was remembered more for his exploits on defense. He was one of the top coverage men in the country. During his final year with the Sooners, his athletic ability and leadership were keys to the defense giving up only 12 points the entire year. The all-conference selection was also a top wrestler for the Sooners and Young held the heavyweight boxing championship of the university. He was drafted by Brooklyn during the third round in 1939. In 1986, he was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame.

1937
PETE SMITH, T

Pete Smith earned All-America honors during the 1937 season. He used his speed and strength to become one of the top pass rushers at OU. He and Waddy Young were credited with setting the school team record of lowest forward passing average per game, holding opponents to 38.7 yards per game during the 1937 season. Not one of the top receivers in an offense that passed more to the backs, Smith was an outstanding blocker and one of the reasons the Sooners finished third nationally in scoring. He was drafted by the Detroit Lions during the second round in 1938.

1935
J.W. "DUB" WHEELER, T

J.W. "Dub" Wheeler was named an All-American during the 1935 season. The 227-pound tackle was a powerful member of the OU line which helped the Sooners lead the conference in rushing in 1935 and dominated opponents' rushing attacks. The two-time all-conference selection was instrumental in holding Kansas, Kansas State and Iowa State all under 70 yards rushing during the 1935 season. He was the first player from Oklahoma to be drafted in the NFL. He went to the Green Bay Packers during the second round.

1934
CASSIUS GENTRY, T

Cassius Gentry earned All-America honors during the 1934 season. Considered the fastest player at OU during his career, Gentry was one of the top defensive players in the country. The two-time all-conference selection may have had his greatest game during the 1933 season against Iowa State, when he blocked three punts. His final block came late in the fourth quarter with the Sooners trailing. It set up OU for the winning touchdown. At 185 pounds, Gentry was a fearsome tackler. Doubling as the punter for the Sooners, after one kick he made the tackle on the play. He signed with the Providence Steamrollers in 1935.

1927
GRANVILLE NORRIS, T

Granville Norris earned All-America honors during the 1927 season. With incredible strength and speed, Norris was a terror for opposing offenses. Overlooked for conference honors during the 1926 season, Norris was considered by many to be the best tackle in the league as he had the most blocked punts in the Missouri Valley. During that season, he scored against Drake after recovering a blocked kick. His block against Missouri that year sealed the win for the Sooners. Captain of the 1927 squad, Norris had an outstanding game against Kansas as he dominated the Jayhawks' offense, helping the Sooners to a 26-7 win.

1920
PHIL WHITE, HB

In 1920, Phil White became the first halfback from Oklahoma ever to earn All-America honors. In the first year of the Missouri Valley Conference, the Sooners won the title with an impressive 6-0-1 record. One of the team leaders, White played that year with a dislocated shoulder suffered the year before. One of the most versatile players for the Sooners, White was one of the top rushers and passers and on defense his strength and speed made tackling the opposition simple. He was also the return man and did most of the kicking chores for the Sooners. He signed with the Kansas City Cowboys in 1924.

1920
ROY "SOUPY" SMOOT, T

In 1920, Roy "Soupy" Smoot became the first lineman from OU to earn All-America honors. He had incredible speed for a player of his size; many people thought he was the fastest man on the team. He was about 30 pounds heavier than any of the other tackles. The all-conference selection was also an outstanding blocker and tackler. An example of his amazing ability came against Nebraska in 1919, when he blocked a punt before it even left the kicker's foot. He repeated the feat against Missouri later that year. His notable play during the 1920 season helped the Sooners win the Missouri Valley Conference title.

FOREST "SPOT" GEYER, FB

Forest "Spot" Geyer earned All-America honors in 1915. With an extremely strong arm, Geyer was the first great passer at the University of Oklahoma. "Geyer could throw a ball 50 yards and hit a nickel with it every time," one of his teammates said. His spot passing was how he earned his nickname. The all-conference selection also handled the kicking duties for the Sooners, but his deadly passes were a nightmare for opponents. During the 1915 season, Geyer was named captain of the team as he led the Sooners to a 10-win undefeated season, then the best in school history. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame in 1973.

CLAUDE REEDS, FB

In 1913, Claude Reeds became the first player from the University of Oklahoma to earn All-America honors. An extremely accurate passer, Reeds confused defenses while throwing on the run and other times turning it up field for long gains. He was an outstanding punter and was also used at end, where he was an outstanding blocker and equally adept on receptions. During the final game of his career against Colorado, Reeds had one of the greatest runs of his career as he took it 70 yards on a fake punt for a touchdown. Most observers said he must have run at least 200 yards on that play alone as he crisscrossed the field eluding Buffalo tacklers. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame in 1961.

TEAM AWARDS

THE DON KEY AWARD

Don Key was a three-year starter for the Sooners, an All-Big Eight guard and a potential All-American until surgery for cancer ended his career in 1981. Former Sooner coach Barry Switzer established the Don Key Award in 1982 with the help of the Kerr-McGee Corporation.

Sooner coaches have described the award as the highest honor an Oklahoma football player can receive while playing at OU. The Don Key Award is given to the player who best exemplifies the many superior qualities of Key, both on the playing field and in the classroom.

A postgraduate scholarship has been established in Key's name through the generous support of John Clark of Odessa, Texas. It is given annually to a deserving OU student-athlete.

THE BOB KALSU AWARD

Bob Kalsu is one of the most fondly remembered Oklahoma athletes. More than that, Kalsu, the only professional player to lose his life in action during the Vietnam War, is a true American hero.

A 1967 All-American at Oklahoma, Kalsu was drafted in the eighth round of the American Football League draft by the Buffalo Bills. After one season, he was called to service in the 101st Airborne Division of the U.S. Army. On July 21, 1970, Kalsu was killed by North Vietnamese mortar fire.

In 2001, OU head coach Bob Stoops initiated the Bob Kalsu Award to recognize uncommon dedication and fortitude. The inaugural winner was Edmond, Okla., native Cory Heinecke, a former walk-on, who became a two-year starter at defensive end.

With much of Kalsu's family in attendance, Heinecke accepted the award on Dec. 15, 2001, at the Sooners' annual awards ceremony. When Kalsu's family was introduced, a standing ovation, which began among the current Oklahoma players, ensued, proving that Bob Kalsu's legacy was alive and well more than 30 years after his death.

COACHING HISTORY

BARRY SWITZER
1973-1988

Oklahoma's all-time winningest coach, Barry Switzer, led his Sooner teams to three national championships, 12 Big Eight Conference championships and eight bowl wins in 13 appearances. Switzer led the Sooners on a 28-game win streak from 1973 (his first season as head coach) to 1975. When the Sooners won the national championship in 1975, it marked the first time in history a team had won back-to-back titles more than once. Switzer, also a former head coach of the Dallas Cowboys, overcame meager beginnings in a rickety house in the Arkansas woods to gain his many successes. He graduated from Crosset High with honors and played center and linebacker for the University of Arkansas. Before coming to Oklahoma as an offensive line coach in 1966, Switzer was a B team coach and scout for the Razorbacks. In 1967, he was named offensive coordinator for the Sooners. In 1970, he convinced Chuck Fairbanks, then OU head coach, to make the most significant and gutsy move in OU's football history, a switch to the wishbone offense. The only vehicles for learning this novel offense were films of the 1968-69 OU/Texas games, since Texas was the only school that used the wishbone. This offense saved the career of Fairbanks and his seven assistants and made possible Oklahoma's second football dynasty. Switzer resigned as Sooner coach in June of 1989, saying that "coaching was no longer fun." He stayed out of coaching, despite many offers, until Jerry Jones, the owner of the Dallas Cowboys, offered him the head coaching position in April of 1994. During the 1994 season, Switzer led the Cowboys to a 13-5 record and the NFC Championship game. In 1995, he led Dallas to a Super Bowl win over Pittsburgh. He coached the Cowboys through the 1997 season.

COACHING HISTORY

BOB STOOPS
1999-PRESENT

2 Bob Stoops was introduced as OU's 21st head coach on Dec. 1, 1998. He inherited a program that had not had a winning season since 1993, had failed to make a bowl appearance since 1994 and was coming off its worst four-year stretch in school history. Four bowl wins, including the first Rose Bowl title in school history, one national championship and 55 victories later, Stoops has restored the Sooner pride and tradition, while rocketing himself and his program to the pinnacle of college football. In his inaugural campaign, Stoops led the Sooners to a winning season and a bowl appearance. In just his second season, Oklahoma claimed its seventh national championship, and in his third year, OU racked up 11 wins, including another in bowl play, while spending 12 weeks ranked among the nation's top 10. The fourth team spent the entire campaign ranked among the top 10, won another Big 12 title and snared the Rose Bowl crown. Stoops became just the fourth head coach to lead OU to a bowl game in his first season, the second to take the Sooners to a bowl in his first two seasons and the first to do it in his first three years at the helm. Year five yielded a 12-2 mark, another Big 12 South crown and a return trip to the BCS National Championship game. At season's end, Sooner players won an unprecedented seven of college football's highest individual honors, including the Heisman Trophy (Jason White). A total of seven players also captured All-America honors with a record six each on the Associated Press and American Football Coaches teams. Stoops' teams have earned a reputation for setting records and coming up big in the big games. Some 70 school marks have fallen since he arrived and his teams are 10-3 against top-10 ranked opponents. His squads also have posted a 29-1 record at home with sellouts in every game. The accomplishments under Stoops launched a $75 million stadium renovation and expansion that added 8,000 seats and 54 suites to the facility. In OU's 2000 national championship season, Stoops was named consensus Big 12 Coach of the Year and National Coach of the Year by the Associated Press, Football Writers Association of America, Chevrolet Walter Camp Foundation, Maxwell Football Club, Touchdown Club of Columbus and The Football News and won the Paul Bear Bryant Award. In 2002, he was the AFCA's Co-Region IV Coach of the Year. In 2003, he was again consensus Big 12 Coach of the Year and the Bobby Dodd National Coach of the Year. He also repeated the Camp and Touchdown Club of Columbus honors.

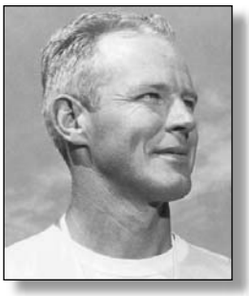
COACHING HISTORY



BUD WILKINSON
1947-1963

3 While confining OU's recruiting to a 150-mile radius of the Norman campus, Oklahoma's 13th football coach produced teams that were 6-2 in postseason play, won the national championship in 1950, 1955 and 1956 and did not lose an astounding 74 straight conference games from 1946-1959 (72 wins, 2 ties). He still holds the modern record for wins by a Division I-A school with 47 straight victories from 1953-1957, a streak that stopped when the Sooners lost to Notre Dame, 7-0. After the 1947 season, the Sooners won 12 straight conference championships. In 17 seasons at Oklahoma, Wilkinson fostered racial integration and graduated players at an 87.2 percentage rate while becoming the eighth-winningest coach in Division I-A history. His career began as a player at Minnesota, where he helped the Golden Gophers win two national championships in football, captained the golf team and was a goaltender in hockey. Wilkinson won the Big Ten Medal of Honor as the outstanding scholar-athlete in 1937. After serving as an assistant at Syracuse where he received his master's in English Education, Wilkinson coached at Minnesota and with the Navy's Pre-Flight School Seahawks. He also served in the Navy during World War II. Upon his return to the states, Wilkinson decided to give up football and work in his father's Minneapolis mortgage business. Not long after his decision, Wilkinson's Navy buddy, Jim Tatum, Oklahoma's new head coach, asked him to come to Norman as an assistant coach. Wilkinson accepted and in one year, he was the Oklahoma head coach and athletic director. In 1964, he resigned from OU and ran for the U.S. Senate as a Republican, but fell short. Wilkinson was an ABC sports analyst from 1965-77, and from 1979-80, he coached the St. Louis Cardinals. He also served as a consultant to President Nixon and was a member of the White House Staff from 1969-71. Wilkinson died in 1994 of congestive heart failure at age 77.

VERNON PARRINGTON
1897-1900

4 Vernon Parrington came to Oklahoma in 1897 after running for office as a member of the Populist political party. After leaving OU, he won the Pulitzer Prize in 1928 while teaching at the University of Washington with his book Main Currents of Political Thought. He was the first full-time football coach at OU. He played football at both Emporia College in Kansas and Harvard. He coached primarily the "tackle back" style which he learned from his Harvard coach, Bernard W. Trafford. Parrington gave up his coaching position in 1901 because it interfered with his teaching, but he remained as athletic director. He taught English, French and German for the next seven years at OU until he was fired along with other faculty members, including OU pioneer president, Dr. David Ross Boyd, when the party control of the state government changed. Parrington then went to Washington. He died suddenly in 1929 in Gloucestershire, England, while taking the first vacation of his life.

COACHING HISTORY

TOM STIDHAM
1937-1940

5 Oklahoma's 10th football coach, Tom Stidham posted OU's most successful record of all time against Texas with only one loss in four years. His greatest triumph while at OU was his 23-0 demolition in 1939 of Coach Lynn Waldorf's Northwestern team that was picked to win the national championship. Stidham was the first Oklahoma coach to defeat Waldorf (both Adrian "Ad" Lindsey and Lewie Hardage had also tried). Stidham's 1938 Sooners were undefeated in the regular season and were ranked No. 4 in the AP poll, but lost in the Sooners' first bowl appearance, the Orange Bowl, to Tennessee. After OU's hard-fought loss to the Volunteers, Stidham went back to his hotel room, took off the gray suit he had worn triumphantly in the 10 games Oklahoma had won and dropped it out the fifth-floor window. He was a native Oklahoman who grew up in Checotah. Stidham was one-sixteenth Creek Indian. He went to Haskell Indian Institute of Lawrence, Kan., and played football from 1925-26 under Coach Dick Hanley. In 1927, Stidham went to the University of Iowa, but before he gained eligibility, Hanley, who had accepted the coaching position at Northwestern, asked him to be an assistant coach. He was Northwestern line coach from 1933-34. Captain "Biff" Jones hired Stidham to coach the Oklahoma line in 1935. When Jones left in 1937, Stidham became the head coach. In his time, Stidham placed more of his Oklahoma players with professional teams than any other coach. In 1940, 17 Sooners started in pro football and 10 stayed all season.

CHUCK FAIRBANKS
1967-1972

6 As Oklahoma's 16th head coach, Chuck Fairbanks won three Big Eight Conference titles (1967, 1972 and a shared title in 1968). He had 24 players earn all-league honors while nine received All-America accolades. Fairbanks also coached the 1969 Heisman Trophy winner, running back Steve Owens. In bowl games at OU, he posted a 3-1-1 record with the Sooners playing in a pair of Sugar and Astro-Bluebonnet bowls, and one Orange Bowl. Fairbanks was the first OU coach to use the wishbone formation, a triple option offensive attack that Texas used on its way to the 1969 national title. The wishbone became the backbone of OU's offensive dynasty for the next 20 years. In 1973, Fairbanks left OU to coach in the NFL for the New England Patriots. During his six-year tenure as the Patriots' head coach, Fairbanks set a club record with 46 wins. The Patriots also won two division titles in the American Football Conference's East division (1978 and shared in 1976). In 1978, Colorado began its battle to get Fairbanks as head coach, despite his four remaining years with the Patriots. After more than three months of legal battles between the Patriots and Buffaloes, the two factions agreed on a settlement that released Fairbanks from his NFL contract and allowed him to take over the helm at Colorado. He remained with the Buffaloes for three years. Fairbanks began his coaching career at Ishpeming High School in Michigan. From there, he went to Arizona State and Houston before coming to OU as a defensive backfield coach in 1966. As a player at Michigan State, Fairbanks played offensive end on the Spartans' 1952 national championship team. In 1954, he concluded his playing career by earning a berth in the Blue-Gray All-Star game.

COACHING HISTORY

JIM TATUM
1946

7 In his only year as OU coach, Jim Tatum devised a massive recruiting effort that took the Sooners to prominence. His venture in the first year after World War II had never happened before or since because NCAA rules would not permit it and no school could afford it. The process almost bankrupted OU. Tatum had tryouts, winter practices, spring practices and summer practices. The few rules the NCAA had in those days were largely ignored by Tatum. In pursuit of building a national powerhouse, he snared many discharged servicemen who had played at other colleges before the war. Tatum also raided rival campuses, recruited a conventional number of high school seniors and ran off most of the 1945 players. Estimates on the number of players who tried out ran as high as 600. Oklahoma's 1946 recruiting class produced nine All-Americans. In the 1945 coaching search, Oklahoma opted to hire Tatum over Paul "Bear" Bryant. A 32-year-old North Carolina native, Tatum had served with Jap Haskell, OU athletic director, in the Navy. Tatum was head coach one year at North Carolina before the war and led a Navy team at Jacksonville. He also was line coach at Iowa Pre-Flight under Missouri's Don Faurot, inventor of the Split-T offense. Some of the regents were more impressed with Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, Tatum's friend who accompanied him on the interview, than Tatum. After the Sooner victory over North Carolina State in the Gator Bowl, Maryland contacted Tatum and offered a coaching position. OU President Dr. George Cross privately hoped Tatum would leave so he could elevate Wilkinson. Tatum had become "very difficult to work with," said Cross. Tatum had also spent the athletic department's entire surplus of $125,000 before the first game and run up a deficit of $113,000. Tatum did accept the contract with Maryland. From there, he accepted the head coaching position at the University of North Carolina. Tatum died suddenly in 1958 of a mysterious viral infection despite appearing to be in excellent health.

BENNIE OWEN
1905-1926

8 At 17, Oklahoma's sixth football coach made part of the famous Cherokee Strip run from the south Kansas border into Oklahoma Indian territory, making him a true Boomer Sooner. His age prevented acquisition of any land, but his sense of adventure took him four miles into the territory before turning back, making him a true Okie. Bennie Owen coached Oklahoma for 22 seasons, longer than anyone else in school history. He began a tradition and a stadium that have endured for almost a century. Before coming to the university, Owen played and coached under Fielding Yost at Kansas and Michigan, and helped develop Yost's feared hurry-up offense. In it, Owen, the quarterback, would yell out signals for the next play on the bottom of the pile up of the preceding play. Although Owen only weighed 126 pounds, he was respected by all as a fierce competitor. Before coming to OU in 1905, Owen coached and taught chemistry at Bethany, Kan., an early football power. Four of Owen's Oklahoma teams—1911, 1915, 1918 and 1920—were undefeated. Owen's first football star at OU was Owen Acton in 1907, a halfback, who the university recognizes as its first all-conference player. Despite this, the 1907 season was misfortunate for both Owen and Oklahoma athletics. Owen lost his arm in an October hunting accident which left him out of coaching for the remainder of the season, and the athletic director, Vernon Parrington, was discharged by the new governor, Charles Haskell, along with all other Republicans at the university. It was not until 1911 that Owen and his players began to get national attention. In 1913, OU's Claude Reeds was recognized as an All-American. About this time, Owen began to seriously play around with the forward pass, which had been introduced on a highly restricted basis in 1907, to open up the game. Reeds was the first to make good use of the pass, but another Sooner All-American, Forest "Spot" Geyer, built a legend with it. At the end of the 1920 season, Owen announced that he intended to raise $340,000 to build a 30,000-seat stadium, with an eventual expansion to 52,000 seats, and a 5,000-seat gymnasium. By 1928, Owen's vision resulted in Memorial Stadium circling Owen Field, as well as the OU Field House. Owen coached six more years after 1920 before becoming solely athletic director. In 1950, Owen was one of 21 coaches to be elected to football's first National Hall of Fame.

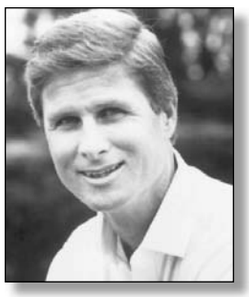
COACHING HISTORY



GARY GIBBS
1989-94

9 During his six seasons as the Sooners' head coach, Gary Gibbs led the football program through some of the toughest times in recent history. He took the helm in the summer of 1989 after Barry Switzer resigned. The Sooners began a probation term during that same period. In his first three seasons, the Sooners continued their pattern of success with the team making its first trip to a bowl game in two years. Oklahoma defeated Virginia at the 1991 Gator Bowl, 48-14. The full effects of probation finally caught up with the Sooners in 1992 as they compiled a 5-4-2 record. In 1993, Oklahoma defeated Texas for the first time in the Gibbs era, 38-17, as well as Texas A&M. The Sooners faced Texas Tech in the John Hancock Bowl, beating the Red Raiders 41-10. Gibbs started as a linebacker on Oklahoma's 1974 national championship squad and graduated from OU in 1975. Before deciding to join the OU coaching staff in 1975, Gibbs signed with the New England Patriots as a free agent. In 1981, Gibbs was named the Oklahoma defensive coordinator. Under his direction, OU defenders led the nation in total defense three straight years (1985-87) and twice finished first in rushing defense (1986 and 1987). Gibbs also helped the Sooners win a national championship in 1985.

FRED ROBERTS
1901

10 Fred Roberts first came to Norman in 1899 at the insistence of C.C. "Lum" Roberts, his cousin, who was then captain of the Sooner football team. Oklahoma's third football coach was a halfback who could both dodge and smash dangerously. When the 1899 OU team beat Arkansas, Roberts scored both Oklahoma touchdowns. In the final game of the that same season against the Arkansas City, Kan., Town Team, Roberts ran 70 yards off tackle for a touchdown. In 1900, Roberts left OU to play halfback for Bennie Owen at Washburn College of Topeka. When Vernon Parrington relinquished his coaching duties in 1901, Roberts was persuaded to return to Oklahoma to coach the team as well as play on it. In the Texas game at Austin, Roberts played so well that The Dallas Morning News said, "Roberts of OU played one of the prettiest individual games ever seen in this city." Against Fairmont, Roberts kicked seven field goals out of seven tries. He gained the reputation of being the outstanding halfback of the southwest. Roberts had to refuse the coaching job in 1902 because of increasing duties on his farm. He still returned from his farm to play for Oklahoma occasionally under Coach McMahon when the team needed him. In OU's final game of the 1903 season versus the previously undefeated Lawton Town Team, Roberts led Oklahoma over its opponent, 27-5.

JIM MACKENZIE

11

After finishing his first season as the head coach at Oklahoma, 37-year-old Jim Mackenzie died from a massive heart attack. In his only season at OU, his Sooners finished 6-4, but missed being 9-1 by only 10 points. Mackenzie's team upset two bowl teams, Texas and Nebraska, and he was named the 1966 Big Eight Coach of the Year by both AP and UPI. Mackenzie came to Oklahoma in December 1965, after spending nine years as assistant to Frank Broyles. Mackenzie was with Broyles for one year at Missouri as well as eight years at Arkansas. Mackenzie built great defenses for the Razorbacks, and in 1964, Broyles named Mackenzie assistant head coach. Oklahoma's 15th head coach was an All-Southeastern Conference tackle under Coach Bear Bryant at Kentucky. Kentucky compiled a 28-3 record and went to a bowl every season Mackenzie played. The Wildcats also upset Oklahoma's 1950 national champions, 13-7, in the 1951 Sugar Bowl. Mackenzie left an outline for Oklahoma's success in "The Winning Edge," a list of 20 principles Mackenzie believed held the keys to success in both football and life.

MARK MCMAHON

12

Captain and left tackle of the 1901 University of Texas team, Mark McMahon heard of Oklahoma's head coaching vacancy after the Texas and Pacific Railroad team of Dallas, composed of ex-college players like himself, defeated Oklahoma 11-5. That game marked the first time an Oklahoma football team ever played at the Texas State Fair. McMahon, who just graduated from UT Law School, asked for the coaching job to pay back his school expenses. He was hired under the condition that he would teach the OU team the wing shift, the trick play the Dallas team used to defeat the Sooners. McMahon's style was a mixture of the popular Princeton vogue he had learned at Austin combined with some moves he learned from the coach of the Dallas team, Charley Moran. He stressed line play and introduced the first tackling dummy in Norman. McMahon was known to suit up and throw some tackles if the team needed him. He liked long, hard schedules and because of that, the 1903 team played more games on the road than any OU team before or since. Of the 12 games in two months, only two were played in Norman. After repaying his law school debts, McMahon moved to Durant in the winter of 1903 to practice law.

COACHING HISTORY

DEWEY "SNORTER" LUSTER
1941-1945

13 At 5-foot-4, 135 pounds, Dewey "Snorter" Luster made a mark at his alma mater as the football and boxing coach. He piloted Oklahoma football to Big Six Conference titles in 1943 and 1944, and his team never finished below second place in the Big Six. Because of ill health, Luster missed several practices and the final game of the season against Oklahoma A&M in 1945. He resigned after that season. Luster lettered four years as a football player at OU. He was a starting end his last two years and team captain of the undefeated 1920 team (6-0-1) his senior year. Luster organized the Sooners' first wrestling team in 1920 while he was still an undergraduate. At that time, he also installed a boxing program at the university, which was winless in two meets. Thirty-six years later in 1956, Luster's boxing team placed sixth in the NCAA Championships. The sport was discontinued after that season. Luster got his nickname because he snorted so much as an amateur boxer. He decided he did not want a boxing career after fighting professional Mutt McGee for 10 rounds when Luster was only 15 years old. Before coaching at OU, Luster coached football at Norman High School. In 1922, he received his law degree from Oklahoma. Luster died at age 81 in his Norman home.

LAWRENCE "BIFF" JONES
1935-1936

14 Oklahoma's ninth football coach, Lawrence "Biff" Jones had also served as head coach at Army for four years (1926-29) and at Louisiana State for three years (1932-35). He left Oklahoma originally because the Army decided to transfer him to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., but an offer to head the Nebraska football team prompted Jones to resign from the Army and travel to Lincoln. During his 19-month tenure at OU, he rebuilt the athletic training department by adding whirlpool baths and needle showers and organized the equipment department to save thousands of dollars. He installed the Warner system of single and double wing-backing, a 1-9-1 shift, and strengthened the faulty Sooner running game. At the end of Jones' first season, the Sooners rushed 1,748 yards, nearly 200 yards per game, while permitting the opponents only 873 yards. At Nebraska, Jones led the team to two Big Six titles in four years. He coached the 'Huskers from 1937-40. In 1937, Nebraska was ranked 11th in the country and in 1940, NU was ranked seventh in the country.

FRED EWING

15 Oklahoma's fifth football coach, Fred Ewing was hired to coach the Sooners for the 1904 season, through Thanksgiving Day. To coach, Ewing took an extended vacation from the University of Chicago Medical School. At Knox College in Galesburg, Illinois, Ewing had been rated as the greatest Knox tackle of all time. He became the first Oklahoma coach to insist on using only scholastically eligible varsity players. Despite the fact that Ewing was only one year removed from his collegiate football career and that Roberts and McMahon, the two Oklahoma coaches before him, had played, he never participated in any of Oklahoma's varsity games. Ewing regularly used the Minnesota Shift, a formation in which on nearly every play, one offensive tackle was set behind the other offensive tackle and carried the ball or blocked. The 1904 season marked the first meeting between Oklahoma and Oklahoma A&M. Ewing's team defeated the Aggies, 75-0. One week later, Oklahoma faced Texas for the first game of the long series at the Texas State Fair in Dallas. Texas won, 50-10. Ewing devised a system of strapping strained ankles with adhesive tape that was years ahead of its time. The system got varsity players with injured ankles back into action quickly. The day after the Thanksgiving game, Ewing returned to medical school in Chicago.

COACHING HISTORY

ADRIAN "AD" LINDSEY
1927-1931

16 Oklahoma's seventh football coach, Adrian "Ad" Lindsey, is remembered as the coach who resigned quietly after failing to produce a winning team. Lindsey's record (19-19-6) was not that bad, however. His players were small in size and number and the schedules they faced were too difficult for such a small squad. Lindsey's 1929 team defeated Nebraska, 20-7, marking the worst defeat the Cornhuskers saw from a Big Six team in two decades. In 1931, he took his team and defeated the University of Hawaii in Hawaii, 7-0. This game marked the first time a university from the midwest was asked to play in the islands. Before coming to Oklahoma, Lindsey was an assistant football coach at Kansas, his alma mater. After his coaching tenure with the Sooners, Lindsey returned to KU as the head football coach until 1938. He also played professional baseball for the Pittsburgh Pirates from 1921 to 1925 and in Montreal for the Canadian League from 1925 to 1927. Lindsey fought with the Army in World War II and retired as a colonel in 1954. He died at age 85 in 1980.

HOWARD SCHNELLENBERGER
1995

17 Despite arriving at the University of Oklahoma with a career record that was less than .500, Howard Schnellenberger was highly touted and respected by his peers across the country. Schnellenberger had directed the Miami Hurricanes to a national championship in 1983 after only five years at the helm, and brought perennial loser Louisville to respectability, guiding the Cardinals to bowl victories over football powers Alabama and Michigan State during his 10 years as head coach. Schnellenberger attended the University of Kentucky where he was an All-American end, then went on to play two years in the Canadian Football League. After serving as an assistant at Kentucky, Alabama and the Miami Dolphins, Schnellenberger was named the head coach of the Baltimore Colts in 1973, and after two years in Baltimore, was the offensive coordinator of the 17-0 Super Bowl Champion Miami Dolphins. After his lengthy tenures at the University of Miami and the University of Louisville, Schnellenberger lasted only one year as the coach of the Sooners. Still, he renewed fan interest in the program, shown by the sellout (two) and near sellout home games. His lone Sooner team finished 5-5-1, keeping the non-losing season string alive at 30.

LEWIE HARDAGE
1932-34

18 The backfield coach for Vanderbilt before accepting the head coaching position at Oklahoma in 1932, Lewie Hardage played football as well as baseball for the Commodores. During his tenure at OU, he developed a lightweight football uniform consisting of foamed rubber head gear, knee pads and shin guards along with pants that ended three inches above the knee. This gear weighed approximately eight pounds, half of what the old style had weighed. He also built OU's fastest all-weather football field in his time. Only 12 players attended spring practice in 1932, but running back Bill Pansze kept the Sooners up 3-0 for the first half of the season. A knee injury in the Texas game took Pansze out for the remainder of the season and severely slowed the OU running game. "The same wolves who had harassed Ad Lindsey, began to yip at Hardage's heels" because of the Sooners' poor running and blocking. Hardage was fired in 1934. He then became the backfield coach at the University of Florida. Hardage later married and moved to a farm in Mississippi.

COACHING HISTORY

GOMER JONES

19

Gomer Jones was the Oklahoma line coach for 17 years under Bud Wilkinson. He assumed the athletic director and head coaching duties in 1964. In 1965, Jones resigned as head football coach, but remained as athletic director until his death in 1971. He joined the OU staff in 1947 after being a line coach at the University of Nebraska. Jones developed 16 All-American interior linemen while he was line coach at OU as well as two other All-Americans while he was head coach. He helped to develop nine Oklahoma bowl teams, 14 Oklahoma teams that won conference championships and three teams that won national championships. Jones graduated from Ohio State in 1935. While there, the 220-pound center was a first team All-American. After graduation, he played professional football with the Cleveland Rams. In 1937, he began his coaching career as freshman football and basketball coach at John Carroll University. From 1938-1940, Jones was assistant line coach at Ohio State, then in 1941-1942, Jones coached high school football in Ohio. Before going to Nebraska in 1946, he served in the Navy as line coach at St. Mary's Pre-Flight school. Jones' final coaching endeavor was termed "brilliant" as he coached the line of the West team that upset the favored East 22-7 in the 1965 Shrine game. That line paved the way as the West outrushed the East 208-70 net yards. Jones authored two books, Modern Defensive Football and Offensive and Defensive Line Play. He collapsed and died in a New York City subway station while accompanying the Oklahoma basketball team during the 1971 National Invitation Tournament.

20

John Blake was a four-time letterwinner at noseguard for the Sooners under Barry Switzer. He served as the defensive line coach from 1989-92 under Gary Gibbs and under Switzer with the Dallas Cowboys before taking the head coaching job at Oklahoma. Blake was named OU's 20th head coach Dec. 31, 1995, and led the Sooners through three seasons. One of the youngest coaches in college football, Blake led OU to victory over Texas in the first Big 12 overtime game, 30-27, in 1996.

JOHN HARTS

21

John Harts proposed, recruited and doctored the university's first football team in Bud Risinger's Norman barber shop. He had arrived for the fall term in 1895 to attend school and teach a class in elocution. Harts could kick farther than anyone else on the team. Because of his athletic ability and popularity, he was elected captain as well as coach. Harts had played collegiately at Southwestern College in Winfield, Kan., before coming to Norman. Before the first game, he jerked a knee tendon while making a flying tackle in practice and was unable to play. Harts realized that he lacked two players for the game so he enlisted the town's barber and a horse driver. This first team never scored a point or made a first down. The university's longest gain came on the team's first play when Bert Dunn returned a kickoff for 50 yards. Shortly after that game, Harts left school to prospect for gold in the Arctic.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium is one of America's most recognized college football cathedrals. Situated on the east side of the Norman campus, this historical facility is the largest sports arena in the state and, following its recent expansion, now ranks among the 15 largest on-campus facilities in the nation.

Memorial Stadium's rich heritage has not hindered its evolution, a never-ending growth fueled by the football program's overwhelming popularity. Almost since its inception, the stadium has been a work in progress.

That fact holds true today. Using bond money and generous contributions, the stadium has recently undergone a number of changes. The most major of those was a $65 million venture that added 8,000 seats, including 27 suites, on the east side. That work was completed in the summer of 2003. At the same time, the press box was remodeled and outfitted with several state of the art features.

In the two years prior to the stadium upgrade and expansion, renovations were completed in the coaches' offices, locker rooms, sports medicine and weight training facilities.

An additional 27 suites in the new east upper deck will open for the 2004 season bringing the total number of suites to 63 (54 east, nine west).

Renovations to the Santee Lounge, restroom and concessions facilities and a new brick facade on the west side will further enhance Oklahoma Memorial Stadium's reputation as one of the finest venues in all of college football.

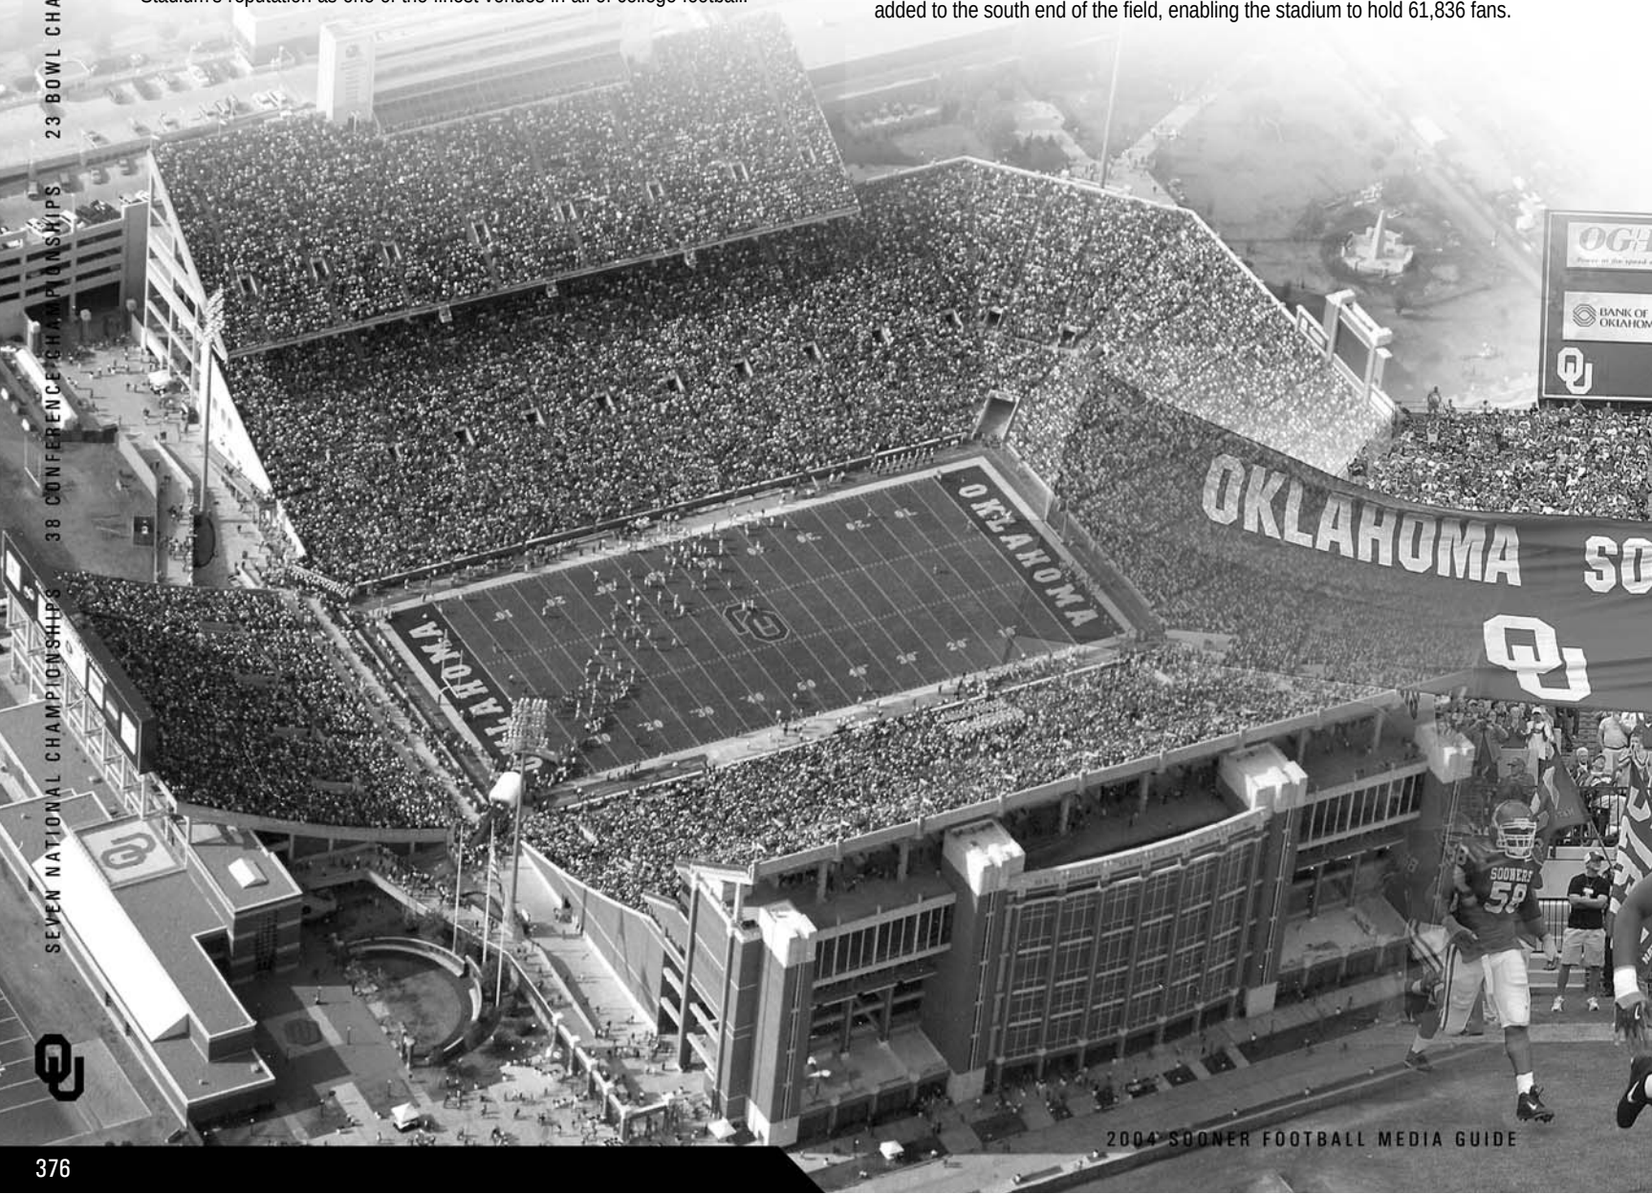
HISTORY

In 1921, University of Oklahoma students started a movement for construction of a student union. By 1925, the idea had grown to include a combined football stadium/student union. In the original architect's drawings, the north end of the proposed structure was strikingly similar to the present Oklahoma Memorial Union, which eventually was constructed separately when head coach Bennie Owen suggested it would be best to raise funds for a union and a stadium.

The first game played at the site took place Oct. 20,1923 (a 63-7 win over Washington, Mo.), before the stadium/union plan got under way. The field was named Owen Field after Owen, who became a charter member of the National Football Hall of Fame.

In 1925, the first contest was played in front of the new stands on the west side of the field. The 16,000-seat Oklahoma Memorial Stadium, named in honor of University personnel who died in World War I, was erected at a cost of approximately $293,000.

Stands on the east side of the stadium were added prior to the 1929 season. That addition increased the seating capacity to 32,000, where it stood for 20 years. In 1949, OU president George L. Cross pushed for expansion and the result was a six-foot lowering of the old playing surface and the elimination of a running track that surrounded the playing area. The changes produced 7,000 new ringside seats and brought capacity to 55,000. The north end of the stadium also was enclosed. In 1957, green grandstand bleachers were added to the south end of the field, enabling the stadium to hold 61,836 fans.



MEMORIAL STADIUM

Eighteen years later came the addition of the upper deck and new press box. Another 8,436 seats were added at a cost of $5,726,345. Capacity for the 1975 National Championship season was 71,187. Before the 1980 season, the old green bleachers were replaced with the new south end zone facility. In addition to improved seating, the complex included coaches' offices, the weight room, meeting rooms, a training room, the equipment room and two locker rooms. The addition brought the stadium capacity to 75,004. Capacity was decreased to 72,765 prior to the 1998 season to provide more wheelchair seating.

In July, 1970 the original natural grass surface was removed and artificial turf was installed. That tartan turf was replaced with super turf before the 1981 season. Owen Field returned to grass in 1994.

A Stadium Master Plan was approved by the OU Board of Regents in June 1994. Construction of nine west side suites began in April 1995 and was completed that year. The suites are leased annually. Eight of the suites seat 12 and the President's suite seats 24.

Subsequent improvements included the installation of stadium lights to allow night games, a new scoreboard and a video screen.

The Barry Switzer Center, named after the former OU head football coach, opened in April 1999. That complex includes a sports medicine facility with the latest equipment and technology to better accommodate OU's student-athletes; the Robin Siegfried and Family Strength and Conditioning Facility, which can accommodate more than 400 athletes; new locker rooms; new coaches offices; the Anderson All-American Plaza and the OU Touchdown Club Legends Lobby. The Legends Lobby features some of OU's finest moments and most legendary figures.

THE UNIVERSITY

Created by the Oklahoma Territorial Legislature in 1890, the University of Oklahoma is a doctoral degree-granting research university serving the educational, cultural, economic and health care needs of the state, region and nation.

The Norman campus serves as home to all of the university's academic programs except health-related fields. Both the Norman and Health Sciences Center colleges offer programs at the Schusterman Center, the site of OU-Tulsa.

The OU Health Sciences Center, which is located in Oklahoma City, is one of only four comprehensive academic health centers in the nation with seven professional colleges.

OU enrolls approximately 30,000 students, has more than 2,000 full-time faculty members, and has 19 colleges offering 154 majors at the baccalaureate level, 152 majors at the master's level, 74 majors at the doctoral level, eight majors at the first professional level, and five graduate certificates. The university's annual operating budget is more than $1 billion. The University of Oklahoma is an equal opportunity institution.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT OU?

- OU is in the top two public universities in the nation in the number of National Merit Scholars enrolled per capita, and in the top 10 of all public and private institutions in the number of freshman National Merit Scholars enrolled.

- OU is in the top five in the nation among all comprehensive public universities in the graduation of Rhodes Scholars.

- Despite a national downturn in philanthropic support for higher education, OU completed the 2003 fiscal year by recording its third straight year of $85 million or more in gifts received. Over the past nine years, gifts and pledges to the University of Oklahoma have totaled almost $809 million, including the 1995-2000 Reach for Excellence Campaign, which raised $514 million and closed as the fourth-largest public university fund-raising campaign in U.S. history.

- Due to OU's increased private support during the past eight years, the number of endowed faculty positions has tripled from 100 to 355.

- OU's private endowment has almost tripled since 1994, growing from $204 million to over $570 million.

- This year OU enrolled the highest ranked freshman class ever enrolled at a public university in Oklahoma.

- OU has licensed 38 technologies, 25 of which have resulted in 16 start-up companies. In addition, 65 OU technologies are available for transfer to the private sector. To date, 14 of the start-up companies have created 169 new jobs and have attracted over $250 million in investment funds. OU ranks in the top seven in total revenues received from intellectual properties developed at the University in proportion to total research revenues generated.

- OU ranks first among the Big 12 universities in the growth of federal research funding. OU's research and training programs have grown twice as fast as the national average over a 10-year period, according to a survey by the National Science Foundation.

- The $67 million National Weather Research Center being built on OU's Norman campus will be the largest weather research center of its kind in the nation. It will house OU's world-famous and highly regarded School of Meteorology as well as top weather research specialists of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

- OU is home to one of the two largest natural history museums in the world associated with a university. The Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History has more than 5 million artifacts and contains 198,000 square feet on 60 acres of land. The museum exhibits include the largest Apatosaurus on display in the world and the oldest work of art ever found in North America - a lightning bolt painted on an extinct bison skull.

- The University of Oklahoma has consistently been designated as one of America's 100 Best College Buys by Institutional Research & Evaluation, an independent higher education research and consulting organization.

- Since 1995, some $700 million in construction projects have been completed, are under way, or are upcoming on OU's three campuses. Among the largest of the current projects are the $69 million stadium expansion and renovation; the $18 million renovation and expansion of historic Holmberg Hall, home of music and dance programs; the $67 million National Weather Research Center; the $15 million addition to the Michael F. Price College of Business; the $17 million Gaylord Hall for journalism and mass communication; and the $27 million Stephenson Research and Technology Center.

- A major beautification campaign has transformed the appearance of the OU Health Sciences Center in Oklahoma City. The project has replaced a divided highway through campus with seven tiered gardens featuring traditional OU arches at each end. The new pedestrian walkway's landmarks include an OU Seed Sower sculpture at the west end, a clock tower at the east end, and a 70-foot granite fountain in the center.

ACADEMIC CENTER

PRENTICE GAUTT ACADEMIC CENTER

The Prentice Gautt Academic Center provides student-athletes with a modern, state-of-the-art academic support facility that promotes excellence. The environment encourages a collaboration between staff members and student-athletes. In addition, it is highly conducive to learning in all areas of students' academic endeavors and features seven learning centers.

Located on the second and third floors in the north end of Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium, the Academic Center houses Academic Counseling Offices, two Computer Centers, Learning and Skill Development Centers for reading, study skills, math, foreign languages, career, and communication, mentoring office and study areas.

ACADEMIC ADVISING

Academic Advising Services, considered a campus-advising unit, are conveniently located within the center. The athletics department employs five professional full-time counselors who are here to help student-athletes through the educational process. They are often available on a walk-in basis as well as through scheduled appointments.

It is important that student-athletes utilize their services. They will assist student-athletes with planning their class schedule and deciding on a degree program that will suit their needs. In addition, they can help student-athletes with career planning, setting academic goals, academic support strategies and personal counseling.

LEARNING CENTERS

Career Center

Whether student-athletes are freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors or alumni, they will benefit from the services of the Career Center. It provides a system of services that educates and guides students through the career development process.

The Career Center is dedicated to helping student-athletes make the transition from college to career by developing an individualized career plan where they gather information to assist in making a decision about a career. Additionally, they may obtain information on the suitable career list; explore classes and publications in the field as well as obtain experience; and gain knowledge and skills necessary for résumé writing, job-related letter writing, and interviewing techniques.

The Career Center is a link with the campus Career Services Office and offers student-athletes a wide array of effective job hunting skills, training and career services.

Kerr Foundation Computer Center

In the 21st century, computers have become an integral part of the learning experience. Students need access to computers and their resources almost daily. The Computer Center is here to meet these technological needs. The Athletics Department provides each student with the equipment and support necessary to succeed.

There are currently two computer centers within the Prentice Gautt Academic Center. These centers have more than 200 computers, and are available exclusively to OU's student-athletes. This ensures that they will never go without computer access. Student-athletes also enjoy a large amount of storage space on our Athletic Network.

Laptop computers are checked out to student-athletes when the Computer Centers are unavailable. The laptop program is very important in helping OU's student-athletes stay on top of their schoolwork when traveling.

Group training is available for all new student-athletes during the first week of supervised study. This helps familiarize each student-athlete with the department's resources and procedures. Individual training sessions are available to each student upon request and lab technicians are always on hand to help.

The Athletic Computer Centers have been a model for other universities around the country. OU plans on being a leader in the future as well. Upgrades are scheduled annually for both centers along with a facelift for the entire facility. A deep commitment from the Athletics Department ensures that the excellence in the Computer Centers will continue for a long time.

MCCLENDEN CENTER FOR INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

GAUTT CENTER

Communications Center
A new addition to the academic center focuses on developing communication and public speaking skills for student-athletes. This state of the art center, coordinated by a broadcast professional, builds strong media relations skills through the use of video equipment.

Kerr Foundation Foreign Language Center
To assist student-athletes in speaking, listening, reading and writing in other languages, the Kerr Foundation Foreign Language Center offers a multi-media environment that provides instruction in all foreign languages and in English as a second language. On an individual basis, student-athletes have the option of working with computers, audio-visual equipment and tutors in order to enchance student-athletes' language experience.

Computer Language Software Programs - give student-athletes interactive, individually-paced language drills to strengthen their skills.

Audio Listening Work Stations – allows student-athletes to listen to various language audio tapes and assigned materials.

Foreign Language TV/Video Viewing – provides the opportunity to hear native speakers in conversation as well as providing access to cultural information. There is a TV/VCR combination unit for showing foreign videos and cable connections to allow viewing of foreign language television programs.

Word Processing Software – allows student-athletes to complete foreign language writing assignments. After completion, student-athletes are able to print their assignments using the laser printer.

Tutoring – offered by the Language Center consultants, knowledgeable of the languages taught at OU, provide individual or group instruction.

Math Center
If performing math functions is a problem, the solution is the Math Center. As a supplement to class instruction, the Math Center provides all levels of math computations, concepts and problems to help student-athletes review course material. In addition, it offers personal and group tutoring sessions to assist with math assignments.

Study Skills Center
If student-athletes have trouble with assigned textbook readings or studying, the Reading and Study Skills Center can help. It provides student-athletes with reading and studying techniques and how to make direct applications to current resources. Consultation, computer-assisted instruction, tutoring and independent activities are available.

Thompson Writing Center
Because learning and writing are essential life-long skills which can always be strengthened, the Writing and Study Skills Center offers personalized instruction to student-athletes who seek assistance in refreshing, reviewing, or improving these skills.

The professional consultants of the center help student-athletes with a variety of academic tasks, from learning strategy instruction to any stage of the writing process including preparing for an essay exam and the formal research paper.

The goal is to help student-athletes develop the strategies they need to be successful by encouraging the use of the center for all facets of the learning and writing processes encountered in college.

AN AMERICAN HERO

PRENTICE GAUTT

In the 1950s, he came to OU to play football, and, in the process, broke down barriers and crushed stereotypes. Today, OU student-athletes use the Prentice Gautt Academic Center to break another kind of stereotype. The center that today's student-athletes use daily now bears the name of the man who left an indelible legacy for Sooner Athletics and helped change a society in the process.

The formal dedication of the Prentice Gautt Academic Center was held Friday, Sept. 17, 1999. The proposal to re-name the center was approved by the OU Board of Regents in March 1999.

"It is appropriate that this center be named after Prentice Gautt," OU President David L. Boren said. "His personal values and character, along with his leadership as associate commissioner of the Big 12 Conference, continue to bring pride to his alma mater.

His personal example of quiet courage, grace under pressure, and dedication to the university helped open the doors of opportunity for countless number of African-American and minority student-athletes who have followed him into collegiate athletics."

A standout high school athlete at Douglass High School, Gautt led his high school team to 43 consecutive wins before a loss in his senior season. He played in the first integrated high school football game in Oklahoma and was the first black to play in the state all-star game.

He excelled in the classroom as well. Gautt was a member of the National Honor society, president of the senior class, recipient of the Civitan Award for scholarship and activities and the DHS All-Around Boy Award.

In the fall of 1956, he became the first African-American to play football for OU. He was not the first black to try out for the football team but Gautt was the first to have financial support and the support of legendary Sooner coach Bud Wilkinson.

He came to OU using a four-year scholarship set up by a group of prominent black doctors and pharmacists in Oklahoma City who believed he had the strength of character to meet the tests they knew awaited him.

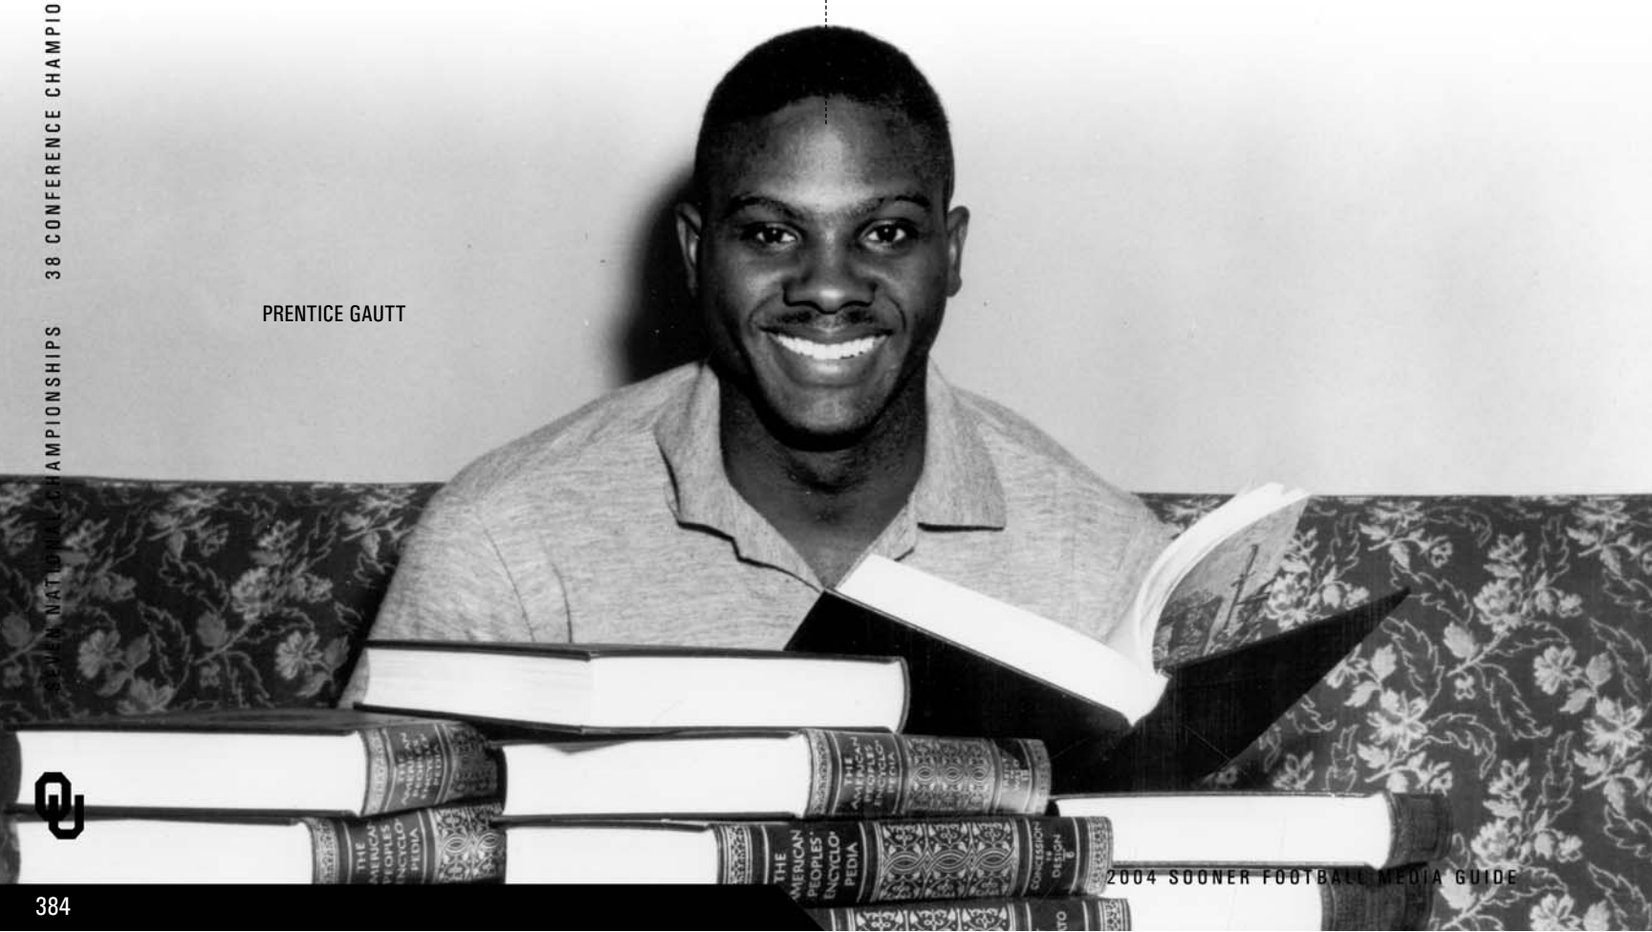
Less than two months into his freshman year, Gautt's ability had impressed Wilkinson enough to return the private money and put him on an athletic scholarship.

The challenges on the football field would be great, but they would pale in comparison to those Gautt would face off the field. Once again, the wisdom of those Oklahoma City benefactors and Coach Wilkinson was demonstrated. At every turn, Gautt met the discrimination hurled at him with dignity and class.

Gautt, who was OU's leading rusher in 1958 and 1959, was known as a fierce blocker for his teammates. He was named to the All-Big Eight team twice. His commitment to excellence was demonstrated in the classroom by earning Academic All-America honors.

He played professionally before joining the staff at Missouri as an assistant coach. He became an academic counselor and counseling psychologist in the Missouri athletic department, eventually earning his Ph.D. in counseling psychology from Missouri.

On April 1, 1979, he joined the staff of the Big Eight Conference as an assistant commissioner. He was named associate commissioner in May 1983 and, in June 1994, was promoted to senior associate commissioner. When the Big 12 Conference was formed, Gautt was named as associate commissioner.



PRENTICE GAUTT

CHAMPIONS FOR LIFE

Nationally, he served as the secretary/treasurer of the NCAA in 1994 and has served as chair of the Men's Committee of Committee. Currently, he serves as a member of the NCAA's Academic Requirements Committee.

In 1987, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Citation by OU for "conducting himself with dignity and integrity, touching and changing men and women far beyond the playing field….for his advice and counsel which have benefited countless individuals, and for the profound impact which he had upon his alma mater."

In the spring of 2002, Gautt received an honorary doctorate from OU in humane letters for his lifetime achievement in student-athlete welfare.

In May of 2004, the Big 12 announced that all post-graduate scholarships would bare his name.

STEPS FOR BUILDING "CHAMPIONS FOR LIFE"

STEP ONE: ASSESSMENT

New Student-Athlete Assessment - The levels of academic preparation, educational orientation and career interests for all incoming student-athletes are evaluated. A staff learning specialist administers a variety of academic skills and career interest assessments.

Individual academic support plans are then tailored to match a student-athlete's academic skills and career interests. Further, all new student-athletes are required to participate in a University orientation, which includes assessment in mathematics placement and foreign language, among others.

STEP TWO: SKILL DEVELOPMENT

Tutorial Program - A comprehensive tutoring program of approximately 80 tutors provides one-to-one and small-group instruction. Student-athletes are assisted with study skills, problem-solving techniques and specific course material. Athletic Student Life Office counselors may recommend tutors or a student-athlete may request one independently.

Study Skills - The Study Skills Center provides student-athletes with assistance in college reading strategies and individual instruction for reading improvement. Meanwhile, the Thompson Writing Center offers a dynamic, positive atmosphere to help student-athletes generate ideas and strategies for writing assignments.

Consultants help student-athletes organize papers, review grammatical basics, develop proofreading and library research skills, and design resumés. A learning specialist regularly conducts time management and study skills workshops. The staff's goals are to help student-athletes become independent writers and learners in the academic environment.

Computer skills - Understanding computers and having access to them on a regular basis are essential to today's successful student. The two Athletic Computer Centers, also located in the Prentice Gautt Academic Center, provide student-athletes with computer knowledge and access.

The Athletic Computer Centers are open six days a week with extended hours offered during peak times. Made possible from a $250,000 Kerr Foundation matching grant, the Athletic Computer Centers are equipped with more than 200 state-of-the-art computers, including IBM-compatible personal and laptop computers with color monitors, CD-ROM drives and modems. High-speed high-resolution laser printers, digital camera, video equipment and a scanner are also available for student-athlete use.

Software in use includes all popular word processing programs, spreadsheet programs, Power Point programs, databases and desktop publishing/graphic design programs. In addition, course-related software packages are available. Computer training courses are provided each semester and portable computers are available to student-athletes who need computer access after 11 p.m.

Foreign Language - The Kerr Foundation Foreign Language Center was established to assist student-athletes with speaking, listening, reading and writing in different languages. The Center, coordinated by a Modern Languages department member, offers a top-notch multimedia environment for all foreign language instruction.

Math Skills - Realizing the increasing role mathematics plays in society today, the Prentice Gautt Academic Center aims to help all student-athletes achieve understanding of math and related topics in their course work. The Mathematics Center offers regular instruction for student-athletes placed in preparatory mathematics courses and tutorial consultation in all math and statistics courses.

Career Preparation - At OU, non-athletic career preparation is enhanced through workshops in resumé development, job search strategies, interviewing skills and graduate school preparation assistance. The Sooner Career Program is dedicated to educating student-athletes about the world of work and providing a transition from college athletics to their first careers.

The program includes the OU Career Fair, career information seminars, opportunities for summer internships in various fields, an employment referral service and mentorship opportunities for graduating student-athletes. The Career Center, an exciting learning center, allows student-athletes the opportunity to explore potential careers and majors through a variety of resources.

Additionally, student-athletes are able to take personality and career inventories via computer. The Sooner Career Program is jointly sponsored by the OU Athletic Department, the Sooner Club and the "O" Club.

Supervised Study - Supervised study is a monitored study program designed to provide new student-athletes with organized study and tutoring time in an environment conducive to successful academic performance. Supervised study, located in the Prentice Gautt Academic Center, is held throughout the day and offers student-athletes a flexible study schedule.
(see Prentice Gautt Academic Center section for more details!)

Communication Skills - Communicating well is an essential skill in successful personal and professional interactions for OU student-athletes. The OU Communications Center offers training for effective oral communication and media relations. A working press conference room featuring a stage and modern audio-visual systems is available in a state-of-the-art communications center.

STEP THREE – COUNSELING

Psychological Services - Dr. Nicki Moore, our staff psychologist, offers student-athletes personal counseling and performance enhancement techniques.

Personal Career Counseling - Student-athletes receive caring, professional support from Dr. Gerald Gurney and his staff at all levels. This support may take several forms, including career choice, academic or personal decisions.

Academic Counseling and Advisement - Five professional athletic academic counselors are present to help student-athletes through the educational process. Approximately one counselor per 100 student-athletes is available to assist the student-athletes with planning class schedules, choosing degree programs and setting personal and academic goals.

Academic Monitoring - Course attendance and course performance are checked a minimum of four times per semester for each student-athlete participating in the intercollegiate athletic program.

CHAMPIONS FOR LIFE

Personal Health and Nutritional Counseling - The personal health and nutritional needs of student-athletes is monitored by the OU Sports Medicine staff of physicians and certified athletic trainers. The Wagner Dining Center is directed by a nutritionist who makes every effort to accommodate the special dietary and nutritional requirements of OU student-athletes.

The dining center serves all three meals with several healthy entrees to choose from. The menu is designed to meet the nutritional needs of every individual student-athlete by allowing them to choose from a variety of options to accommodate the unique demands of his/her schedule.

In addition, a program to promote substance abuse awareness requires student-athletes to enroll in a campus personal health course focusing on substance abuse, human sexuality, nutrition and stress management.

STEP FOUR – FACULTY RELATIONS

Faculty Guest Program - The faculty guest program's purpose is to enhance the athletic department's relationship with the faculty and staff. Faculty members are selected to be guest coaches for the week in all sports throughout the academic year.

During that time, the faculty guests are provided with a list of planned activities that are designed to give them an opportunity to experience various aspects of the athletic department's operations and introduce them to student-athlete lifestyles and expectations.

STEP FIVE – RESIDENT LIFE

Sooner Housing Center - Student-athletes reside in a variety of University housing environments, including the Sooner Housing Center. The Sooner Housing Center, managed by Athletic Student Life staff, is located across the street from Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium. It provides a living environment that is conducive to the academic and personal development of student-athletes.

The Sooner Housing Center was the winner of the 1998 President's Trophy for the outstanding housing center on the OU campus and was recognized for its contribution to academic excellence, innovative programming and campus diversity. The Sooner Housing Center was also selected as the President's Trophy runner-up in 1997 and 2000.

STEP SIX - LIFE SKILLS, ACADEMIC RECOGNITION, GRADUATION/POST ELIGIBILITY, COMMUNITY SERVICE AND STUDENT-ATHLETE LEADERSHIP

Life Skills Program - OU is a member of the NCAA's Life Skills Program and is dedicated to contributing to the growth and development of student-athletes through academic excellence, athletic excellence, personal development, community service, and career development.

The OU Athletic Department offers and maintains a strong commitment through comprehensive programs to fully develop the student-athletes' academic and personal potential, while enjoying the highest levels of athletic competition.

Academics Awards Program - The OU Athletic Student Life program places special emphasis upon recognition of outstanding academic performances by student-athletes. Scholar-athletes with a 3.0 GPA and above are recognized each semester at halftime of a football or men's basketball game.

An awards banquet is given in the spring to recognize scholar-athletes and special award winners. Graduating student-athletes receive recognition prior to OU's graduation ceremonies in May during a reception.

Each is given an "O" ring, representing their athletic participation and graduation from The University of Oklahoma. All scholarship student-athletes who exhaust their eligibility with eight semesters may receive an additional year of financial aid within a six-year period.

Student-Athlete Advisory Board - Student-athlete leaders from each sport comprise the Student-Athlete Advisory Board, which aims to improve communication with the athletic and University administration regarding student-athletes' needs and concerns.

The Student-Athlete Advisory Board has developed community outreach partnerships with local youth and retirement centers. The board also designs programs that encourage excellence in academics and social responsibility and serve to represent student-athletes on campus wide committees.

OU TRADITIONS

The University of Oklahoma athletics program boasts a tradition that few schools can rival. Over the years, Sooner squads have combined for 23 team national championships including seven in football, seven in wrestling, five in men's gymnastics, two in baseball, one in men's golf and one in softball.

The Sooner tradition isn't something buried in the past. It inspires our student-athletes to greater heights every season.

Oklahoma's student-athletes continue to lead in the classroom and their actions in the community are exemplary. With the Great Expectations project, Oklahoma is aggressively building the finest facilites in the nation.

Each day, it becomes more evident that the University of Oklahoma has become the finest comprehensive athletics program in the country. When OU student-athletes raise the trophy of another championship, the hands responsible for hoisting that trophy symbolize thousands of Sooners around the globe.

WHAT IS A SOONER?

College sports fans are hard-pressed to find a nickname that is as unique and as linked to a state's history as a Sooner. The University of Oklahoma is the only school known as Sooners.

The Oklahoma Territory opened with the Land Run of 1889. Settlers from across the globe, seeking free land, made their way to the prairies of the plains to stake their claim to a new life. One of the few rules to claiming a lot of land was that all participants were to start at the same time, on the boom of a cannon. All settlers who started then were labeled as "Boomers" and the ones who went too soon were called "Sooners."

Also, increasingly, "Sooner" came to be a synonym of Progressivism. The Sooner was an "energetic individual who travels ahead of the human procession." He was prosperous, ambitious, competent, a "can-do" individual. And Oklahoma was the Sooner State, the land of opportunity, enterprise and economic expansion, very much in the Progressive spirit that engulfed the old South in the 1920's.

OU athletic teams were called either Rough Riders or Boomers for 10 years before the current Sooner nickname emerged in 1908. The university actually derived their name from a pep club called 'The Sooner Rooters.'

The success of University of Oklahoma athletic teams over the years has made the nickname synonymous with winning.

CRIMSON & CREAM

The school colors of crimson and cream became official over a century ago and you can still see those colors worn proudly by Sooner athletes and fans alike on gamedays or when they want to show their love for the university.

In the fall of 1895, Miss May Overstreet, the only woman on the faculty, was asked to chair a committee to select the colors of the university. The committee decided the colors should be crimson and cream and an elaborate display of the colors was draped above a platform before the student body.

The student body approved with great enthusiasm and immediately pennants, banners, badges and decorations of every description appeared on the streets, in the windows, at chapel, in classrooms, and all public places; however, local merchants could not supply the demand.

Even though the school colors have evolved to red and white over the years, you can ask any self-respecting Sooner what the colors are and they will proudly announce “Crimson and Cream.”

THE SOONER SCHOONER

The Sooner Schooner is a Conestoga, or covered wagon, reminiscent of the mode of travel used by pioneers who settled Oklahoma. The Schooner is powered by matching white ponies named Boomer and Sooner, and it ventures onto Owen Field in a triumphant victory ride after OU scores.

Although the Schooner was introduced in 1964, it did not become the official mascot until 1980. The Schooner is well-recognized by college athletics fans across the country and makes regular appearances at university functions.

BOOMER SOONER

One of the most recognizable college fight songs in the country, 'Boomer Sooner' immediately evokes enthusiasm from OU fans and sends chills down the spines of those who dare to oppose them.

In 1905, Arthur M. Alden, a student in history and physiology whose father was a Norman jeweler, wrote the lyrics to the fight song, borrowing the tune from Yale University's 'Boola Boola' but improvising the words. A year later, an addition was made to it from North Carolina's 'I'm a Tarheel Born' and the two combined to form the university's fight song today. Though the tune was first made known by Yale, the everlasting success of Sooner squads has taken the melody of 'Boomer Sooner' to national popularity.

Boomer Sooner, Boomer Sooner
Boomer Sooner, Boomer Sooner
Boomer Sooner, Boomer Sooner
Boomer Sooner, OK U!
Oklahoma, Oklahoma
Oklahoma, Oklahoma
Oklahoma, Oklahoma
Oklahoma, OK U!
I'm a Sooner born and Sooner bred and when I die, I'll be Sooner dead
Rah Oklahoma, Rah Oklahoma
Rah Oklahoma, OK U!

THE OU CHANT

Every fan who wears the official colors, each current student and student-athlete and all OU alumni are encouraged to stand and raise one finger in the air during the playing of the Chant -- a symbolic gesture that shows the greatness of the university and the unity between all Sooners. The Chant was written in 1936 by Jessie Lone Clarkson Gilkey, who directed the OU girl's glee club from 1936 to 1938 and was voted Outstanding Faculty Woman in 1937.

O-K-L-A-H-O-M-A
Our chant rolls on and on!
Thousands strong
Join heart and song
In alma mater's praise
Of campus beautiful by day and night
Of colors proudly gleaming Red and White
'Neath a western sky
OU's chant will never die.
Live on University!

OKLAHOMA

The Pride of Oklahoma proudly plays perhaps the most popular and recognizable state song in history. Oklahoma! is the final rousing chorus of Rodgers and Hammerstein's epic musical. Breaking all Broadway box office records when it opened in 1943, Oklahoma! was the first collaboration between the legendary pair who were awarded a Pulitzer Prize for their seminal work.

THE SOONER CLUB

THE SOONER CLUB

The University of Oklahoma Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is entirely self-supporting and receives no state funds, which creates a significant need for private contributions. Our reliance on private support increases each year as the cost of education and the resources necessary to maintain a quality athletics program continue to escalate.

The athletics department is responsible for the educational expenses (tuition, fees, room, board, and books) of more than 400 student-athletes who receive financial assistance to attend OU and represent the university in intercollegiate competition.

The Sooner Club, as the principal fund-raising arm of OU Athletics, provides a way for individuals to help these talented young people receive a quality education from The University of Oklahoma while ensuring OU's tradition of excellence continues.

OU Athletics, through its 20 men's and women's intercollegiate sports, provides a sense of pride for the institution, its faculty/staff, alumni, students, and friends. A successful athletics program deepens this pride, serving as a rallying point for the entire university community, and enhancing national exposure, which can help attract the best and brightest to our campus.

The Sooner Club is dedicated to the continuing improvement and development of OU's athletics program. Its members are friends, alumni, and advocates of the university who recognize the value of the intercollegiate athletics experience and enthusiastically participate in a variety of support activities. The Sooner Club is the cornerstone of OU Athletics, and the support of its members is absolutely essential for the success of our student-athletes.

The greatest benefit of Sooner Club membership is the knowledge that your generous gift creates educational opportunities for talented young men and women who represent The University of Oklahoma. However, there are a number of other benefits associated with different levels of giving. The Sooner Club offers a number of gameday hospitality areas, including the following:

SOONER CLUB TAILGATE PARTY

The tailgate party (formerly tent village) is college football's premier gameday event. The party is open to Bronze Sooner Circle members and above (those who are contributing $1,500 or more annually). The tent village opens two and a half hours prior to kickoff and closes 30 minutes prior to kickoff. Local restaurants and merchants are on hand to serve you their local favorites.

KERR-MCGEE STADIUM CLUB

The Kerr-McGee Stadium Club is the center of football gameday hospitality in the new east side expansion. This unique area has exceptional amenities; including prime sideline views of the Nation's best football program; a climate-controlled club lounge with spectacular views of Owen Field; upscale food and beverage service; private restrooms; exclusive elevator access; and in-lounge video monitors. The Kerr-McGee Stadium Club is accessible only to those Sooner Club members with club seats.

KERR-MCGEE COURTSIDE CLUB

The Kerr-McGee Courtside Club at the Lloyd Noble Center is an exclusive gathering place for Sooner Club members with men's basketball season tickets who provide an annual gift of $3,000 or more. The Kerr-McGee Courtside Club features dining and beverage service on gamedays, offering a pre-game meal, extended services during half-time, plus post-game activities.

PRESIDENT BOREN

DAVID L. BOREN

Thirteenth President
The University of Oklahoma

David L. Boren, who has served Oklahoma as governor and U.S. senator, became the thirteenth president of the University of Oklahoma in November 1994. He is the first person in state history to have served in all three positions.

Boren is widely respected for his academic credentials, his longtime support of education, and for his distinguished political career as a reformer of the American political system. A graduate of Yale University in 1963, Boren majored in American history, graduated in the top one percent of his class and was elected Phi Beta Kappa. He was selected as a Rhodes Scholar and earned a master's degree in politics, philosophy and economics from Oxford University, England, in 1965.

In 1968, he received a law degree from the University of Oklahoma College of Law, where he was on the Law Review, elected to the Order of the Coif, and won the Bledsoe Prize as the outstanding graduate by a vote of the faculty.

As Oklahoma's governor from 1974 through 1978, Boren promoted key educational initiatives that have had an enduring impact on Oklahoma. Established during his tenure were: the Oklahoma Summer Arts Institute, the Scholar-Leadership Enrichment Program, and the Oklahoma Physicians Manpower Training Program, which provides scholarships for medical students and medical personnel who commit to practice in underserved rural areas. Also, the first state funding for Gifted and Talented classes was provided in 1976 and, from 1976 through 1978, Oklahoma ranked first among all states in the percentage increases of funding for higher education.

One of Boren's most far-reaching projects in promoting quality education at all levels is the Oklahoma Foundation for Excellence, which he founded in 1985. The foundation recognizes outstanding public school students and teachers and helps establish private local foundations to help give academic endowment grants to local public schools. As a senator, he was the author of the National Security Education Act in 1992, which provides scholarships for study abroad and for learning additional languages, as well as legislation to restore the tax deductibility of gifts of appreciated property to universities in 1993.

Boren, also a former state legislator, spent nearly three decades in elective politics before becoming the president of the University of Oklahoma. Boren was the youngest governor in the nation when he served from 1974 to 1978. Known as a reformer, Boren campaigned with a broom as his symbol. During his term, he instituted many progressive programs, including conflict-of-interest rules, campaign-financing disclosure, stronger open meeting laws for public bodies, and more competitive bidding on state government contracts.

During his time in the U.S. Senate -- from 1979 to 1994 -- Boren served on the Senate Finance and Agriculture Committees and was the longest-serving chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Intelligence. From his days as a state legislator and governor of Oklahoma to Washington, Boren carried a commitment to reform, leading numerous efforts to make government work better for American citizens. As chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, he strengthened oversight of secret government programs and reformed the procedures for Presidential notice of such programs to Congress.

For more than 10 years, he led the fight for congressional campaign finance reform and for legislation discouraging administration and congressional staff from cashing in on government experience and contacts by becoming lobbyists. In addition, he introduced legislation seeking to limit gifts and travel subsidies that government workers, including members of Congress, can receive from lobbyists. Boren also chaired the special 1992-93 Joint Committee on the Organization of Congress, which produced proposals to make Congress more efficient and responsive by streamlining congressional bureaucracy, reducing staff sizes and reforming procedures to end legislative gridlock.

Boren left the U.S. Senate in 1994 with an approval rating of 9l percent after being re-elected with 83 percent of the vote in 1990, the highest percentage in the nation in a U.S. Senate contest in that election year.

Boren served from 1988 to 1997 as a member of the Yale University Board of Trustees. His university experience also includes four years on the faculty of Oklahoma Baptist University, where he was chairman of the Department of Political Science and chairman of the Division of Social Sciences. In 1993, the American Association of University Professors presented Boren with the Henry Yost Award as Education Advocate of the Year.

In April, 2004 Boren received the Mory's Cup from the Mory's Association from Yale University. In making the presentation to Boren it was noted that he was the first Yale graduate in the university's history extending over three centuries to have served as a Governor, U.S. Senator and President of a major university.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. MOLLY BOREN

Under Boren's leadership, the University of Oklahoma has developed and emerged as a "pacesetter university in American public higher education," with 20 major new programs initiated since his inauguration. They include establishment of the an Honors College, the Charles M. Russell Center for the Study of Art of the American West, the Artist-in-Residence Program, the International Programs Center, and the Faculty-in-Residence Program putting faculty family apartments in student residence halls. The Retired Professors Program has been started; bringing 50 retired full professors back to the University to teach freshmen.

The number of new facilities started or completed on the campus during the Boren years has matched the explosion in new programs. A $15 million renovation of the Oklahoma Memorial Union is now complete. The Catlett Music Center with its $16 million concert and recital halls has opened, and so has the Jimmie Austin OU Golf Course and the Charlie Coe Golf Learning Center. The Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History, the largest natural history museum of its kind in the world based at a university, opened in 2000. The Barry Switzer Center and Siegfried and Family Strength and Conditioning Complex are now operational.
The Health Sciences Center has a new Student Union, and the new $24 million Stanton L. Young Biomedical Research Center. Construction is underway on the $17 million addition for the College of Law.

Presidential Travel Scholarships, students from 111 countries on campus, more reciprocal international exchange agreements than any other university and the new International Programs Center are all making OU more international. The new Honors College helps to assure that no students need to leave Oklahoma to find an educational experience to match their potential.

In 1995, Boren launched the Reach for Excellence fundraising campaign with a five-year goal of $200 million, which was twice as large as any fundraising drive in Oklahoma history. The drive exceeded $500 million, raising OU into the top 15 public universities in the United States in private endowment per capita. Since 1994, endowed professorships have tripled and the OU donor base has grown from 18,000 to more than 72,000 friends and alumni.

Above all, the Boren years have been marked by an emphasis on putting students first. There is not a university president in the country that is more committed to students as his number one priority. He teaches a freshman-level course in political science each semester despite the incredible demands on his schedule.

Boren is married to Molly Shi Boren, a former judge and English teacher. Molly Boren has two degrees from the University of Oklahoma, a master's degree in English and a Juris Doctor degree from the OU College of Law. A native of Seminole, Boren has two children, Carrie Christine Boren, a graduate student at Oxford University and David Daniel Boren, a member of the Oklahoma House of Representatives.

Devoting much of his life to public service, Boren drew from the example of his father, the late Congressman Lyle H. Boren.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

JOE CASTIGLIONE

Director of Athletics
The University of Oklahoma

In six years, Joe Castiglione has established a pattern of excellence that few in his profession could match.

While Castiglione would quickly point out that the credit belongs to the student-athletes and coaches, the staff and the university administration, the donors and the fans, someone had to make the first step, to take the lead. He has authored one of the most successful athletics eras ever witnessed at OU and an addition and expansion of facilities that is unmatched in Sooner history.

Using the motto of "Inspiring Champions Today ... Preparing Leaders for Tomorrow" as the basis for all decisions, Castiglione has made an unwavering commitment to excellence and to the student-athletes. His vision and ability have changed the face of intercollegiate athletics at the University of Oklahoma.

He has been honored by his peers for the success enjoyed at the University of Oklahoma in his tenure. In 2003, he was inducted into the National Association of Collegiate Marketing Administrators Hall of Fame. In June 2001, he received the General Robert R. Neyland Athletic Director Award for lifetime achievement from the All-American Football Foundation. In 2000, he was named the Central Region AD of the Year by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA).

The 11th director of athletics at the University of Oklahoma has celebrated four national championships, numerous top-10 NCAA finishes, record numbers of graduating student-athletes, dramatically increased donor giving, huge increases in ticket sales for all sports, major facility improvements and development and construction of new facilities. And, as aggressive as the push to improve, expand and excel has been, he has displayed and demonstrated his ability to produce a balanced budget for the OU Athletic Department for the last six years, a first since the early 1980s.

His commitment to the student-athletes requires success in all endeavors and over the last six years, Castiglione and his Sooners have written several new chapters in the Sooner success story.

The 2003-2004 year demonstrates the overall excellence that Castiglione has made the department's top priority. The Sooners finished an all-time best of 15th in the United States Sports Academy Director's Cup Trophy standings, the second highest ranked program in the Big 12.

Presented by NACDA, the Sports Academy and USA Today, the Director's Cup (previously known as the Sears Cup) is awarded to best overall Division I athletic program by using the final finish in up to 10 men's and 10 women's sports teams. The 15th place finish also marked the fourth consecutive year for OU to finish in the top 20.

The Sooners finished second in men's gymnastics, third in football, fifth in softball and ninth in wrestling and women's gymnastics in 2003-2004. OU also produced one national individual champion when DaBryan Blanton won the indoor 60-meter dash title and several current and former Sooners will represent the school and their countries in the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens. OU sent teams or individuals to NCAA postseason competition in 18 of 20 sports.

The 2002-03 school year yielded a Big 12 title and Rose Bowl crown in football, a third straight Big 12 Tournament title for men's basketball, a second straight national championship in men's gymnastics, and a fourth straight Women's College World Series appearance by the softball team. The Sooners finished 20th in the Sears Cup standings.

Most impressive was the fact that OU announced a graduation rate of 74% for its student-athletes, the highest mark posted by any of the Big 12 member schools.

OU finished 17th in the 2001-2002 Sears Directors' Cup standings. Oklahoma was the talk of college athletics during the 2001-02 school year when the Sooners went 11-2 with a Cotton Bowl championship and No. 6 ranking in football, sent both the men's and women's basketball teams to their respective Final Fours, won the NCAA men's gymnastics championship, finished No. 3 in wrestling and No. 6 in women's golf and sent the softball team to the Women's College World Series.

Eleven of the school's 20 programs achieved a top 25 ranking. The football and basketball teams combined to win 74 games, a record among college athletics programs.

Few thought such an encore possible following the achievements of the 2001 school year in which 17 of OU's teams sent competitors to NCAA postseason competition and 36 Sooners earned All-America honors. In addition to the national championship in football, the men's gymnastics team finished second and the wrestling team was fourth. The Sooner softball team finished fifth. The women's basketball and women's gymnastics teams were ninth and five Sooner teams earned conference championships.

Classroom results also were part of the success story as a record number of Sooner student-athletes were part of OU's Class of 2001.

The 1999-2000 season produced OU's 20th national team championship and four conference champions while 18 teams competed in postseason action. For the first time in his Sooner tenure, the University of Oklahoma ranked in the top 25 in the prestigious Sears Cup competition.

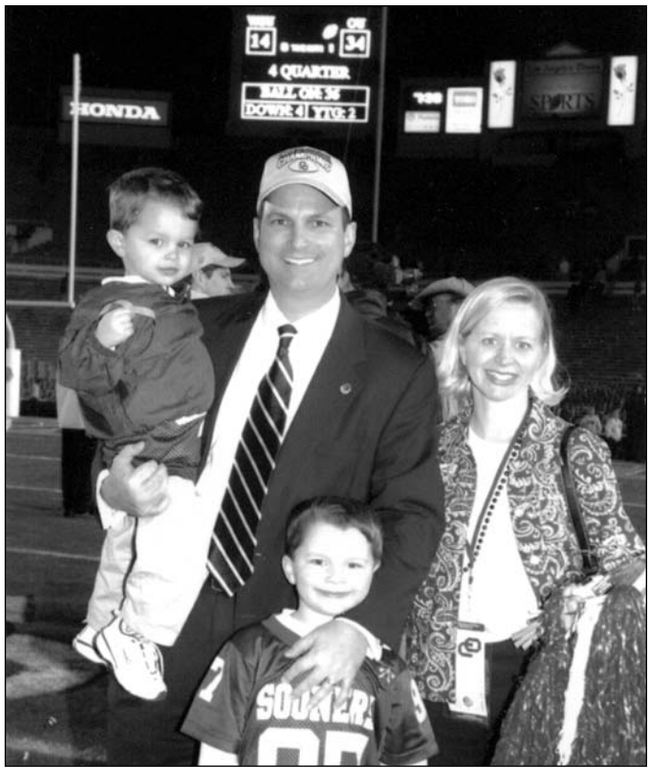
The Sooners had five GTE Academic All-Americans, including one Academic All-American of the Year for her sport, and several others were named to GTE all-district and other coach's/sport Academic All-America teams.

His first year as a Sooner also saw 18 teams participate in postseason action and win conference titles in wrestling, softball, men's gymnastics. OU earned the NCAA/CHAMPS Life Skills Program of Excellence award in the fall of 1998 given by the Division IA Athletic Directors Association.

The Sooner tennis teams earned their third consecutive ITA Academic All-America honor and OU placed the second highest number of student-athletes on the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll.

Credited with energizing OU's fund-raising efforts, Castiglione was instrumental in re-energizing the athletics department's major campaign, Great Expectations: The Campaign For Sooner Sports. The campaign officially came to an end in November of 2003 with more than $125 million raised or pledged and it has become a blueprint for success that college athletic departments across the country are using.

The largest fund-raising effort in OU athletics history, Great Expectations was a unique because it includes projects that will affect every sport and each of OU's nearly 500 student-athletes with facility construction and/or improvements.



Castiglione understands that a commitment to excellence requires several ingredients and he has made that one of his priorities. Fund-raising for athletics at OU is at an all-time high, both in annual campaigns and the capital campaign. On behalf of the University of Oklahoma, he cultivated several million dollar gifts, the largest capital gifts in history for athletics at OU and some of the largest ever for the university as a whole.

He has overseen dramatic construction, renovation and expansion of OU's athletics facilities, including a $70 million project at Oklahoma Memorial Stadium. The $17.2 million renovation of Lloyd Noble Center, which gives the Sooner basketball programs one of the best competitive and practice facilities in the nation, was completed in the fall of 2001. The Headington Family Tennis Center also was completed in 2001.

In addition, the Everest Training Facility, one of the largest indoor practice areas in the country, is now complete as are renovations at John Jacobs Field, the Sooners' track and field complex. Other completed projects include a redesign of the Sooner football practice fields; the Port Robertson Wrestling Facility; the Sooner Soccer Complex and John Crain Field which opened for competition in September 2000; as well as additional renovations to L. Dale Mitchell Park, the Charlie Coe Golf Learning Center, the OU Softball Complex and Barry Switzer Center. A master plan includes additional renovations and improvements in the future.

Castiglione has overseen the selection process of head coaches including Bob Stoops who led the Sooner football program to its seventh national championship, as well as soccer, volleyball, cross country, men's and women's gymnastics and men's golf, and reorganized the infrastructure of the athletic department.

He negotiated a multi-million dollar multi-media rights contract that produces more than $8 million in new revenue for the athletics department. The Sooners have had sellouts in football for each of the last five seasons, and season tickets were sold out for the 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004 seasons. A waiting list has been created for Sooner football for the first time the 1980s.

Chaired by OU President David L. Boren, members of the search committee knew they wanted a dynamic leader as they looked for OU's 11th athletic director. They knew they had selected a person who would lead the department to success in all endeavors when Castiglione was hired on April 30, 1998. They knew he was a bright, young leader on the collegiate athletic scene, and all they had to do to find the proof of that was look to Missouri.

In his 18-year career with the Tigers, Castiglione, who was named director of athletics at Missouri on Dec. 15, 1993, rebuilt the pride and infrastructure of the Mizzou Athletic Department. Many of the accomplishments he has enjoyed at OU were part of his legacy at Missouri including rebuilding sports programs, hiring outstanding coaches, a master plan for facilities, record-setting increases in fund-raising and balancing the budget in each of his five years as athletic director.

Castiglione began his collegiate athletic career as a walk-on football player at the University of Maryland, giving him a unique perspective on the challenges faced by student-athletes. He worked as a student in the highly progressive sports marketing department at Maryland, an institution regarded as a pioneer in collegiate marketing.

After graduation in 1979, he became the sports promotions director at Rice University and also was given fund-raising responsibilities where he doubled the annual giving for Rice athletics in just one year. He then worked a year as director of athletic fund-raising at Georgetown before being hired at Missouri as director of communications and marketing in 1981 by then-AD Dave Hart, Sr.

Castiglione is active on a conference and national level. He is currently serving on the Board of Directors for the Collegiate Women Sports Awards, formerly the Honda Award, and is a board member of the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame. He served two terms as chair of the Big 12 Board of Athletics Directors, completing his second in 1999-2000. He is past president of the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association and NACDA.

Castiglione served a four-year term on the NCAA Championship/Competition Cabinet and is a member of the NCAA Football Special Events Certification Committee. He also served a four-year term on the NCAA's Baseball Committee.

In 1989, Castiglione was founder of the National Association of Collegiate Marketing Administrators, an organization he served four terms as president (1990-93). In 1997, he was honored by NACMA for his contributions to intercollegiate sports marketing. He was named to The Sporting News' Powers That Will Be List in 2000. Locally, he is a board member with the Cleveland County United Way and is an executive board member with the Jim Thorpe Association.

A native of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Castiglione was born Oct. 8, 1957. He is married to the former Kristen Bartel, a 1990 graduate of the University of Missouri. They are the proud parents of two sons, Joseph Robert, Jr., born on December 20, 1996, and Jonathan Edmund, born on March 21, 2000.

Additionally, a new, innovative internet partnership was formed with XoS Technologies, providing Sooner fans with the most accurate and up-to-date information on Oklahoma athletics at SoonerSports.com. The website features the O-Zone -- a premium subscription service that delivers exclusive audio, video and editorial content. These relationships have resulted in an enhanced fan experience, increased annual revenues and greater exposure for the University of Oklahoma and its athletics program.

During Hart's tenure, records for attendance and ticket sales have been established in nearly every sport. Radio and television coverage has been enhanced and expanded for many sports including football, men and women's basketball, baseball, softball and wrestling. Internet coverage also increased with over 100 live OU sporting events webcast on SoonerSports.com last season. Hocutt's duties at OU include supervision of the athletics development office, athletics ticket office, special events, stadium suite program, athletics endowment program, letterwinners association and the department's facility use and rental program. He additionally is the primary administrator for football and the sport supervisor for baseball, men's and women's golf, as well as men's and women's tennis.

Hocutt has led OU's athletics fundraising to an all-time high in annual giving and capital campaigns. Since 1998, OU's annual giving has increased from $3.4 million to over $14 million in 2004. This 312% increase in annual giving is one of the highest percentage increases in intercollegiate athletics history.

Beginning in 1999, Hocutt served a leadership position in the strategic planning for the $100 million capital campaign titled: The Campaign for Sooner Sports...Great Expectations. This campaign was truly unique in the fact that it focused on facility construction or improvements for each of OU's 20 sports. The Great Expectations Campaign came to an end on Nov. 14, 2004, and had raised over $120 million.

In ticketing, Hocutt has supervised the sale of 63 stadium suites, as well as the sale of 2,250 club seats and 5,000 chair back seats resulting in $56 million of revenue at Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium. The 2003 football season marked the fifth consecutive year that the Sooners have sold out all home football games.

With an emphasis on better organizing the reuniting of alumni with their respective sport team, Hocutt has supervised development of the Sooner Sports Reunion Program. This program is vitally important to OU Athletics as it continues to promote the rich history of success by bringing Sooner alums back to campus to celebrate their experience as a Sooner student-athlete.

Prior to joining the Sooner staff, Hocutt served as the assistant director of licensing at the NCAA. In that position, he worked with NCAA corporate partners and licensees to create new revenue producing initiatives to support and promote all 81 NCAA Championships. He began his career in sports administration as the assistant director of marketing and promotions at Kansas State University. While at K-State, he implemented revenue-producing activities for the athletics department including corporate partner sponsorships and ticket sales.

A former student-athlete at Kansas State, Hocutt was a four-year letterman in football while leading the Big Eight Conference in tackles and being named All-Big Eight Conference linebacker during his junior season. The Sporting News selected him in 1993 as one of the top 20 "underrated" players in the nation.

Hocutt earned his bachelor's degree from K-State in political science in 1995 and his master's of education degree from the University of Oklahoma in December 2001. He is married to the former Diane Grosko and they are the proud parents of two sons, Drew Phillips, born Feb. 21, 2002 and Brooks Ryan, born May 7, 2004.

Mossman began his career as the sports editor at the Pratt, Kan., Daily Tribune, winning two Kansas Press Association awards while at the newspaper.

Nine of his publications have won awards from the College Sports Information Directors of America and he has supervised a number of other CoSIDA publication award winners. THE "O" CLUB

Distinctive, special, and symbolic are all words that can describe the University of Oklahoma "O" ring, as well as those people who have earned the right to wear it proudly.

The block "O" ring identifies the person wearing it as a member of the family of alumni letterwinners of the University of Oklahoma, and they must be letterwinners who actually earned their degree. Nearly 5,000 men and women have lettered at the University of Oklahoma and more than 1,000 of those are still active dues paying members of the "O" Club, an alumni association of letterwinners.

The Club was founded in 1925 and originally was open to all male letterwinners who had graduated. Membership is now open to all letterwinners, male and female, and the 1991-92 academic year marked the first time in club history that a woman served as the "O" Club president.

Legendary Sooner wrestling coach and assistant athletic director Port Robertson organized and ran the club until his retirement in 1985. Associate athletic director Leon Cross took over as executive director and was the backbone of the club until his retirement in 1991. Don Jimerson currently serves as executive director.

Former Sooner high jumper Robert Castleberry is serving as president of the club.

Since its inception, the club has been an active supporter of several athletic department activities. In 1990, the "O" Club donated $250,000 toward the athletic academic center. Previous to that donation, the club had partially underwritten the OU academic tutoring program for student-athletes. In 1971, the club made a major contribution to the construction of the Gomer Jones Cardiac Center in Gaylord Family - Oklahoma Memorial Stadium, donating all proceeds from the Varsity-Alumni game and savings from the one-year cancellation of the annual "O" Club banquet.

The "O" Club has also played a major role in the development of three scholarships for post-eligibility student-athletes.

To honor the contributions of former executive director Port Robertson, the Port Robertson "O" Club Scholarship Endowment Fund was established following Robertson's death in June 2003. The money from the interest earned by the endowment will be used to help OU student-athletes complete their degrees after they have used up their athletics eligibility.

The Benien-Kalsu-Henderson Memorial Scholarship honors three former Sooners who gave their lives while serving their country in the military, and the D. Leon Cross Scholarship is named for the former Sooner football All-American and associate athletics director who served as the club's executive director. Both of these scholarships, which may be used toward completion of a bachelor's degree or to pursue a graduate degree, are given to student-athletes who have completed their eligibility.

The B-K-H Scholarship may be most indicative of the family feeling of being a Sooner. It was born during discussions during the 1983 Alumni weekend. The recruiting classes of 1959-64 held a reunion that weekend and, despite the joy of sharing stories of athletic accomplishments by members of these classes, there was the bittersweet knowledge that friends were missing and their stories had ended way too soon.

As a result, the members of those classes began soliciting donations for the B-K-H Scholarship and the first awards were made from the interest generated by the funds in 1989. The fund was set up so that the initial investment would stay in the OU Foundation as an endowment with proceeds from the interest to be used for a scholarship. Initially, the group hoped to give one scholarship a year but as the interest generated by the funds grew, additional scholarships were added.

Members of the O Club were responsible for raising the initial money for the B-K-H Scholarship through donations and other club activities. The annual honorees were selected by a panel that included the executive director of the "O" Club; the OU director of athletics; and the executive director of the OU Foundation. As the years have gone by, the interest has added to the account, allowing the "O" Club to present several B-K-H scholarships each semester. The selection of honorees has been shifted to Dr. Gerald Gurney and members of the staff of the Prentice Gautt Athletic Student Life Center.

The B-K-H Scholarship is just one way club members continue to give back to today's Sooner student-athletes. At the end of each fiscal year for the Club (June 30), one half of the interest produced by the "O" Club endowment account at the Foundation is set aside for use by Dr. Gurney and his staff. Monies in the "O" Club endowment come from life memberships in the Club as well as donations that people make in honor of former "O" Club members.

Over the last five years, the monies from both grants have exceeded $70,000. In just the last two years, more than $15,000 has been given annually, allowing numerous Sooner student-athletes to complete degrees after their athletic eligibility has run out. Others have returned to school to complete degrees after being away from OU for a period of time. Still others have used the assistance to pursue graduate and professional degrees.

The "O" Club is also involved as a co-sponsor of the department's Career Fair each spring. The Career Fair is open to all student-athletes at Oklahoma.

The "O" Club holds an annual alumni weekend each spring in conjunction with the Red-White spring football game. Activities include a golf tournament and reunion reception.

In the fall, functions are held on each home football Saturday as well as selected other times throughout the season. These get-togethers offer alumni letterwinners the opportunity to renew old friendships and make new ones while providing services to the athletic department and vocal support for the Sooners.

Where the OU Football Letterman's Association is a part of the Sooner family that is exclusively football, the "O" Club is an athletic support group composed of letterwinners from every sport. Regardless of sport, the Sooner family is intact and actively supporting the current athletic department activities. Upon graduation, a student-athlete receives the beautiful block "O" ring signifying academic and athletic accomplishments at Oklahoma.

Joining the Sooner family, though, is not a four-year commitment; it lasts a lifetime. And the "O" Club, in its distinctive, special, symbolic way, plays a vital role in keeping those special family bonds alive.

TOUCHDOWN CLUB

TOUCHDOWN CLUB OF OKLAHOMA

The Touchdown Club of Oklahoma was organized in 1947 to assist in the development of the athletic program at the University of Oklahoma and to provide scholarship assistance to student-athletes.

An independent, not for profit organization governed by a board of directors that works closely with the OU Athletic Department, the Touchdown Club's only purpose is to promote and support the OU football program through annual member donations.

For 57 years, The Touchdown Club has spanned the glory years of Sooner Football providing more than $6 million in financial support to the OU Athletic Department. The Touchdown Club is one of the top donors to the Athletic Department.

The Touchdown Club has provided financial support for a number of Athletic Department projects, including every playing surface on Owen Field since the early 1970s; upgrades to the Mosier Indoor Practice Facility, weight rooms and other facilities; and scholarship assistance to countless student-athletes.

The most recent contribution was a $750,000 donation to help finance the construction of The Barry Switzer Center. In appreciation, a portion of the Center was named The Touchdown Club of Oklahoma Legends Lobby. This impressive facility highlights the rich tradition of Sooner Football that has been helped along by the donations of generations of Touchdown Club members.

According to OU director of athletics Joe Castiglione, the Touchdown Club has been an essential partner since its inception. "Sooner Football is built on excellence. We have earned it, we defined it, and we expect it. The Touchdown Club of Oklahoma helps us maintain it. Gifts to the Touchdown Club benefit the coaches and student-athletes who add to the tradition each autumn Saturday."

The Club has social events throughout the year, including the annual Dallas Weekend and Brunch, the annual Spring Football Meeting and Fall Kickoff Program. Additional benefits include donor points for Priority Football seating, both the spring (available only to the media and Touchdown Club members) and fall football media guides, the annual high school recruit review, inclusion in the football gameday programs, membership decals and exclusive group travel to selected away games.

Annual membership dues are $250.00 (as a tax-exempt organization, all or part of your dues are tax deductible). To join The Touchdown Club visit the club's website at www.outdclub.com (which can also be accessed through the official University of Oklahoma Athletics Department website at SoonerSports.com), call (405) 840-1460, or through the mail at 4334 N.W. OKLAHOMA FOOTBALL LETTERMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The unique organization supports Oklahoma Football and the University of Oklahoma like no other. No hidden agendas. No egos involved, just positive support for one of the most storied football programs in America. The organization's mission is to make a positive contribution to the football program at the University of Oklahoma by encouraging and facilitating the involvement of former football players, providing support to the athletic department, and supporting programs that contribute to the long term success of the football program and its student athletes.

The University of Oklahoma and the OUFLA, while encouraging every athlete to strive to be the best on the field, also encourages every athlete to plan and prepare for success after their playing days have finished. That is why, with the help of the Athletic Student Life Office, a new program focusing on life after football has been established. The Sooner Football Network helps graduating seniors find jobs after completing their eligibility. The program is devoted first to ensuring that OU football athletes complete their undergraduate studies. Second, The Sooner Football Network guides football seniors with career planning and placement.

For the past 10 years, the OUFLA has supported drug and alcohol education and counseling through the Jim Riley Outreach Program. By contributing $17,500 annually, the OUFLA continues to see the positive impact the Outreach program is making in peoples lives.

OUFLA strives to help maintain a positive public perception of the football program while contributing to the winning tradition and by abiding by all NCAA rules and regulations

The accomplishments of the Football Letterman's Association could not be achieved without the active participation of the people who built and continue to add to the special tradition known as Oklahoma Football.
